Why is a Garden Fruitful!

The almost murersal opinion is, because it indie highly manused than fields, and there-ave has a neher soil. Yet this is not always the case. There are other things to be attendio, in order to render the soil prolific. One to pulyerize the soil; though this may seem a small matter to many of our would be fur-mers. But it is owing to the finely pulverized condition of the beds of a garden that it poscases a highly absorbent power to attract the moisture of the atmosphere -a source of fertility that many farmers scarcely seem aware that they posess. If the soil of the field was ns carefully worked, and fresh earth constant-It exposed to the atmosphere, as in the well-attended garden, the tand would increase each year in fertility. Let the rule e, plow deep, cultivate, well, pulverize lumps and sods, return your straw to the soil, and you may carry off an immense quantity of food, and have settle soil still. Plants in their nature are organized, beings. By means of their roots they take up food frein the soil, and often the very food which the soil has taken up, by its power of absorbtion, from the atmosphere, and which power is increased to an almost indefinite extent, by separating the particles of which it is composed. The acts of plowing and harrowing are a part of the process of manuring. The act of stirring the earth. in times of drouth, serves as a watering of the plants. The moisture thus absorbed is loaded with fertilizing properties. If, then, you would have your fields as fertile as a garden, Jou must not depend upon manure alone, but pulverize freely, not upon the surface, but deep below it .- Farmer's Magazine.

of soil alone, without the presence of such inte-grants as are required by crops, will produce frofitable results; but at the same time are ready to acknowledge that a very much less quantity of such materials as are shown to extatin plants, by analysis, may be successfully erganic matter, stimulating gases, etc., which are respectfully invited to call. will be received from the atmosphere are much greater than in a soil sluggishly tilled, in adways securing for itself the presence of the puressary amount of moisture; for in deep wils that are kept free the atmosphere will circulate, and on reaching particles sufficiently inr beneath the surface to be colder than the auposphere, will deposit moisture on such parsicles, hence securing all the conditions for diwiding the soluble portions of manures; and of acudering such parts soluble as can only undergo the necessary chemical changes when in the humid condition. - Working Furmer.

LIME DUST ON PLANTS, -- An English orchardist who occupies 50 acres, protects his trees from caterpillars and other insects by shaking over il e young folinge quick lime pulverised and situd through a fine sieve. He puts the lime into a thin conical conister perforated at one and, and, with a long handle. The time for using it is in the dew of the morning, or whenever the leaves are damp. He has found it very effectual.

CLOVER Withen clover was first introduced into Germany to fill up the year of naked fallaw, in the tricinnial course of cropping, its effects appeared so extraordinary, that it was pronounced to be the limit of the art of cutfire, it gave fodder for cattle during the for- induce persons to purchase. A large lot of merly naked year, it gave a better crop in the Trunks also received, which will be sold low. Pulvermacher's Elydro Elecfollowing year, and it was supposed to choke the weeds which invisted the fields of grain.

GUANO MADE PROM FISH .- A manufactory exists in the Department of the Finistere, France, where a fertilizing powder is made from fish. The fish undergoes a kind of cooking by steam, after which it is dried and pulverized. It requires 445 pounds of fish to produce 100 pounds of the powder, which forms an admirable manure.

Tuers.—Let a farmer plant out by the road-side 100 trees at a cost of $60, (and this is a fair estimate) in ten years time that furm will sell for $500 more than it would without them. and we venture the assertion, the owner would not have them removed for that sum.

THE TOOTH BUSINESS. -Some men thrive on "the infirmities of others. The fact is indicated by the statistics of the tooth-manufacturing business in New York city, where there are a number of individuals or associations extensively engaged in it. At one place in Broadway there may occasionally be seen large rocks of Thirtz, which, after being ground, forms a principal ingredient in the composition of which artificial teeth are made. One concern engaged in this business employs thirty men, and turns out three thousand teeth per day, to · be sold to dentists, and afterwards attached to gold plates, &c .- Journal of Commerce.

BREACH OF PROMISE A striking case of this kind was tried in Orange county, N. Y., last week. Charlotte Wright prosecuted Langford R. Brown for breach of promise of marringe, and on the trial it appeared, as the Newhuigh Gazette states, that about three years rago the defendant commenced paying attentions to the plaintiff, and about two years ago asked her in marriage of her parents—whose consent was given. He continued to visit her until September last, whethe left her and refused to marry her. The jury found a verdict for the plaintiff of $3,500.

WHIG CONSISTENCY .- Only two years ago, the whole Whig party of the country was conyulsed with "virtuous indignation," because the constitution of New Hampshire provides, that to certain offices Catholics shall not be eligible! and President Pierce was held responsible for its adoption! Now, the Whig Legislature of Massachusetts is providing that the Catholics af that State shall not hold an office of any
