. NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH BY LIGHTNING. -Capt. David S. Young, of Staunton, Va., which he has nearly recovered. The Vindicator savs:

"The fluid struck him first on the arm, just below the left shoulder, as he stood on his back norch, leaning with his left side against the north-east corner of his house. A raised and bruised indenture of shout an inch and a quarter outside, and transverse the arm, something like a slight born, marks the place of its entry. At that point a hole was made through his coat and shirt sleeve, of about one and a half inches dimension.—Thence the track of the electric fluid is plainly visible by marks similar to that on his arm, around his back, down to his right thigh, and thence on the outer side of his right leg to the toes of his right foot. In its course it burned the hair from hiswight limb and tore the shoe from his right foot, prostrating him on the floor of his porch; where he lay helpless, but perfectly in his senses, of which he was not deprived for a moment sindeed, he himself, with entire presence of mind, directed his family in the administration of the remedies by which he was restored--such as pouring over him cold water, &c. The course of the electricity around his bodyhe accounts for by the circumstance of his having at the time keys and other metallic substances in the right pocket of his pantaloons."

The Express says . At about two o'clock in the morning she

Seizing a revolver which was under one of the pillows of the bed, she took aim at the chap that had the plunder in his hands, and as good luck would have it. hit-him on the first fire. The fellow dropped the stolen property and sprang through the door into the street, exclaiming "My God, Bill, I'm shot." On examining the premises, after the burglars had escaped, it was discovered that nearly every drawer and chest had been forced open, but nothing carried off.-Mcs. Lindsay is certainly a very courageous woman, and should be highly prized by her hysband. One thing is very certain, and that is, it would be rather a dangerous proceeding to attempt to rob her premises so long as she possesses a revolver, and knows so well how

DECISION IN A LIQUOR CASE. - In the case of William Landon, at Albany, N. Y., whose trial for violating the prohibitory law in selling imported liquor has created considerable attention, the jury on Friday rendered a verdict of not guilty. It was during the preliminary stages of this case, it will be remembered. that the spectators were impelled to inflict some indignity upon the person of C. P. Williams, the complainant, who was said to be a member of the Carson League. A despatch says: The verdict was received with general accla-
