Are Milking Qualities Inherited?

Editors Country Centleman .- Mr T. Alex. Seth, in your issue of April 13, has an article on "Jersey Breed-13, has an article on "Jersey Breeding and Families," in which he writes: "I have frequently heard old armers say that a large milker never transmitted her qualities to her daughters." Please permit me to say to Mr. Seth, by way of backing up 'sold farmers," that I came to Mississippi in June, 1838, visiting the proof of a relative of my the neighborhood of a relative of my to the supplement by supplies of the property of the food.

A little heifer was brought up, with a calf, and the attention of the father of my wife and of myself was called to the little dun-colored heifer. The owner's wife declared that she was not two years old. My wife's father (Mr. Montgomery) bought the heifer. I had selected a place near by belonging to a Mr. owner of the cow. Mr. Montgomery presented to my wife that little dun cow. She proved to be a very superior milker I have often sat by and sen a large bucket filled at a milking; the milk bucket we used and would hold, I suppose, full four quarts more than the "blue bucket" -a 14 quart bucket-and this from only range feed. ### Notes on Potato Culture.

The small crop of potatoes las year, and consequent high price, will induce the attempted culture of a large area the coming season. Suitable soil must be given, which Paris green will suffice to keep them in check so that little fear need be apprehended from their, otherwise, estructiveness. Deep planting obviates any necessity of making large or conical hills about the potato plants, although I like to raise the ground about them a little, to allow better facilities for the sun and air to act on the soil. By planting on fresh soil, and deep, ed by what is seen around us it we obtain better quality, which last is of as great, or greater consider ation than quantity. ## Evils of Pasturing Meadows.

The past year has tested the arguments for and against this practice to the fullest degree, and from present appearances the coming season will confirm the result of past observations, which is that, during such trying seasons as we have lately experienced, the practice of pasturing water till quite cold, put the yolks losely any land-nicadows in parr ular-is bad. Its virgin fertility enabled it to withstand the constant drain upon its resources. Now nearly all our soils are easily compacted, and greatly damaged by the treading of stock when wet, as they usually are in the fall. Most of them need all the growth they can get to maintain fertility. During the freezing and thawing early this winter, meadows which were eaten closely suffered much more than those which retained a good second growth and according to the stock of the stock o stock. Farm Notes.

The nearer a fattening animal approaches maturity the greater is the proportion of fat in the gross inrease obtained. Cotswold sheep have large, handsome frames well covered with flesh, and a great propensity to fatten.

Their mutton is apt to be rather coarse grained. Put four or five lima beans in a pot and cover them an inch deep. It is real fun to see them come up. Take care of the plants and set them out without disturbing the roots. In England the farmer examines and selects sheep that excel in producing mutton, while in America the preference is for sheep that produce the heaviest and best fleeces. Deeply rooted crops, as wheat, red clover and mangel, are the best fitted to resist drought, while shallow rooted crops, as grass and turnips, are those that suffer most from it. Whatever he has done, or neglected to do in the past, the farmer who has land which can properly be devoted to that purpose should make

When to Prune Trees. There is nothing more deserving of admiration than a well-proportioned tree. When left to grow naturally trees usually assume an outline that is pleasing, but when pruning is properly understood and applied the general appearance of trees can be much improved. If pruning be judgwould be difficult to assert that it is generally beneficial, for too often it has resulted in the permanent injury of trees, and certainly to the disfigurement of many streets in our ly planted there is room for the pruner's skill. There are many small fruit orchards in our town, that contain pear and other trees. models of symmetry. I'runing should commence before a tree is planted. Agricultural Machinery Best and Leading Kinds

R. M. WELLES, WHOLESALE AND BETAIL DEALER,

Spring Tooth Harrows These implements are unequaled for thorough preparation of all plowed ground for crops. They will cover at one operation broad-cast grain nearly, as well as a grain-drill will put it in, and should precede the drill in preparation of the soil. These Harrows should, by all means, be used upon Fall-plowed ground. They are remarkably a aptent to rough and stony, as well as for smooth, ground. Township Agents Wanted.

Wiard's Chilled Plows

These are the very best chilled plows in the market for general purposes and upon all kinds of ground. I ask for fair and thorough test-trivis for these plows in competition with other leading chilled plows. Decidedly unequaled for hard and stony land.

Farmers' Favorite, Champion and other Grain Drills. If you desi to buy a Grain Drill, let me quote prices. Auburn Farm and Lumber Wagons For either one or two horses. With either thimble skins and wood axies, or, with Shelden's best whole-piece "Anchor Brand" Iron Axies. These wayons are well proportioned, well finished and painted, easy running, test in quality, and cheapest good wagons; in the marker. They have my own improved brake, and are warranted in every respect. Call and see them. Enterprise Adjustable Track and other Churn Powers. A full line of Churn Powers dalpted to any sized dairy. Powers delivered free of charge at your nearest railroad station.

Improved Tompkins County Cultivators. These Cultivators are unrivated for convenience and utility. Are of my manufacture, Are just what every farmer needs. For sale at wholessle and retail. Tompkins County Leader Wheel Bake. This is a truly valuable Wheel Rake. Is stapped to a greater variety of work than any other. It is a good, well made and durable implement. I will warrant it to give satisfaction. Is made forme, or, two horses, and inter-changeable. Thomas Smoothing Harrows and Acme Harrows. These are valuable imple ments and cheap.

XX Star Hydraulic Coment by barrel or car load. Imported Imperial Portland Coment. This is several times, stronger, than the best American cements. I would recommend it for last coat fuishing of cisterns and other special work where great strength is desired. For the lineary desired quantity.

SIDE-HILL and LATEST IMPROVED Reversible Plows. West Oneonia, Clipper Chiled, Dyer, and other good ones,

CHAMPION BARBED Fence Wire. This barbed wire is well worthy the attention of farmes It is cheap, efficient, yet not dangerous, it recommends itself at sight. Send for specimens and prices. Platform Wagons, Open and Top Wagons, &c., of best styles and makers. I self no shoddy wagons and at lower prices than they can get wagons made to order. Chain Pumps. Good and cheap. Easily set

PULLIAM'S Wagon Bolster Springs.

R. M. Welles.
