Daily Bradford Reporter

PRINTED ON THE FAIR GROUNDS.

East Towanda, Pa., Oct. 2, 1879.

—Another beautiful day.

—The attendance to-day is simply immense.

—A Squash that weighs 150 pounds is on exhibition.

—The Liberty Corners Cornet Band is on the Grounds.

—The Davis Vertical Feed Sewing Machine has been awarded First Premium.

—Ladies will find a number of excellent household recipes in each number of the "Daily."

—Geo. H. Webb, of Alba, has on exhibition an extensive variety of Poultry, and all fine fowls of their kind.

—Burbank is disposing of large quantities of his excellent Grease and Paint Extractor. He is located in Frost's Furniture building.

—Kirby's Remedies, advertised in this paper, are standard articles and have a large sale. They are recommended by all who have ever used them. Kirby's store is in Mercur Block, Towanda.

—Corser's Boot and Shoe establishment in Towanda always carries a large assortment, and should, you desire anything in that line, you should call there before making your purchases.

—Fitch's Confectionery establishment is under full sail to-day, and hundreds of people are buying that excellent taffy that Ollie Bennett is manufacturing. Everybody seems anxious to try this kind of "taffy."

—One of the most attractive features of the Fair is the display of prepared grasses exhibited by Miss Helen Carter. Her taste and skill have shown how much of beauty there is in the native productions of the soil, when treated with judgment and good taste.

—There will be a trotting match on the Fair Grounds to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, between Lem Kingsbury's bay stallion "Lem," and Mel Stevens' black mare "Josephine S."

—We must confess that we are overwhelmed with the magnitude of the job we have undertaken in printing a daily on the Fair Grounds. It is a bigger contract than we bargained for, when considered in the light of a report of all that is to be seen. To do justice to the affair, would take a sheet much larger than ours, and we can only hope in the present effort to welcome and greet our friends. Next year we will do better.

—The Educational building should be visited by every one. The exhibit shows the progress made in the public schools of the county, and will be of interest and value to every friend of Common Schools. The Susquehanna Collegiate Institute, the Graded Schools of Towanda borough, Troy borough, Athens borough, and the Common Schools of various districts, have sent their Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, specimens of drawings and maps and penmanship, by scholars, charts in physiology and geography, and other evidences of good teaching and apt scholarship, making an attractive and valuable collection. Prof. Ryon, County Superintendent, has superintended the arrangement, and the exhibit is the proudest evidence he could offer as to his efficiency and value as the Superintendent of the Schools of the county. His assistants have been Mr. A. T. Lilley, who has contributed a large collection of minerals and fossils, William J. Horton, an enthusiastic friend of educational interests, and Charles Felton, a graduate of the Towanda Graded School.

—The Premium List of the Society, though quite as liberal as its financial ability will allow, of course, offers no inducement for competition in view of the pecuniary results. We hope no exhibitor will make his entry having in view the securing of the small sum offered as a premium. A spirit of emulation is laudable; a desire to excel, commendable; but all should be done with a view to show to others what industry, experience and intelligence can accomplish, and with a desire that others may profit thereby.

—Everybody wants a copy of the "Daily Reporter," and everybody gets a copy. Likewise, everybody admires the style in which it is gotten up. And it doesn't cost a cent—to the ones who get. The ones who furnish it are not so fortunate. However, there is considerable pleasure, if not profit, in knowing that we have added an interesting and instructive feature to the Fair.

—Bradford County Butter has a high reputation all over the country, which is well sustained by the display in Grange Hall. Tubs and rolls of golden hue show the skill of the dairywomen, and the neatness and care which has been taken to make the product of the dairy perfect.

—Subscribe for the Bradford "Reporter," the best paper in Bradford county—only $1 per year.
