THE Northern Democracy are bewildered by the action of their Southern brethern. It was never thought that the South had any regard for money. Most people who have had dealings with them know they are so indifferent as to money that they do not care wether or not they have any to pay their debts. The idea of the Northern Democrat was that his Southern brother only wanted his political rights, wanted to be re-enfranchised to get back to Congress, the Cabinet, the Supreme Court and the Presidency; to secure, it possible, their old places on alas for all such hopes. These gentlemen of the South are making sad work in Congress for the Democratic party of the North. The northern dough-face has actually been cheated. He finds that the South is not what he took it to be. It is voracious! There is no satisfying it. All its propositions are for money. To cut down appropriations which are absolutely necessary to cary on the government, it is always ready. but the moment such a bill has passed a Southern man has another on the file appropriating money for some object in that section. The Democratic heart grows sick, sad and weary, confronted by such damands,

Bills on final passage being next in order, an act prohibiting the opening of places of public exhibition and amusement on Sunday, in all cases where a fee is charged for admission, was taken up. The friends of the bill desired to have its consideration postponed until Tuesday morning, when with a larger attendance of members they would have a better chance to get it through. A motion to postpone was voted down, as was also a motion made by Mr. Jackson, of Mercer, to reconsider the vote by which the bill was defeated on third reading for the purpose of amendment. The oppopents of the measure, knowing their advantage, forced the fight, and under the call of the previous question a direct vote on the bill was had, when it fell on final passage for want of a constitutional majority; yeas
