Published weekly, except on Sundays and holidays.

TOWANDA, PA., Dec. 22, 1881.

ENTERED IN THE POSTOFFICE AT TOWANDA AS MAIL MATTER OF THE SECOND CLASS.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

ADVANCE IN PRICE OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The undersigned, publishers and proprietors of the Bradford Reporter...

The Pittston correspondent of the Scranton Republican says that there is in...

While engaged on work in the woods, recently, ROBERT BOLKLE of Pike, accidentally cut his right foot with an axe...

YOUNG JACKSON, of Tioga County, who was arrested at this place recently, on a charge of forgery, and taken back to Mansfield, has settled the matter and been released from custody.

CHARLES WALKER, an employe of the Wheel Foundry, Sayre, who worked last Thursday, had his hands and arms burned very badly, by coming in contact with the hot sand after moulding.

POON OLA VANDERGRIFT, disappointed again, No Post-Office, No Sheriff's Sales, No Mercantile Apprenticeship! Nearly four years a resident of Bradford County, and no office yet. Poor old man!

A NUMBER of friends of Mr. and Mrs. REUBEN STILES, of East Troy, gave them a "surprise" one evening recently. Among many other beautiful presents, was a Mantel Clock worth about $175.00.

THE Deputy State Superintendent decides that any contract between Directors with a view to evade the law granting teachers pay for time spent in attending the County Teachers' Institute, will not be legal.

The winter term of Wyoming Seminary, located at Kingston, Pa., has opened with a very large attendance. The students may enter with advantage after the holidays. We commend this school to our readers.

THE editors of the Le Raysville Advertiser have taken a great deal out of their hands, and by the time they get through with CHARLES ALLEN, they will probably be disappointed to put the other jobs out.

SMITHFIELD has made its appearance at Waverly. A "Doctor" HORNER is down with it.

The Library Association of Smithfield contemplate having a course of lectures this winter.

There is to be a Christmas tree at the Presbyterian Church, Wyalusing, Saturday evening.

THE editor of the Review acknowledges the receipt of a Christmas turkey and a basket of eggs.

JACOBS is going to occupy the store at present occupied by DECKER BROTHERS, after the first of April.

Sunday last was a beautiful day. Soft and balmy as it was in Spring! Ditto Monday. Ditto Tuesday.

There are no new cases of small-pox at Smithfield, the disease is still confined to the family of Mr. WHITE.

The ladies of the M. E. Church, Sayre, are perfecting the arrangements for their Loan Exhibition in January.

The Pisgah Praying Band, of Troy, are to commence a series of meetings at Tioga Centre, N. Y., ere long.

W. R. PICKENS, of Orwell, recently sold twenty-one turkeys weighing well dressed for market, 250 pounds.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad Company has declared a quarterly dividend of 1 1/2 per cent, payable January 15th.

THE year 1882 enters on Sunday and closes on the same day, making fifty-three Sundays in fifty-two weeks.

OLD Mrs. LUCKY, of Canton, accidentally fell last week and broke her arm, while visiting friends at Beach Falls.

MISS KESINGER, of Athens, one day last week, and two cents per gallon, and a small chromo given with each gallon.

The depot building at Wyalusing has recently been repaired, and alterations made to its interior, that gives more office room.

A THIRTY-EIGHT-YEAR-OLD girl, by the name of SMITH, was accused by a man by the name of MITES, at Canton, so it is reported.

This seems to be the time that the straight Republicans are taking a back seat, while the "kicker" occupy an orchestra chair.

WATKINS has not had a fine since September. Wrecked Advertiser. Masticating raw food is said to be very injurious to the teeth.

The law business must be good at Troy. W. E. CRITCHEL, Esq., bought over a new safe a few days ago, and put it in his office there.

CURRAN of the 1014 A. M. services appropriate to Christmas Season. No Evening Service.

DR. TRACY, of Troy, lost a valuable horse by death one last week. He had purchased the animal at a short time before, paying for him $175.00.

The entertainment announced to be given by the Wyalusing Band on Christmas eve—Saturday next—has been postponed until Tuesday evening, the 27th.

A NEW and powerful engine is being placed in the foundry of AUSTIN MITCHELL, at Troy. An increase of business demanded more power to run the machinery.

At the Fire Department election held on Monday evening, A. D. COULBOURN was elected Chief Engineer, and D. M. WILCOCK and F. B. GUNNELL, Assistants.

CURRAN of the 1014 A. M. services appropriate to Christmas Season. No Evening Service.

THE D. L. & W. R. R. Co. has commenced to build a depot and switch on the Tioga Centre, in the town of Adams. The right of way has been given by Messrs. CHASE and W. W. LORRAINE. The grading is to be gratuitous work, and performed by the inhabitants of the immediate neighborhood.

SAYS the Troy Gazette of last week: "We understand that a horse owned at Troy, and which has some claim on Pugh or Mt. Vernon, has obtained the refusal of the whole top of the mountain. We are not sure whether this looks toward a hot summit or not, but it evidently means something."

