EGG.—First take an ordinary parson's thoughts, cut them lengthwise and quarter them, then ready some nice salt pork, and place it in the bottom of a flat-bottomed kettle, and by brown, when done remove them the kettle, take the parsons and lay them evenly on the bottom of the kettle, lay half of them, take the pork soaps and lay them on the parsons, put on the remainder of them, and season with salt, pepper, and a sprig of thyme, then put on water enough to cover them. When nearly done, have ready some dumplings the size of a ten cent piece, put in and cover closely, let them cook fifteen minutes without removing the cover.
