No doubt of the truth of christianity, or of her personal interest in he saviour, ever for a moment disturbed her mind-she knew whom she betleved, and was persuales that He would keep that which she had committed to Him against the day of jadgment. Her resig-nation was complete. Dea by as she loved her family, nuch as she wished to live for their saker, she was fully ready when the Master called. And death came as a sieep. The angel's wings stirred not the quiet air of her chamber. Her death was like the strewing of a rosd's petals upon the grass.
