Anoruen Fine -Almust .- Yesterday evening a-week, about dusk, our citizons were again plarmed by the ery of "Fire," caused by the burning of several bundles of straw in the new barn of Mr. G. U. STRICKHOUSER, (erected on the site of the one burned a few months ago.) It was discovered just in the nick of time-a few minutes more and we would have seen the entire building enveloped in flames. The damage, however, was trifling. How the fire originated is a mysterious question.

A Terrible Calamity.-Three Young Ladies Burned to Death.

The residence of Mr. John Appleton Haven, at Fort Washington, (ten miles from the New York City Hall. known as "Weldenfield,") was totally destroyed by fire at four o'clock on Pice Presidents-Maxwell Shields, Frederick Saturday morning. Three of his daughters, Dichl. Wm. B. Brandon, Amos Lefever. Philip Mary, Sarah and Grace Haven, lost their lives. -- One perished in the flames, and two were suffocuted. The New York Post of Saturday afternoon has the following particulars of the sad affair: The family retired to rest about eleven o'clock last night, in good health. The young ladies slept on the second floor, and the first, he held at the Court-house in the Bustough of intimation they had that the house was on fire Gettysburg, on Thursday, the 22d of February Corresponding Secretary-D. They instantly picked them up and rushed out of the house. but it was too late—they were past recovery: Although their pulses heat, they died soon after being taken into the open air.

The other daughter was not recovered. It is supposed that she was also sufficated and burned with the house. The neighbors succeeded in rescuing Annie, the eldest daughter, and taking her from the building alive, though nearly suffocated. By the application of suitable remedies she was restored.

The bodies of the two suffocated vonng ladies were taken to the neighboring house of Mr. Hopkins, treasurer of the Hudson River railroad, and a son-in-law of Mr. Haven. The remains of the daughter who was burned to death had not been got out of the rains up to twelve o'clock to-day.—Two of the daughters who perished were twins, about 20 years of The other was 17 years old.

The fire occurred in the kitchen, and is supposed to have originated through the carelessness of the servants, who had been up to a late hour. It is also supposed that the house had been on fire an hour before it was discovered. The servants, it is alleged, fled from the buil- on a much larger scale than ever before, in ording soon after the fire broke out, without giving any alarm to the house. The fog was very thick at the time, and the light of the fire could not be seen at a very great distance.

Mr. Haven's house was an irregular structwenty-five feet front, and forty feet deep. It was situated on an eminence, at a distance of a quarter of a mile from the Hudson river. The house and furniture, all of which were consumed, were valued at twenty thousand dollars. Mr. Haven was insured in various offices in this city.

A Boarding-House Set on Fire-Life Lost. PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 17.—This morning early a fire occurred in the upperpart of a boardinghouse, kept by Mrs. Edwards, on Chesnut street, near Broad. Alexander Bowman, of Hagerstown. Md., a student of medicine, one of the boarders, whilst hurrying down stairs, lost his way in the smoke, and was found in the basement, terribly burned. He was removed to the hospital, where he died shortly afterwards. Another young man leaped from an upper winnow, and escaped with but slight injury.

Mrs. Edwards was absent on a visit to New York. The house was set on fire on New Year's night, and suspicions are entertained that if was again fired last night. The coroller is investigating the matter, and the servants have
