his subjects, so do we also, on ascending the throne of Russia, and of Poland and Finland, inseparable from it, take a solemn oath before God to regard the welfare of our empire as our only object. May Providence, which has selected us for so high a calling, be our guide and protector, that we may maintain Russia on the highest standard of power and glory, and in our person accomplish the incessant portant news. wishes and views of Peter, of Catharine, of Alexander, and of our father. May the zeal of Intelligence had reached Paris from St. Petersburg, which describes that city as in a state of great excitement. The nobles had met secretty with a view of addressing the Emperor on the subject of arming the serfs. They proposed pointing out to Alexander the ruin which would accompany such a step, and the internal dangers that might follow.

It was expected that St. Petersburg would reported to have declared his intention to folthe Congress of Vienna. Prince Gortschakoff's prevail at St. Petersburg.

It is stated that Lord John Russell and M. England and France consider necessary for the treaty of peace, and if these terms are correctly rendered, they are not (says the European Times) such as the new Emperor of Russia ought to decline to accept, for they merely propose a limitation of the Russian power in the Black Sea, the transforming of Sebastopol into fortress. These are not very humiliating terms, but they ought to be accompanied by another and still more stringent condition .namely, that of making Russia pay the expen-

A speck of disagreement had arisen between Napoleon and England. Napoleon said the committee of the English Parliament proceeded. Lord Charendon went by express to Boulogue and set the matter right.

Of the proposed departure of Napoleon for the seat of war nothing additional was known, said His Majesty's visit has reference to a plan of operations of an extent commensurate with such a war as the present one. A French Subsequently he appeared convulsed, and camp of 40,000 men will probably be establavowed that he had taken poison, but whether lished at Constantinople.

On the 23d and 24th of February there was some serious fighting before Sebastopol, but the French and Russian telegraphic accounts of the affair are violently conflicting, and probably neither of them are accurate.

The Czar's dying request of the King of Prussia to "remain attached to Russia, as he has hitherto been, and not to forget his father's word," probably, referred to the following passage in the will of Frederick William III, addressed to the present monarch: "Never neglect to maintain harmony among the European nations as far as it is in your power. Above all things, may Prussia, Russia and Austria never separate. Their union should be considered the keystone of the great European alliance."

Bloody Tragedy at New Orleans-Two Men Shot Dead.

A shocking affair occurred at the billiard saloon of the St. Charles hotel at New Orleans, that a man named John Duffy, a large owner of honor" His first, meeting was in 1833 or of hacks, was tried about four years ago for the murder of Dr. Weymouth, and that Wm. C. Harrison, a steamboat pilot, and a young man much respected, was the principal witness against him. Ever since then, Duffy, it is alleged, had entertained an ill-feeling towards Harrison, and a few days, previous to the 20th inst., had an altercation. On the night in question they met in Gravier street, and another altercation ensued. Harrison drew a pistoi, whereuron Duffy fled into the billiard saloon, pursued by Harrison, who commenced firing at him, and continued until he had discharged six shots, one of which took effect in Duffy's breast, penetrating the heart. He ran out into Gravier street and fell dead upon the banquette. Another shot, during the affray, took effect on the person of Dr. Parsons, who was seated in a chair at one side of a billiard table; the ball entered his right side, just below the nipple, and taking a downward direction, passed through the lungs and body, and lodged under the skin, near the hip. He lived long enough to run out on St. Charles street, where he fell and shortly after expired. Duffy fired a pistol over his shoulder as he was running, and it is supposed the discharge took effect upon Dr. Parsons. Harrison immediately surrendered himself. Dr. Parsons was a young man, who had graduated a day or two previous, and had been married only a few months.

Bishop Doane's Debts.—Important Decision.

The late James Perkins, of Boston, bequeathed to his widow the clear sum of $6,000 annually, payable quarter-yearly. She afterwards married the Rev. Dr. Doane, now Episcopal Bishop of New Jersey. The gentle- The par value of this stock is $25. man being much embarrassed, a contract was made between himself, Mrs. Doane and Michael Hayes, of New Jersey, by which it was agreed that Hayes should take up certain notes to a large amount, which he had endorsed for the Bishop's accommodation, and that Mrs. Doane should give him an order on her trustees in Boston to pay him $1,000 annually for a certain number of years, until he should receive one-half of what he had advanced, which was about $30,000. Haves succeeded to take up and pay the notes, and Mrs. Doane gave him the order requesting the trustees to pay him $1,000 a year, as had been agreed.

The first yearly payment was made by Bishop Doane. When the second became due, Hayes demanded it of the trustees, who had doubts whether they ought to pay it; and as E. N. Perkins, son of Mrs. Doane, presented an order of a subsequent date for the quarterly payment, $1.500, then due, (which order was in favor of Bishop Doane, and by him endorsed.) the trustees filed a bill of equity, asking the instructions of court.

Judge Thomas delivered the opinion of the court on Monday, holding that the legacy to Mrs. Doane was intended for her support, and was to be payable quarter-yearly, and that, she had no right to make such a contract as she did make with Hayes, although with the consent and for the benefit of her husband, and that the same was void in law.

CHILD BURNED TO DUATH .- We learn from. the Chambersburg Transcript, that on the Tevening of Tuesday of last week. a child of Mr. Henry S. Miller, living in Guiltord two., was so badly burned, in consequence of its clothes taking-fire, that she died in about eight hours. The father was absent, and the mother, who had left the house but a short time, returned to find her child enveloped in flames. Small children should not be lest alone with fires, and had this precantion been observed by these parents, they would not now be lamenting the distressing occurrence just related.

> Col. McClung, "THE DUELIST."-The dispatch published yesterday, stating that Col. McClung, "the duelist," had committed suicide at Jackson, Miss., referred to Col. Alexander K. McClung, a well-known citizen of Mississippi, who served gallantly in the Mexican war, as a volunteer under General Taylor. He was the lieutenant colonel of the Mississippi regiment. It is said that he was the first to scale the walls of the Black Fort at Monterey, and for his intrepidity in placing the stars and stripes on its captured walls, was marked and pierced by the enemy with wounds under which he suffered the most agonizing pains for several months. During General Taylor's administration, he was appointed Charge d'Affairs to Bolivia, in South America. He was engaged in several duels many years ago, and was noted for demanding and granting the most extreme terms of the falsely styled "code weapons, pistols, to be fired at ten paces. or while advancing nearer to each other, and then the use of the bowie-knife. ### Agricultural Society.

REGULAR MEETING of the Adams County Agricultural Society will be held at the Court-house, in Gettyshurg, on Tuesday, the 17th day of April next, at 1 o'clock, P. M., when, it is hoped, the attendance will be large. It is also expected, that in the evening of the same day, at the same place, this question will be discussed: "Is the application of barn-yard manure in an unfermented state the best mode ?"

By a resolution adopted at the last meeting of the Society, all present were requested and authorized to procure additional members, and the President and Secretary directed to inform the public (which they now do.) that the holding of an Agricultural Fair next fall, will depend entirely upon what the people of the county, may do towards assisting the Society's efforts. Its funds are far from being sufficient to justify the undertaking as yet; but if the secole will by the April meeting contribute with proper liberality to its treasury by an increase of membership, and thus authorize the commencement of preparations, the Society will very promptly undertake the trouble, and endeavor to carry the project to a successful termination. The members of the Society are anxious to hold a Fair on a large scale-such an one as the County need not be ashamed of,-but an increase of funds will alone insure it. This statement is made now so that the public may thus early know the state of the question. JNO. McGINLEY, Prest.
