Business Cards.

H. STREETER,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW TOWANDA, PA.

TAMES WOOD. ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. mch9-76 TOWANDA, PA.

OVERTON & SANDERSON. ATTOBNEY-AT-LAW, TOWANDA, PA.

B. M. PECK, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

Office over Braund & Hill's meat market. Towarda, Jan. 15, 1879. E. L. HILLIS, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW, TOWANDA, PA. E. F. GOFF, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW, M in Street (4 doors north of Ward House). T wanda, Pa. (April 12, 1877. DATRICK & FOYLE,

ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW. TOWANDA, PA. H. THOMPSON, ATTORNEY

AT LAW, WYALDEING, PA. Will attend

t) all business entrusted to his care in Bradford, Sullivan and Wyoming, Counties. Office with Esq.
Porter. [hovi9-74.

MASON & HEAD, ATTORNETS-AT-LAW,

Towards, Pa. Office over Bartlett & Tracy, Main-si G. F. Misson. [2977] ABTHUR HEAD. LISBREE & SON, TOWANDA, PA.

IN. C. ELSBREE. D. KINNEY, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Y McPHERSON, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

TOWANDA, FA. Die't Att'y Brad. Co. TOHN W. MIX,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW AND U. S. COMMISSIONER TOWANDA, PA. Office-Norta Side Public Squire. DAVIES & CARNOCHAN,

ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW, Dec 23-75. TOWANDA, PA ANDREW WILT, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Office over Cross, Book Store, two doors north of Piczyens & Long, Towanda, Pa. May be consulted
In German. [April 12, 74.]

W. J. YOUNG,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW, TÓWANDA, PA. second door south of the First National Bank Main St., up stairs. WILLIAMS & ANGLE, ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW. OFFICE .- Formerly occupied by Wm. Watkins,

WM. MAXWELL,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. TOWANDA, PA. Office over Dayton's Store.

CL. LAMB, WILKES-BARRE, PA

Collections promptly attended to.

July 27, 76. OVERTON & MERCUR.

ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW. Office over Montanyes Store. (may675, 1°A, OVERTON, 2 RODNEY A. MERCUR. MADILL & CALIFF.

ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW. Office in Wood's Block, first door south of the First National bank, up-stairs, H. J. MADILL. [jan8-731y] J. N. CALIFF.

THAS. M. HALL; ATTORNEY-AT-LAW AND JUSTICE OF PRACE Office over Dayton's harness store. Nov. 21, '78,

Towanda, May 1, 18721y. B. KELLY, DENTIST.—Office over M. E. Rosenfield's, Towands, Pa. Treth inserted on Gold, Silver, Rubber, and Al-

DR. S. M. WOODBURN, Physical and Surgeon. Office over O. A. Black's

E. D. PAYNE, M. D.,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

W. RYAN, COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT. Office day last Saturday of each month, over Turns & Gordon's Drug Store, Towarda, Pa. Towanda, June 20, 1878.4

RS. H. PEET, TEACHER OF PEANO MUSIC.

W. S. VINCENT,

INSURANCE AGENT. Towanda, Pa. feb. 6th, 70tt.

C S. RUSSELL'S

GENEBAL INSURANCEAGENCY

INSURANCE AGENCY. RELIABLE AND FIRE TRIED . Companies represented;

LANCSHIRE, PHENIX, HOME, MERCHANTS March 16, 74 O. A. BLACK. DAINTINGS.

PORTRAITS AND LANDSCAPES
Painted to order at any price from $5 to $500.
Oif Paintings Redi'ainted, Re-Touched, or changes made as desired.
All work done in the highest style of the Art.
JOHANN F. BENDER,
Towanda; Pa., April 18, 1878. RIRST NATIONAL BANK,

TOWANDA, PA.

This Bank offers unusual facilities forthe trans action of a general banking business.

14, 1878. the time.

N. N. BETTS, Cashler, JOS, POWELL, President.

SECULOCIONE!

Reputet.

GOODRICH & HITCHCOCK, Publishers.

REGARDLESS OF DENUNCIATION FROM ANY QUARTER.

$1.50 per Annum in Advance.

VOLUME XXXIX

TOWANDA, BRADFORD COUNTY, PA., THURSDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 20, 1879.

THE CAUSE OF THE BAIN. way by the shore of the ocean blue in peacefulness known to the lonely few, The wife and child of a sallor true, Lived and tolled together. Full many a weird and pleasing tale, Was told the hoy, of sea and sail, Hoeim.

I floating berg and northern gale, Of clear and cloudy weather. Adown the west the king of day Was hastening through the gates away, in all his golden bright array,
When home returned the skipper. t evening, strolling on the sand, He told the boy of many aland. And slowly traced with his brawny hand

The cross and the starry dip Twas midnight, and unfit for rest, The boy stole softly from his nest. · Play hide and seek with the water. o laugh at the wind in its wild, wild race, nd again the stars of the heavens to trace ut the thought that the dipper was out of

And velled Andromeda's daughter. The sea was mad, for the wind was high, The huge black clouds would soon go by, lut down fell torrents of rain from the sky, And awoke the sleeping skipper. and suddenly long and loud laughed be. hen the voice of his child broke forth in glee. Ofather! the king of the Northern Sea Has upset his starry dipper."

