EDITOR OF THE REPORTER:—We arrived at this little city so well known by reputation in and about Towards, last travelling for years with Forpaugh's arday evening. Having traveled from Minneauapolis, the nearest railroad point, 2 night last, in the Commercial Hotel distance of sixty miles by carriage, across the most beautiful farming country in the world. On every side the prairie stretched as smooth as a floor as far as the eye pounds and is only thirty-two inches could see. For miles no signs of life or people were preceptible, except in the vast fields of corn and wheat, showing that some one had been there and planted them; but where could said some one, the The infant was healthy and well-deowner of the rich acres before us be?
