Persons having mart deposites could not make a more profitable disposition of their marl than by covering their barn-yards and stable floors with it. to act as an absorbent and retainer of the liquid manures of their stock.

Fall Plowing.

A writer in the "Country Gentleman" is much in favor of fall plowing. In such dry scasons as we have had for two years past. his crops endure the drought much better .---The corn leaves rolled up ten days sooner on spring plowed land. The sod rots earlier, and gives the crop a vigorous start, and this enables him to keep the weeds in subjection. Last year he had a field of corn, eight acres; a little more than halt was plowed in the fall, the rest in the spring. When harvested, the fall-plowed ground yielded nearly one-third more than the other, a great deal heavier growth of stalks and longer cars. We are greatly in favor of the practice when done as, and at the time, it should be.

Cure for Heaves.

Take some weed commonly called smart weed, that grows along the roadside, or, in the fields in low places ; steep it in boiling water till the strength is all out, and give the horse one quart of the liquid every day for eight or ten days. Mix it with bran or shorts if he will eat it, if not pour it down him with a bottle .---Give him a cut of green feed wet up with water during the operation, and I will warrant a cure: Horses with heaves will be troubled with it about as bad in dry weather, as they will in the spring of the year. This medicine is so simple and easy to be obtained, that some may not think it worth their while to try it, but simple medicines many times prove more effectual than those obtained at a great ex-HARVEY ROSECRATZ. pense.