-Emily Blake.

SMILE WHENEVER YOU CAN. When things den't go to suit you, And the world seems upside down, Don't waste your time in fretting, Since life is oft perplexing, 'Tis much the wisest plan To bear all trifles bravely, And smile whene'er you can.

Why should you dread to-morrow And thus despoil to-day? For when you borrow trouble It is a good old maxim. Which should be often preached:

Don't cross the bridge before you Until the bridge is reached. You might be spared much sighing, If you would keep in minds.
The thought that good and evil Are always here combined-

There must be something wanting; And though you roll in wealth. You may miss from your casket And though you're strong and sturdy, You may have and empty purse-And earth has many trials

Which I consider worse-But whether joy or sorrow It will make your pathway brighter

Selected Cale.

Love Me, Love My Dog.

CONCLUDED. CHAPTER IV. turn to consciousness! Hope was his long legs had carried him the limping Gipsy at his heels. struggling instinctively in the treach- length of the village.

H. N. WILLIAMS. (oct. 17, 77) E. J. ANGLE, and now threatened to engulf her. turning from the fell, some with game Had she known that she was thirty cocks under their arms, others with woods all night, with only an occafathoms below the surface of the bandy-sticks, or trigs; cock-fighting, sional rest against the bole of a tree; and been lost; but though the water gambling games, making the fell-side the rugged fell with only a suggest twining and interlacing. And now and physic. rushed into her mouth and drowned like a fair on Sunday afternoons. her cries for help, and though her woollen cloak was heavy and clung no one had seen or overtaken. Hope, but a spirit of unrest was alive within to splice the coils of rope, and, tell-suggestion; but, when she grew paliam and the butler armed the men and rode off for Sir William's doctor; age of gallantry, the reign of Charles him, never to be tamed to quietude ing them he had been bred a sea-pably incoherent, he was half inclined servants with cudgels or pistols, and and by the time Dr. Blackett's three lady's health to throw head free, and, in struggling, her than a mile he turned back, satisfied open hand struck the rugged side of in his own mind that she had staid on his way to the head keeper he turned on the descent, had not their that the "puir wench's brain wor placed them two and two in the low-

Slight as was the hold, it supported her to strike her feet downward and per. not gallant, and he wanted his supthe hall, and in answer to the query, short.
"Whither so fast, young man?" told One find solid ground beneath them, and pits-she could breathe again.

less was her situation. Yet she ty in her mind portended evil. groped with one hand along the wall and strove to find a higher level for village street the light of the lantern projection just above her head. It her head was stretched over the gate was a piece of timber, a kind of and her anxious, "Where's Hope?" beam, doubtless one of the supports greeted him. of the shaft when that had been first sunk for coal. At the full stretch of dinnet ken," with the longer assurher arm she contrived to grip it ance which followed that she must be again emerged from the copse, and firmly; and so, holding fast by the "steyin' wid auld Betty, for sarten!" strode through the village on his way Hope as she was dropping from her left hand, with the other she loosened being asked and answered from a to the fell. The other seekers were the fastening of her saturated cloak distance, reached the cars of another far ahead of him, and something like and let it go. Relieved of its drag watcher across the road. From the a jealous qualm came over him lest ging weight, she threw up her right copse-gate, which he had already un- she should be found by any but him-

spair, planted her feet against the his shoulder. ough wall of the shaft, and foot by foot—the water buoying her up— would seem he was no better satisfied raised herself higher and higher, un- with Geordie's excuse than was and parted, and met again after three

In gaining the beam she had lost her would himself have set off to put anxions the girl had gone astray of her own foothold of the wall, and so great was lety to rest, although the farmer as-After one or two narrow mischan- enoof efter a'." ces, which sent her heart leaping into her throat, she attained her object, and Amos were compelled to look loud "Hallo!" was thrown forth, and Yet was her position little less per of his mother's dairy maid. But voice, quickening their steps as they ilous. The beam had not more than Amos watched that night with an im- saw a figure in the distance, soon recthe circumference of a man's hat patience for the dawn he had rarely ognized as the gamekeeper, running tied the girl's choking hat strings; crown, and her sole support being known before. the side of the shaft, her seat was necessarily very insecure, added to the hour came to report himself to . Amos had already gone over the which her feet were yet in the cramp- the head keeper, he swallowed in ground these others had taken, and ing water, her strength was well-nigh haste a glass of ale, thrust a hunch known it barren. Something urged gone, and with the temporary rest a of bread and cheese in his coat pock- him to make fresh inquiries from the ense of drowsiness stole over her. et, and was off on his self-appointed woman who had seen Hope last, and barcheaded from the village on hear-Fortunately, hunger came to keep errand to Burnhead.

her awake, and with it longings for deordie's nonchalnace had allayed had taken.

the half-eaten pie left at the collier's his jealousy, but not his fears or his left had been too brief a time in cottage. So far, struggles for immelove, and the restlessness which had the neighborhood to know all the release their captive brethren, and by diate safety had overpowered every gathered force during the night gave short cuts across the fell, and it was the time they were landed, Hope was

Of time she could take no note. It Disappointment awaited him at Of time ane count take no note. It was the 21th of November, and its fog was thick enough to blot out moon and stars, had either hung above that old pit-mouth. Not until day had fully chased the mists and shows did a glimmering patch of light high up above her tell her that only one night had gone. To her it seemed as if the darkness was perpetual, and she had been there trached as if the darkness was perpetual, and she had been there trached the time.

