NOTWITHSTANDING the fact that FITCH has sold a very large quantity of fire-works, he still has a splendid assortment vorks, he still has a sple on hand, and at prices that are astonish ingly low. Many of the pieces are entirely new in design, having been gotten up for the market this year. In buying a supply this year FITCH was particular to get only the latest povelties in this line. and hence the fact that his sales have exceeded all previous years. Of course it is entirely unnecessary for us to inform the public that his stock of fruits and confectionery is full and complete, for that is generally known, just as it is: a settled fact that his ice cream is always the best in this "neck of woods,"—and that reminds us that as the weather is warm, we will go over and try a dish. JOSEPH McKinney died at his home in Athens township, June 17, 1879, in the 78th year of his age. He was one of the early settlers, having lived on the farm where he died nearly half a century. He was an industrious, quiet, honest, and honored citizen, and successful business man; one that will be greatly missed in the community where he so long sustained an irreproachable character. A large gathering of friends and neighbors attested their appreciation of him as a man, on the occasion of the funeral services at his late residence, conducted by Rev. G. M. CHAMBERLAIN. The Convention was well attended, 500 elegates being reported as enrolled, representing a large majority of the counties of the State. The good people of Altoona entertained the delegates sumptuously during the convention. The reports from the different parts represented were encouraging, showing much interest in this branch of Christian work. We would have been highly grat-ified to have learned that the Sunday Schools were bringing forth much fruit in the conversion of the children and young people within them. We think there i too much theory, or at least not enough practical Christianity in the schools gentruct ve.

THE FOURTH AT HORNBROOK. MR. EDITOR :- We take pleasure in in orming the readers of your most excel-ent paper, that the people of this vicinity have decided to have a grand time on the 4th in the beautiful grove at Hornbrook, near the Church. The Rev. Y. C. SMITH, D. D., will deliver the oration. Dinner will be served to all who may come, for the small sum of tifty cents a couple. Proceeds to apply on furnishing parsonage. Come one, come all, and let us have a grand old-fashioned time, celebrating our Nation's birth, and at the same time do a good act by giving our money for a good cause—get the full value of our money in nicknacks—and above all receive a blessing from God. Brother Wright, our Pastor, has taken it in hand to bring about a good result from our celebration, and we find him to be a man that never takes hold of the place and they have been ing Stone, June 2001.

EYER-LAMON. From the Plymouth (Wis.) Reporter, of Thursday last, we clip the following

MATRIMONIALLY MATED. At the appointed time, yesterday, St. Paul's Church presented a festive appearance, with the profusion of floral decorations, in honor of the marriage of Dr. Aivin Eyer and Miss Belle Lamon. Most noticeable among the decorations was a marriage bell of white flowers suspended from the center of the chancel and from the central arch hung a monogram of flowers conveathed with evergreens, while the arches of evergreens and flowers crossed the aisles near the chancel, and the font presented a lovely pyramid of flowers, ferns and greens, while the arches of evergreens and flowers crossed the alsies near the chancel, and the fent presented a lovely pyramid of flowers, ferns and vines. A large congregation assembled to witness the impressive ceremonies, while Miss Eva Barnard, at the organ, rendered the wedding march in a graceful manner, and awaited the approach of the bridal party, which entered the church in the following manner, Misses Molile Smith and Helen (Ewell, Mr. and Mrs. William Elwell, the bride, leaning on the arm of Mr. Smith, and the groom with Mrs. Smith, each alternate couple passing up the left aisle, the others at the right, and all meeting at the chancel, where the beautiful marriage excremony of the Episcopal Church was performed by Rev. J. Upjohn.

The bride wore an elegant dress of a peculiarly lovely shade of dark gray silk, and a "perfect ove" of a white bounet, while the groom was also faultlessly attired. After the ceremony the bridal party rep-ired to the handsome residence of Mr. P. H. Smith, on Collins, street, where the happy couple received the congratulations of a few intimate friends, and a bountful wedding breakfast awaited them; they were the recipients of many elegant, costly and useful presents, among which was a China tea set from the Church people. Misa Lamon has only resided in our Filly about two years, while the Doctor has only lived here a few months over a year, during which time he has contracted a large practice, and both have made a large circle of friends. The Reporter extends sincerve congratulations to the bride and groom, hoping that their journey through life may be attended with happiness and prosperity, and that their bright, cloudless wedding day may be a good omen of the future.
