NUMBER 43

ARE THE CHILDREN HOME?

Each day when the glow of sunset Fades in the western sky, And the wee ones, tired of playing, Go tripping lightly by, I steal away from my husband, Asleep in the easy chair, And watch from the open doorway.

Their faces fresh and fair; Alone in the dear old homestead, That once was full of life, itinging with girlish laughter, Echoing boyish strife, We two are waiting together, And oft, as the shadows come,

With tremulous voice he calls me "It is night! Are the children home?" Yes, love, " I answer him gently, "They're all home long ago," And I sing in my quivering treble, A song so soft and low, Till the old man drops to slumber,

With his head upon his hand; And I tell to myself the number, At home in a better land. Home, where never a sorrow, Shall dim their eyes with tears, Where the smile of God is on them,

Thro gh all the summer years ; I know, yet my arms are empty, That fondly folded seven, And the mother heart within me, Is almost starved for heaven. sometimes, in the dusk of evening, I only shut my eyes,

And the children are all about me-A vision from the skies; The babes, whose dimpled fingers Lost the way to my breast, And the beautiful ones, the augels. Passed to the world of the blest! A breath, and the vision is lifted Away on the wings of light, And again we two are together, They tell me his mind is failing, But I smile with idle fears :

He is only back with the children In the dear and peaceful years. And still as the summer sunset Fades away in the west, And the wee ones, tired of playing Go trooping home to rest, My husband calls from the corner. Say, love, have the children come?" And I answer with eyes uplifted, -Yes, dear, they are all at home."

A Lightning Bolt Writing God's

Name on a Blasphemer. Some of our contemporaries seem isposed to question the truth of our statement that a negro man who was killed by lightning last summer in Campbell county, had the letters "God" on his body. Dr. Thomas Moorman, whose postoffice address s Mount Zion, Campbell county, furnished the Richmond Christian Adrocate an account of the circumstance, which is as follows: On the evening of the 6th inst., Perry Jones and George Brown, colored men, notoriously the most profane, wicked persons in the whole community, with three other colored persons, took refuge during the rain, accompanied by a good deal of lightning and thunder, in a tobacco barn on the land of Mr. Geo. Cressey: From their several positions one would have thought that two of the others were in more, and the third in as much danger, as Jones and Brown. were. They, as their custom was, were engaged in cursing and swearing. Suddenly, the lightning descended upon them, and while the other three were comparatively uninjured, Jones was killed, and Brown stricken down senseless for a time. He revived after a few minutes and soon seemed to have regained all of his strength, but was dumb and bereft of his mind for several hours. The lightning set fire to his clothing, and he was burned on his chest and left side and arm before the fire was extinguished. In his maniac efforts to free himself from those who were restraining him, the skin was rubbed from the burned flesh and presented the following characters—God, A the accepted fundamental doctrines | very close representation, to say the least of them, of the capital letters used in printing the name of the five weeks ago.