Disappointmen awakted and a waited was and saken the grit out of her shoes. Here Gipsy, who had been some time uneasy, suddenly came to a stand, sniffed at the ground, looked unteers for the service. But Amos, dash himself to pieces, but done to the farm in Dame Applegarth's own rocking. Shutters were fastened, curtains that day been paid in by his steward. Shutters were fastened, curtains the fatigue of the latter.

Shutters were fastened, curtains that day been paid in by his steward. Shutters were fastened, curtains time uneasy, suddenly came to a stand, sniffed at the ground, looked unteers for the service. But Amos, in the silver candelabra were repeation of his four wings, and on equal terms and in Dame Applegarth's own rocking. Shutters were fastened, curtains and stantaneously came to a stand, sniffed at the ground, looked unteers for the service. But Amos, who had felt his own strength collapse when there was no longer aded in the giver candelabra were repeation the circumstance of the objects, or he would dash himself to pieces. But in the distance of the latter.

In the general sentile their individual conflict was unobserved. It was not until the other burglars has succured in the giver candelabra were repeation to produce a show strength collapse when there was no longer aded from the pieces. Whin the silver candelabra were repeation to produce a shut the silver candelabra were repeation to the secured. It was not until the other burglars has succured in the general sentile their individual conflict was unobserved. It was not until the other burglar was the 27th of November, and its Betty's cottage, as it had awaited Here Gipsy, who had been some in Dame Applegarth's own rocking.

During the night she had contrived gether quitted the cottage that very and she shivered in her wet clothes.

With her hungry longings had come thoughts of all the good things at the farm to tantalize her; and at the farm to tantalize her; and the barded with her hungry longings had at the farm to tantalize her; and the barded with her hungry longings had at the farm to tantalize her; and the barded was not the form to tantalize her; and the barded was not the form to tantalize her; and the barded was not the first picture. However, and the barded was not the first picture was not the first picture. However, and the barded was not the first picture. However, and the barded was not the first picture. However, and the barded was not the first picture. However, and the barded was not the first picture. However, and the barded was not the first picture. However, and the barded was not the first picture. However, and the barded was not the first picture. However, and the barded was not the barded was not the first picture. However, and the barded was not the barded was not the barded was not the barded was not the first picture. However, and the barded was not the barded wa at the farm to tantalize her; and tient descent. It chanced to be the declined to follow.

then the knowledge that she would one Hope had gone out of her way Presently they came upon great Amos hasten to Sir William and interested in your—sweetheart then the knowledge that she would one Hope had gone out of her way heaps of alag and coal-dust so long warn him that Nick Faw and the two shall we say?"

It was impossible to the state of the state of wondered, too, how long it would be added the kindly consolation that she solitary clump of furze and hazel-before Amos Hedley heard that she might have stopped somewhere else bushes in the distance.

While she was down the pit, and im-ploved him to low no time in warn-droop of his shoulders. There was was missing, and if he would join in down the fell when she found the fog Gipsy stopped as if suddenly ar-And then, as if conjured up by the have reached home before then. thought of Amos, came in a flash over her mind the dreadful plot she hurried back, after thanking his in- had come upon his game. He gave a had overheard, and the danger which formant, turning aside from the trod- short, sharp bark, bounded forward threatened his master's household. and perchance himself. In the con- pectant voice, toward every shep- if to call his master, sourcied here sciousness that she held a secret on herd's hut or pitman's cottage within and there as if to find entrance, and her; and as the hours went slowly about eleven that Monday forenoon creature perishing of cold and hunger by, and her clothes dried upon her, and found his last hope extinguished she grew parched and doubly feverish. To quench her intolerable thirst, Not seeing Hope, or a sign of her, old coal-pit's yawning mouth.

To quench her intolerable thirst, Not seeing Hope, or a sign of her, old coal-pit's yawning mouth.

To quench her intolerable thirst, Not seeing Hope, or a sign of her, old coal-pit's yawning mouth.

To quench her intolerable thirst, Not seeing Hope, or a sign of her, old coal-pit's yawning mouth.