THOSE business men who patronize foreign printing establishments forget that there are printing houses at home that can do their work just as well. It is worse for them to send their work to the States, and have it done there, than to have it done at home by the hand of their own countrymen.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Review says that "Mrs. CHARLES BEARDRETT, of Smithfield, met with quite a serious accident a few days ago. As she was going home from Burlington, a pair of horses behind her became unmanageable, and she was thrown from the wagon, throwing her out. She received some very severe injuries, but under the skillful treatment of Dr. MUNDSON, she is recovering."

THERE seems to be talk of another newspaper in Towanda, to be the RANDALL Democratic stripe, whatever that may be. Let's see! Towanda 'n' her newspapers of all kinds, and one of them is daily. There are six, and the editors and publishers have become so wealthy that they are about to form a syndicate to pay off the National debt.

A VERY large audience greeted Miss GERTHIE KELLOGG at Merrier Hall, on Thursday evening last, and all were delighted with the entertainment afforded. The selections were varied and difficult of rendition, but were faultlessly given. Miss Kellogg is a favorite here, and will always command a full house whenever she chooses to favor our town with an evening's recitation.

THE young gentlemen of the High School Department, of the Graded School Society, have organized a Literary Society. It is effected at Merrier Hall. President—BENJAMIN KUTSKILL. Vice-President—MARTIN BENNIS. Secretary—WILL L. WOODRUFF. Treasurer—HIRAM WILSON. Ex. Com.—EVAN MUIR, GEORGE LITTLE and JESSIE G. JUNE.

IT is rumored that the Wyoming County Oil Well near Sciovale reached "first sand" on Saturday, at a depth of 700 feet. It is also said that the indications of "oil" are splendid. We hope all the rumors may prove true, and the indications turn to reality; but our Wyoming friends are well to remember that "first sand" is not a sure indication of a "third sand," and that "third sand" is not always filled with oil.

A representative of the Signal Service Bureau has arrived in Williamsport for the purpose of establishing a first-class station at that point. The apparatus for office use, embracing clock regulators, thermometers, hydrometers, barometers, text books of the profession, with wind-vane, compass, rain gauge, &c., have already arrived in the city, and the office will be opened as soon as the instruments can be put in place.

MR. R. W. YOUNG, of Leona, has had in his employ for some time past one of the Elmira Reformatory graduates, and who has been found to be a most useful man. But one of Mr. YOUNG's absence in a little troublesome, and no pleasant reminder of absent love and past acquaintance has been devised than the "christmas card." The one misfortune in the custom is the yearly advance in the upper register of price. The cheapest are articles of the best, and for the sound merchant reason that there is no profit in the sale of a five-cent card by the thousand than in selling one-dollar cards by the dozen. Nor is there sound sentiment, sound sense or the best manner in sending a thing of expense to convey a message of compliment or carry a message of affection. It is like slipping a bracelet into a basket of flowers, or a bunch of violets into a jeweled holder. Men do such things; but it is always for a reason, and no good one. The Christmas card should be like a bow, costless but careful.

well as to the Father of His Country, the speaker drew parallels, noting the wonderful changes since the death of our first President. His words to the children were kind, and gave evidence of coming from a heart interested in their welfare. Such a brief in the character of an address that should have been heard to be appreciated. At the close of his address, "Near My Child to Thee" was sung, after which the children came forward at the call of Mr. Hoyle, Secretary of the Arbor Association, and received from the hands of the President a small envelope addressed to each, each of which contained a small leaf and a sheet of heavy paper with these words upon its face: "The next page bore the names of the officers of the Association, viz: Sidney Hayden, President; Howard Elmer, R. A. Facker, Thomas Paul, R. F. Goodman, H. W. Thomas and Hawley Tovey, Vice President; M. R. Hoyle, Secretary; J. V. Bishop, Treasurer."

The next page was bordered with black enclosing the words of presentation, to suit the services performed. Those for the boys stating "for assistance in planting" for the girls, "for gracefully decorating with flowers," etc., the Garfield Memorial Tree at Sayre, Monday, September 29, 1881, and signed by the President and Secretary.

The med-iv was struck at the United States Mint, and on one side bore a likeness of Lincoln, and on the other Garfield's. We noted carefully the faces of the children as they came proudly forward and wondered if any of them would become citizens of National Republic. They were all of bright intelligent appearance, and with such men for their fathers and mothers, it is within the range of possibilities for the children of Sayre to become citizens of high position. May they become jewels of the Nation, as they are now the "jewels of Sayre," as stated by Mr. Hayden when he introduced Professor Hutton, of Waverly, to talk to them.

Professor Hutton reviewed the early history of President Garfield, pointing out to the children his marked characteristics and urging them to emulate his virtues. The address, though directed to the children, was of special interest to our readers, especially teachers, for new ideas dropped by the way.
