MONDAY MORNING, APRIL 2, 1855.

Fatal Accident.

On Wednesday last, Mr. JNO. W. COOK, of Menallen township, in this county, was killed at the Railroad Depot in Hanover, by one of the cars detached from a burthen train running over him. It seems he was standing upon the track, conversing with some one, and at the same time having an eye upon his man, when the car, detached from the locomotive struck-and knocked him down, the wheels on and on the other shockingly injuring him about gans of the new party. They have a great out a word of remonstrance from a single one ereation. But where there are no forests the the head. NEW Post Route. - Among the acts passed by the late Congress, and signed by the President, is one establishing a new Post-road from East Berlin, by way of King's Tavern and Fariner's Post-office, to York. Some arrangement of the kind has been wanted for some time, and we doubt not that the route now authorized will be the means of furnishing the citizens of East Berlin and neighborhood their mail matter promptly and without delay. They will now have direct communication with the cities, also with York, Hanover and Gettysburg.

The principles of the Democratic party are must acknowledge, if not in words, in acts, which "speak louder." No party has ever in this country been "better abused" than the one to which we, with an honest pride, confess attachment, but it is complimented, too, in just such acts as the veto of the Pottstown Bank. Know-Nothing Feud.

Two Know-Nothing organizations are said to exist in New York; and which are represented as waging a fierce and uncompromising warfare against each other. That branch to which the epithet Hinday is applied, and of which James W. Barker is the High Priest, is said The Republican Compiler, to be rapidly decreasing in numbers, in consequence of the inroad made upon it by the other the original, rejecting the practise of the Hindoor in making separate nominations, and inwhich may, we presume, be regarded as a sort of tender to the Seward interest of the State. tracted cannot exist long without meeting overwhelming defeat.

"Americans must rule America." This is a common sentiment these days with the or-Americans. They will rule themselves, and permit no other rulers. The American has no such word as rule in his vocabulary to have a freeman for its subject. The brothren had as well give up this fancy for ruling: it can't be indulged. Americans won't bear ruling. They UNION, ORGANIZATION, ENERGY and ACTION! must confine their ambition to raling the Know-Nothing lodges. In these dark and mysterious places the ambition for ruling must be confined; outside of them righteousness only can rule -Louisville Democrat.

Berks County.

A few Know-Nothing papers try to crow over the result of the township elections in Berkscounty. The Reading Gazette, however, gives the facts, which are as follows:

From the Pennsylvania Telegraph of May 10, 1854, we clip the following:

He ate but little breakfast, and in a short time went to bed. About 12 o'clock Friday night he was seized by a most fearful spasin which lasted for some time. After the spasm passed off he became quite calm, and conversed almost incessantly, and assured his friends that he would not harm them in any way. His next spasm was on Saturday morning, and more violent than the former. The last spasm seemed to rack the sufferer with the most exerutiating agony, and was dreadful in the extreme, even to witness. During all his sufferings to the very moment of his death he was conscious of his condition, perfectly rational in all respects, and seemed to take particular care to harm no one during his raving fits, although he was in no way secured, and in the same room with his friends and attendants.

It is certainly contrary to usual experience that the virus should remain so long in the system, and give no more decided manifestations of its presence. But the case, though a remarkable one, is by no means an isolated one.

In Iowa a large quantity has been sown, but so great is the emigration to that State, and so rapidly did it fill up last season, that a large portion of the surplus will be required for the new settlers there and in Kansas and Nebraska. Throughout Illinois, it is represented that the crop never looked better. The high prices of the last few years, and the almost certainty that there will be but little abatement during the present year, have stimulated the farmers to sow to an extent beyond former precedent. And the same may be said of Wisconsin. The prospect there is that the abundant crop of last year will be succeeded by one equally as good this year.—Chicugo

BERLIN, Friday, March 2 - Official accountshave been received of the death of the Emperor Nicholas. The event took place thismorning at 12 10. Paralysis of the lungs was the innuediate cause.

The Prassian official journal publishes the following dispatches, addressed to Berlin by Lieut. Count Minister, adjutant in the serviceof the King of Prussia:

"ST. PETERSBURG, March I, T 25 A. M .-The State of the Emperor became much worseyesterday evening. The following is the medical bulletin: Yesterday violent fevermanifested itself, with inflammation of thelungs. The fever lasted the whole night, preventing sleep. The ejections continue without obstacle. A slight attack of gout is observable.' I must add that the debility of the august invalid has greatly increased, and that, at least in the opinion of the physicians, the state of his majesty is most critical.

"Sr. Petersburg, Winter Palace, March 2d. A. M.—The Emperor has calmly received the communication from Dr. Mandt, that atrophy of the lungs is possible. He simply observed-'When shall I be paralysed?' The hysicans could not give a precise answer. The Emperor then said to Dr. Carell-When shall I choke?'—The Emperor has taken the last sacraments; he has taken leave of his wife and children, whom he has blessed separately, as also his grand-children in a firm voice, in full possession of his intellects, perfectly calm, and with great presence of mind. The pulse is still strong, but musk has already been administered. The Empress keeps up, and shows resignation."

The Morning Chronicle has published the following telegraphic intelligence, dated St. Petersburg, March 3: "The Emperor expired resterday at ten o'clock. Alexander was proclaimed Emperor on the same day. He received homage to day."

The last words of Nicholas to the Empress were: "Tell Frèderick, King of Prussia, to continue attached to Russia, as he has hithertobeen, and never forget his father's words. It is said that a few days before his death the

Our correspondents attribute the illness of the Emperor to a cold. Notwithstanding the severity of the weather, he continued his usual occupations; he was desirous to see everything for himsel & and in the most minute details; he visited the soldiers in their barracks; he passed long and frequent reviews, forgetting the precautions which his age required in such a climate, and in such a severe season. Toall the observations made to him by his children and by his most devoted servants, he replied he had something else to do besides taking care of his health. He had, however, attended to it for more than a year past, and at. imes felt uneasiness.

"He said that he had reached, and even exceeded, the number of years which God had sllowed to others of his race, and that his end was not far distant. He had treated himself according to his own ideas; he had insisted on his physician putting him on a regimen which would prevent his getting corpulent, of which he had a singular dread. - What change has taken place since the 19th of February? It is said he had an attack of apoplexy, or of paalvsis of the lungs. This was a thing which Mr. Mandt had not anticipated, for at that time he felt no alarm, and his language was most satisfactory. The Emperor Nicholas was, moreover, subject to attacks of gout, and at the commencement of his illness he had felt some symptoms of it."