To quench her intolerable thirst, Not seeing Hope, or a sign of her, old coal-pit's yawning mouth. she drew gently up the tail of her in the farm-yard or in the empty linen gown, which hung below drab- kitchen, he rushed on to the dairy, most at a stand-still, he lay down up- had overheard it all. Then she was tones that Hope had fallen into the nothing of Hope or her kindness.

with caution, lest she should overbal- at her maid's ab ence to complain of looked searchingly down with shudfor "help" and "Amos," but neither of his anxious face, she dropped the the gleaming water below served as and hunger! came, though another night wore out wooden bowl of cream from her a reflector of the sky, he might have and another day passed its meridian. hands, and clasped them together on failed to discern the dark figure scat-She grew clamorous for food, fever her breast in consternation, as she ed on the beam, with white face raiswas gaining upon her, and after lapses | cried in echo to his hasty explana- | ed so piteously to the light.

the farmer and his son to their Sun- the lass!"

ment, and the flames of the blazing away at her bidding, that Geordie til, as he was well-nigh spent, his call Hope's marvelous deliverance and lifted his fat hands, unable to com- have to think how best to serve him fire leaped up to light the kitchen had been lukewarm over night, and was answered.

leet th' canny bairn through the spective vision of life, a horror of hand, set off on his errand, nothing Geordie, long before Amos returned ed to the village for more help and rear. And there Geordie was left to has Mr. Ramsay's account to overleath, a plunge into cold water, a re-doubting he should meet her before with leave of absence granted, and sundry appliances, and, spurred by play host, Gilbert returning to help look."

erous element which had saved her Before he had gone far he met valife by breaking her tremendous fall, rious parties of young fellows re-now the water came only to her arm- enough to add to his mother's uneas- ham's disappearance, her claims upon had scudded off for bare life to the as he dragged his tired limbs thro' iness, without allaying it. She had Half afraid to move a step in the never known Hope so far behind new the search for her. pitchy darkness, she raised her voice time before in all the years of her again, only to hear her call reverber, long service; the lass had been like ate as it rose, and to feel how hope a daughter to her; and unpunctuali-

As Geordie came back down the gleamed on the white mutch, or long-At length her hand struck against eared linen cap, of his mother, as

The question, and the short, "Aw, hand also to the beam, and clinging fastened, came Amos Hedley, equip- self. His better nature, however, refirmly with the strength borne of de- ped for night duty, with his gun over buked him, and he told Gipsy it mat-til, with a supreme effort, she raised Dame Applegarth, or the farmer, who liours' fruitless wanderings, and were, had been brought. A sort of hamjoined them at the gate; and, but with the single exception of Gilbert mock was made, into which she was The position was painful and criti- that the gamekeeper's duty tied him Applegarth, on the point of returning lifted, still in a state of unconscious cal. She had no light to guide her. to his master's woods all night, he to their own homes, convinced that ness; and Amos, looping his foot in the pressure on her waist, she felt sured him it "wad be little wark for ing that she was most likely with old assured she must drop unless she a stranger to gan ower th' fell after Betty at home "kirsening," when the could scramble into a sitting posture. neetfa'; an' th' wench meet be syef echoes of a distant shout attracted and thanked God for comparative for hope, for Geordie showed no dis reanswered back again, and the whole position for another march in search party hastened in the direction of the

Instead of retiring to rest when them forward.

to raise her feet out of the fcy water, morning, and gone to make a neightion of a path, but Gipsy kept on, and extend them before her on the borly call before the former returned over ground so rugged that Amos Wet, cold, hunger, exposure, and was it, Hedley; and how came it all his head had struck the fender in falling his het had fellen off and coming on, and would most likely rested, a movement of his long ears Alternately hoping and fearing, he stood rigid, with his tail set, as if he den path, with tireless foot and ex- to reach the bushes, looked back as which both life and property might range, wherever it seemed feasible barked as if he were wild. hang, her hunger was for the time for-

She screamed until she was hoarse, face Amos presented when he burst own name, he might have fallen for would not scorn her then. Anon she lost girl was found than on the ad- tion to tell the man how their plot but only her own voice came back to into Farmer Applegarth's house ward and shared the fate of the poor implored Nick Faw and Joey Dob venturous descent of himself and had been overheard, and how the lass bling in the water, and sucked the where Dame Applegarth was skim on the ground, and thrusting his moisture out; but it had to be done ming the milk, too much concerned head into the gap between the bushes, the extra work. At the first accents dering dread. And ever and anon she shricked of his hurried inquiry, the first glimpse and the gathering shadows sent home suir of it! Whativer con hev fa'en answered her cry with the one word, day-evening meal, did Dame Apple- Out ran the quiet woman into the covery living was dashed with fears found. garth evince any surprise at her farm-yard, calling for Gilbert and lest she should die ere rescue was maid's long absence. Then she began Geordie, in a state of unusual excite- possible. to remark that Hope was late, that ment. Then she recollected that "the with reflections in polished oak and feeling much as if whatever had happewter, she looked uneasily out, and pened to the girl would lie at their Applegarth had thought it ill-omened rerves of a woman in her prostrate the need for promptitude and cau. In the first place he left him at religious man, not only by profession, Geordic seemed somewhat loathe the village without bringing wives to once been tempted to empty from his she listened to her and to them, ready for Amos. Men and women was at Applegarth's farm. to stir himself, but he never dreamed their doors and children after them. pockets the good things the cook had Geordie came from the cellar with servants crowded round to ply him An hour later Sir William and of disputing his mother's behests; so "Lost on Black Fell in th' fog two crammed them with in token of her two great pitchers of ale, and the with questions. It was ten o'clock. Lady Derwent met him at the farmhe reached a horn lantern from a days sin," roused many a sturdy pit- sympathy. He had fancied the weight farmer busied himself to place half a Lady Derwent had rung for her maid er's gate as he was rushing in a state A quick shock, a sense of rapid hook behind the door, carefully lit man who worked on the night-shift impeded his progress. He had cause cheese and a big loaf on the table; half an hour. "To bed, to bed, you of destraction to find old Betty Wollescent, a feeling of stifling suffoca- and adjusted the bit of home-made from his forenoon dreams, to join the to be thankful he was so laden. tion, of a head swollen to bursting, candle within, closed the lantern de- impromptu hand of searchers who dizziness, appalling terror, a retro- liberately, and, with a stick in one were off, along with the farmer and him for courier, was at once dispatch- the barn, with the crowd in their William wants the house quiet; he fever had not abated.

> The mind is the body's master. Amos Helley had been afoot in the tion of breakfast, and might well Amos showed himself less a novice

He was, however, away quite long hastily the story of Hope Wolsing- this on his first glance downward, the question over in his own mind of gratitude; he had some recollect and comrades to help. tion of the independent dairy-maid. on the instant.

bucket of water, ate heartily a dinner so prompt at the call of duty-Wes- gave a low growl and stood still. the sympathetic cook set before him, ley's disciples, one and all—and Gip- Amos had horrowed the farmer's gun, and started off afresh like a new man. sy could hardly be restrained from and now held it ready; there was ere long the framework gave away the time and loving hands could do frolic at some other time. On a sub-Quite an hour had been consumed leaping after him, when, accompanied by Gipsy, he

From the tenor of his questions it so long as she was only safe and well.

the thin ears of one, a hewer.

and waving his arms as if to urge and shaken the grit out of her shoes.

set in; and she began to question her "Aye, Hope hed ben theer, suir forgotten that weeds and grass had escaped poschers were going to break own powers of endurance, and to enoof, but nowt wad gar her stop;" found a home there. But there was into the hall that very night, she was Baronet's cordial questions at once, wonder if she could hold out until then observant of the ghastly change no place where Hope could lie hid accredited with delirium. She said and Amos hesitated. There was a friendly cudgel, and the knives had they began to search for her. She in her questioner's face, the woman den dead or alive unless it were that she had thought of little else all the look of gravity on the young man's not otherwise done much damage. told that he was listening. Then he

His master was quickly after him,

Thus checked, with his heart al-

It was an awful depth, and but that into despairing silence her cries grew | tion: "Nut theer! and nut seen sin | And now he was sure he heard his

Setterday efternuin! Aw telt Gwor own name, faintly mingled with an Not until the day began to wane, die somethin' wor wrang; aw wur imploring cry for succor; and as he

A faint scream rising from beneath it was not safe for a girl to wander | dast collont wor gyen te th' smiddy," | told that he was at least heard. Again | on the fells after dark, and threaten- and while Amos darted across the he called, and loudly, to bid her be of bed-room under the eaves. The fire Thwaites, the pompous old butler ed to rebuke her when she did get road, and bounded over the copse good cheer. Then leaving Gipsy on had been piled up high to warm and came at the summons. He had been rewards to the other domestics who at the bar, and who always carries gate into the wood, she flew up the guard, he darted off helter-skelter, welcome her, and the whole attend- a servant in the family from boy-But when night began to show a straggling street to seek her son, re- pausing only to send a loud halloo ant crowd had taken possession of bood. black face at the diamonded case- membering only that Hope had gone upon the wind from time to time, un- the apartment, freely discussing

> The excitement spread. Staid of rope around them when they joined Dame Applegarth could not rush up the search; and Amos had more than her immediate needs, grew uneasy as Cook had a substantial supper feet could span the distance Amos > > compunction, he did not loiter by the his good dame. There was little consultation at the proach.

afternoon had made strides as swift if Hope bad heard, and heard aright, The Baronet smiled as Amos spoke before the man returned with cable the robbers were to make the attack safe from attack. It had been calculin pit, but in all such genuine anxiety at a tavern, one of his friends perceive

Still there was a stretch of day-The required permission was given light left when Amos was slowly lowered in a rope-cradle, guiding its de-Nature and common sense had dic- scent fowler-wise down the face of tated the necessity for refreshment; the shaft, while anxious prayers went

He gained the bottom in safety, perch. Expectation and joy had overtopped exhaustion; human nature could no longer bear the strain. When two pitmen, slung together, reached the side of the keeper, they found him standing more than waisttered not who came first on her track, high in water, sustaining. Hore with one arm, and pouring brandy down The dispersed explorers had met her throat from the flask of the good natured cook. By this time a blanket

> There was a breathless hush as the twain were landed clear of the hazels on the bank, and there was some > Gipsy barked and leaped excitedly: Farmer Applegarth's big fingers un-Amos kneeled down and chafed her rigid hands; the fresh air blew upon her face: and under the influence of one or all restoratives her languid lids unclosed.

Women as well as men had come obtain an indication of the road she ing Geordie's news, and there was a of gray rocks where she had rested though they had been in the pit. She was carried home to the farm

There was not the faintest indica, had been sufficiently eloquent, and "And so the young woman was could not conceive the possibility of enforced wakefulness for eight-and about? You must tell me the whole falling, his hat had fallen off, and and ejaculations of alternate fear and her—not to let her die there of cold for plunder, and it might be—murder bit at him like a savage; and Gipsy possible to the election of either; It was all a disjointed tangle, pitiable to listen to, as evidence of the his chair and half rose from his seat, and his companions were led away ordeal she had undergone, and the aghast and confounded, as he well in custody, he put out his foot and fever that ran riot through her veins; might be. But he was a brave man, dealt the animal a brutal kick. He yet such is the inconsistency of man, and after that first surprised start, had again reckoned without his host. that a thrill of satisfaction stirred the listened with apparent composure, Gypsy darted after him, and made heart of Amos at her unconscious ad- while Amos went on to say that he him feel that woolen stockings were missions, in spite of the new dread had heard strange footsteps in the bad armor against canine fangs.

She had been laid on a huge blue been removed to her own low-roofed embroidered bell-pull. the sagacity of Gipsy in tones fitter prehend the enormity of a burglary and his sweetheart—so he persisted The blacksmith's wife and Mrs. for the hill-side than the sensitive at Derwentside. But he was alive to in calling Hope Wolsingham.

ances fell into no strange ears, except following, with a light in a wire ing vinegar cloths on the maids foremouth of the pit, where Gipsy stood those of a kindly old neighbor (her screen, as was her custom, to secure head with her "awn lily-white hands." On the contrary, he will worthily like a sentry, and barked on their ap- self as deaf as a post), who remained the extinction of other candles. All but the lady felt as if the girl was to chafe the girl's benumbed limbs, bolts and bars had been previously suffering for her, and as if she owed The hazel has a tenacious grip of while Mrs. Applegarth prepared a adjusted, and to an outside spectator her a husband's life. moor, she would have given up hope bandy, trippet-and-coit, and other had been afoot all the morning on the soil, its tough out-spreading roots hot buttermilk posset by way of food the household appeared to sink into At first Amos was disposed to put usual. Several of these he questioned, but have claimed the privilege of that gue; than the pitmen deemed. He helped Sir William on his guard, on Hope's When the coast was clear Sir Will-

> One of their number, foreseeing left her to her nurses at last, to turn robbers. his gratitude, and his anxiety to re- nearest mine at work; but the brief the park homeward to the hall. Yet, three sides, while the other overhung and over again the girl went through suming a similar article, whatever it that very night—hark!

CHAPIER VI. its sleep, scurried past him; Gipsy certainly strangers in the plantation. To put it to the test he gave a peculiar signal whistle. There was a re- padded feet a second followed a passed, and left her to regain strength, to the health of some beauty of the

He stood for a minute or two with stoppage at the butler's pantry, a as if he knew the depth of hers. his gun at half cock; then, as if ther- jingle of keys, as if the lock was be- She was not voted well enough to him extract a curious tooth which oughly reassured, pursued his course with Gipsy limping beside him, quite to make sure of the coin first, it was jail-delivery. The men had gone rules of good fellowship clearly reas weary as his master, though not safest; and then the ruflians passed armed to Derwentside, had broken in, quired that every one of the comone whit more content or satisfied. | into the large kitchen on their way had picked a lock, fought and wound- pany should loose a tooth. They plantation by the copse-gate; the dark lautern in the rear There was sentence came from under the Judge's gentleman present successfully put cut thence across the park saved at a dull red glow in the heart of the black cap. Her evidence was not

To-night he stood in need of rest, and white hearth, leaving the cor- William ann nunced to Amos that he but now he was on the alert, and wide awake. Coupling that stealthy shadow. steadied the impromptu cradle with Hope's communication, he was inclined to pay more heed to her warning, and felt how necessary it was he should reach the hall without arousing suspicion in the evil minds so doubt whether Hope was living or near to him. He stepped on boldly as if on ordinary duty, loitering now and then, and patting Gypsy with a pleasant word; apparently going further away into the convert, yet ward to throw himself on the Baro-drawing nearer to the open park with net, whose voice had revealed his —All the Year Round. drawing nearer to the open park with every step. . Once away from the shadow of the trees he made direct for the hall, pondering how best to get immediate

There he found Sir William seated

plored him to lue no time in warn- droop of his shoulders. There was the three rufflans were hauled off to gun's range, and, while scrupulously ing his master. But he lingered in wine on the table. Struck by some the county jail the next morning careful to keep beyond it, confine credulous, and she grew impatient. thing in the young man's voice or under a strong escort they knew they their care to this caution, though the manner, Sir William filled a wine-were journeying to the gallows, and most obvision resource would be to And then, as fever grew, her mind manner, Sir William filled a wine-did begin to wander, and all her pent-glass from a decanter on the table, that they would be too heavily iron-fly right away out of sight and hearup love was ur scaled, and found un and bade him drink that before he ed to escape this time.

conscious utterance in broken words began, it would "put heart into gratitude. She was once more in the But he had already begun. His larksome pit, cramping on her nar- tale would not brook delay. Briefly of plunder and revenge under the inrow perch, and yet afraid to move a and modestly he told the story of spiration of Nick Faw; but the hardlimb lest she should have a fresh anxious quiet, attributing the credit ened tinker, srowling and sullen, falling into the bottomless pit; every Faw and two others, who had plan- for his own neck when he threw the now and then she would look wildly ned, in her hearing, to break into dog to be gored.

round and shrick for Amos to save Derwentside Hall that very night. The man glared at the speaker, and

"Hope!" his sudden joy at her dis- lest she should be lost as soon as wood, and believed the wretches were lurking there in readiness.

"No doubt, no doubt," acquiesced and white check-covered squab or Sir William; "and we must be ready promptitude it might have been fatal. sofa in the kitchen, and had not yet too," he added, with his hand on the The Baronet's gratitude and that of from Connecticut. He is a man of In horror and amazement he up-ion. With Amos in tow he left the Mrs. Applegarth, ministering to library to carry out instructions. but it needed only a hint from the chattering women-folk," cried Thwa- singham. She was wanted to try her Geordic, whose long legs best fitted dame to carry ale and edibles into ities. "It is long past time. Sir skill on her own grandchild, whose

> He was imperative. The maids renight's torpor and quiescence as with her old grandmother. He was met Sir William in the grounds near experience told the line was far too torned," he had best "nut fash th' er rooms, the point of attack being to act as nurse under his instructions, order to do her greater honor. This maister for nowty" and reluctantly as uncertain as the number of the Derwentside Hall was a plain stone edifice, with a flagged pavement on the river at an elevation, and so was her frightful experience on fell and might be. Sir Charles Sedley, dining lated that footsteps, however stealthy | for the people at the hall was appar- | ing he had a very rich lace cravat on, would be heard upon this pavement; ent, so much affection for Amos Hed-named the lady to whom honor was but the men had come with muffled ley, which he was "sure nivvor to done, and then made a sacrifice of feet, and the first intimation of their ken," that the earnest heart would his own cravat. Sir Charles and the Hark! A dry twig cracked under approach was the sound of a file on have melted with pity and Amos, rest of the company were obliged to window.

Iron, woodwork, and wirework

ing picked, a low-voiced suggestion As usual, Amos had entered the to the oppoiste door, the one with the ed the inmates of the hall, and their remonstrated; but in vain, and each least a third the distance of the road recently slacked fire which barely needed > every corner, and the intruders found his helpmate. themselves in a trap.

was heard to enforce command. "Nivvor!" roared the leader; "It lease of the farm, to be petted and be thee or me for it," and darted for- spoiled by master and mistress-and whereabouts. There was the gleam of a knife, the flash of a pistol, and Sir William was down with a rufflanly hand on his was clutched from behind, there was dred and fifty miles homeward by ing Geordie's news, and there was a He was anticipated. The Baronet a grip of a powerful hand on his coleyesight—that is, from point to point general shout at this token of life. had given orders that immediately on lar, he was dragged to his feet, and of objects which he has marked; but The men then turned with a will to the gamekeeper's return he should hurled across the kitchen, when he this is only our conjecture. The fierce that an Oshkosh girl went back on her struck against and overturned a chair dragon-fly, with twelve thousand len- lover because he was so bow-legged she in falling. He rose and again rushed ses in his eye, darts from angle to couldn't sit on his lap. other thought and feeling, but now speed to his flying feet, and made his less his own sagacity than that of the desolation and hopelessness of possible reception a matter of small Gipsy which led him to the long spur from Amos Hedley's pockets, soaked papers before him, and two or three when he closed with Amos, the two at a large table, with books and forward, but his knife was gone, and angle with the rapidity of a flashing money bags at his elbow which had grappled together, with only their turning in the air, but with a clash that day been paid in by his steward. natural weapons, and on equal terms reversing the action of his four wings, the knife in wresting it from him. The butler, too, had pretty nearly gro, auts? No one knows. got his quietus, or thought he had, but it was from the chance hit of a

NUMBER 38

Penitent enough were the two poschers, who had been led into the an ostentation use of their power, more daring attempt by the prospect fairly putting their wit cleverness in gotten, and feverish longing to escape and warn Sir William overpowered all else.

The low loved so dearly might and surface and sought and surface son not to murder Amos—to spare others. His master's commiseration who heard would have been lost but with self-congratulations that she table, bent down to tell in lowered wanted nursing, it would have known fleeing from pursuit; now falling, old pit in endeavoring to evade Nick Nick Faw had certainly twined a rope > having forced his way among the Sir William's wound was scarcely more severe than that of the gamekeeper, though but for the latter's Lady Derwent could not be expendhad taken part in the capture of the burglars and the defense of his property, but he told Amos he should go where he would, and quickly as

Dame Applegarth lauded the wondrous condescension of the lady in Thus it chanced that Hope's utter- tired grumbling, the housekeeper small chamber in the roof, and lay-

Geordie, who had not ceased to deplore his inactivity in the first instance, was ready enough to fling his long legs over a bare-backed horse, cornered hat and gold-headed cane man drank a lady's health to throw reached the farm, old Betty was there some part of his dress into the flames, in though she felt strongly tempted to was well enough for a lover; but the foltrust to her own remedies and ignore ly did not stop here-for his companhim altogether.

Fever and delirium ran high; over this proof of his veneration by cona heavy foot; a hare, startled from the unglazed grating of the larder kneeling by her bed side, sobbed follow his example. Sir Charles through the gap, and dropped on had a strong constitution; the crisis party—Sir Charles drank a bumper sponse. A fellow-keeper would have third: the flash of a lantern gleamed and to discover that she had a lover day; then, bidding the waiter call a on the passage walls; there was a by her side who poured out his heart dentist, whom he had previously enter the witness-box at the Winter had long since plagued him. The > cast a light on the bright iron fender At the beginning of the year Sir ner of the great kitchen in deep had a farm on his hands for which h As the third man stole in, Amos, and might be had on a long lease for who stood ready, closed the door be-a-small rental; and he thought Amos hind him, shadowy forms darted from might venture on it, with Hope as

And so it came about. Hope work "Surrender, you vagabonds!" cried at her wedding the ribbons Amos had Sir William, and the cock of a pistol from the peddler; and Gypsy was Picayune. handed over to them along with the

FACTS FOR THE CURIOUS

The grayhound runs by eyesight speech with Sir William without first throat. Already he felt the sharp only, and this we observe as a fact. running the gauntlet of the servant's prick of a blade, when the man's arm The carrier-pigeon flies his two hun-

Suddenly, amid your admiration of this matchless dance, a peculiarly highshouldered, victors gant, with long, pendant nose, darte out of the rising and falling cloud, and settleing on your cheek, inserts a poisonous sting. What possessed the little wretch to do this; Did he smell your blood in the mazy dance? No one

A carriage comes suddenly upon a flock of geese on a narrow road, and drives straight through the middle of them. A goose was never yet fairly run over, nor a duck. They are under the very wheels and hoofs, and yet somehow they contrive to flap and waddle safely off. Habitually stupid heavy and indolent, they are nevertheless equal to any emergency. Why does the lonely woodpecker, when he decends his tree and goes to drink, stop several times on his way. taken in battle by other ants to be made slaves, should be black, or ne-The power of judging of actual danger, and the free and easy boldness which rests from it, are by no means uncommon. Many birds seem Those were hanging days. When to have a most correct notion of a ing, which they do not choose to do. And sometimes appear to make even benefit of their followers. CONNECTICUT'S NEW SENATOR.

antagonism to that of man, for the

There has been a general feeling of disappointment throughout the country, that in the late election of Senator in Connecticut, the choice did not fall upon General Hawley or Marshall Jewel, who have national reputations, and either of whom would have done honor to the good old commonwealth. Instead of this the rivalship of the two leaders was so close and even that it amounted to a dead-lock, and rendered it imand so as often is the case, the choice fell upon a new man, one little known outside of his own state-Mr. Orville H. Platt of Meriden. But it does not follow because a man is not widely known, that he has not talents to dignify any position. Some of the ablest men in the country, engaged in their professional duties, have not time to go abroad, and so have only a local reputation. Such (we are informed by one who has known him for thirty years) is the new Senator good presence, about fifty years old; ed in words. He dealt immediate a lawyer, who has a high standing weight with the Judges by his clear statements and sound judgment, and also because of his transparent honesty, the absence of any of those. arts or tricks by which some lawyers are too distinguished. He is also a of a man when we can find out how he is looked upon by his neighbors; and here we are informed, there is but one opinion—in the community where he lives he is universally respected and trusted, as a man worthy of the utmost, confidence. That is the kind of a man that we need in eracy and corruption, and we may be grand old State from which he comes. sustain the good name of a State which in former times sent to the capital such men as Roger Sherman and Oliver Ellsworth.—New York bore his loss with great composure, For a long while her life trembled observing that it was a good joke, were all old, the operators skillful; in the balance, but what the skill of but that he would have as good a with little noise. Some one crushed was done for her; she was young, sequent day-dining with the same placed in an adjoining room, made himself into the hands of the operator, but protesting against the cruel test to which their friendship and gallantry had been put. A STOWAWAY—the glutton.

A MUSICIAN'S work is all play. - New York Mail. Twins are the paro-pets of a house.-An alarm clock in a house generally wakes up every one but the right one Bernard dog Taffy, because "it was giv The way to make six cents go farthest. Buy a stamp and put it on a foreign letter.—Pittsburgh Telegraph. EVERYTHING will turn when trod upon;

even the treadle. It turns the grindstone Burlington Havkeye. It seems to be hard work to get to the by Laborydoor.-New York Graphic. A BASE and irreclaimable beast of a philosopher has said: "Woman is a clock which runs slow after five-and-twenty."

THE man who got into a barber's chair. pinned a newspaper round his neck, and began to read the towel, may justly be called absent-minded.