

glorious institutions. The Star has long been endeavoring to disturb this happy state of things, and to sow the seeds of religious discord and dissension. The sober second thought of the people, I feel confident, will soon rebuke and forever frustrate its unholy and un-Godly designs. It would be folly to denounce all the silly and absurd charges that it has been leveling against some of the best men of the country, both Protestant and Catholic. Such aspersions have long since been refuted by practice, as well as by theory. When such men as Thos. G. Pratt, Richard T. Metrick, Beverly Johnston, Wm. H. Preston, and others, pronounce the sentence of condemnation on such doctrines as the Star and Clippit promulgate, under the sacred name of Americans, it is of little or no utility or necessity for me to raise my feeble hand to expose and contradict them.

The late conduct, too, of the Star towards the Whig party, shows plainly the domineering spirit of its editor, and those that assist him in his anti-republican crusade. But he will come out second best, as he did last fall, when he undertook to turn the undercurrent for Wilson, while feigning to be an unflinching Neely man. The Whigs cannot now put the least confidence in his professions, and they are glad to find him at length their open enemy. And while they cannot endorse all the political measures of the Democratic party, they cannot but see that their own security and reputation demand of them a united effort with that party to crush this unnatural fungus, Know Nothingism, which vampire like, saps the last vestige of life from the tree of liberty. All true men, of whatever class or party, should therefore forget the slight differences and difficulties of the past, and cast their joint suffrages in favor of men and measures that are in keeping with the spirit of our Republic, and not at variance and at war with the precepts of the Gospel. So says and thinks A NATIVE AMERICAN.

It would seem that the Know Nothings of York county are as desperate and unscrupulous as they are here. The Gazette nails one of their vile slanders thus:

AN INFAMOUS SLANDER!

THE STORY OF THE IRISHMEN!—From the manner in which the Know Nothings have carried on the present campaign, we were prepared to hear any lie, no matter what its baseness, uttered by them in their desperate attempt to secure the success of their secret, midnight organization. We knew there was no depth of infamy which they would not reach. Exhausting all their vocabulary of abuse and misrepresentation, they have recently played a card which must inevitably cover them with shame and confusion. We allude to the base and wilful lie which they have started in reference to the Irishmen who came to York to be assessed (C) and after they had finished their work purchased a number of knives and revolvers for the purpose of using them at the polls. This lie has been promulgated by one of their speakers in the country, and in its utterance, the creature who asserted it, knew that he was LYING when he spoke. It is a MISERABLE SLANDER, without the shadow of foundation, and of which they cannot furnish a particle of proof. Now for the truth: A few days ago we understand, several Irishmen came to York, whose business it is to peddle certain wares through the country, and who frequently come here to replenish their stock. But they were not residents of this borough, they made no attempt to be assessed, and when they replenished their little stocks they quietly and peaceably went to their daily avocations. This fabrication is intended solely to mislead and deceive the people. It is a low paltry electioneering trick, and we tell these men that we know that they are now ready to flood the County with handbills, which are ready for that purpose, and that they are attempting by their present course to produce the same state of feeling which the Knave Prentice, who edits the "Louisville Journal," excited before the Kentucky election, and which resulted in riot, bloodshed, and loss of human life. AGAIN, WE PRONOUNCE THE STORY A MISERABLE FABRICATION, DESTITUTE OF TRUTH, AND INTENDED TO DECEIVE THE PEOPLE! Freemen of York County! We ask you to examine this matter—rebuke these common slanderers—be not deceived by such barefaced slanderers—and teach these corrupt and unscrupulous pertruders that if they are lost to all sense of decency, the honest Yeomanry of York county cannot be betrayed into the support of a party whose only weapon is a lie, and whose principle of action is slander and deceit. BEWARE OF THEIR LYING HANDS! WATCH THEM! DO YOUR DUTY TO YOUR COUNTRY AND YOUR GOD!

The Democratic papers of Maryland are fairly loaded down with renunciations of Know Nothingism, so rapidly is the sinking ship being deserted in that State. We copy the following from the mass, because it presents the aims and tendencies of the secret order in a strong and clear light—in such an aspect, indeed, as should arrest the serious attention of every well-wisher of his country.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Know Nothing Succession in District No. 8, Allegheny County, Md.

We, the subscribers, having recently dissolved our connection with the secret political organization, known as the Know Nothing party, deem it due to those we consider our misguided friends of the order, as also to the uninitiated Public, that we give some of our reasons for this seceding.

We believe then, that under a Democratic Republic form of government like our own, no man should be coerced in the exercise and enjoyment of his civil and religious rights, both of which, we consider virtually enlarged by the present political combinations, having as they do, for one at least of their avowed objects, the exclusion from office of any American citizen, who exercises simply the rights of a citizen.

We believe that the tendency of such secret political associations to be towards an arbitrary and despotic government, eventually passing from the hands of the people to a privileged aristocracy, and finally establishing the very evils against which they now so loudly claim. If an oath-bound party can say to-day to American citizens, the "son of the sires of '76," as well as to all others,—"Thus shalt thou worship, or be excluded from all office in this government," how far distant is the day when the same, or a like party, will have the power to say to us,—"Thus shalt thou worship, or be excluded from all office of this government." We cannot fail, as follows:—

Though not Catholics, we cannot fail, as follows:—to recognize as a great and fundamental principle of Democracy, the fullest and freest liberty of conscience in matters pertaining to the worship of the Great Disposer of human events; and well may the sons of Maryland cherish that principle, which has added to American history its brightest page, and given to the world its noblest example of exemption from religious intolerance. That principle it was that first shone out within her borders amid the gloom and peril of our colonial and revolutionary days, and proved the pillar of life to guide all men from the devious ways of fanaticism and persecution into the peaceful haven of liberty. It was that principle with Civil Liberty, that made our State, and has made our Union, "the home of the oppressed and the asylum of the exile," and given us population and power at home and respect and importance abroad.

Entertaining these views, we could not longer remain enrolled with a party warning against the fundamental principles of our government.

Massachusetts Politics.

Worcester, (Mass.) October 2.—The Whig State convention met here to-day, J. Thomas Stevenson, of Boston, presiding. Letters from R. C. Winthrop were read, in which he says he prefers Choate against fusion. Samuel H. Walley, of Roxbury, was nominated for Governor.

The resolutions adopted by the convention declare that the Whig party should more than ever keep aloof from untangling alliances; repudiate the Personal Liberty bill and advocate its passage; declare the Liquor Law a failure; avow the determination to go for constitutional measures; advocate the organization of a National party, which on the slavery issue should be formed to resist the aggressions of fanaticism.

Mr. Walley accepted the nomination for Governor. Moses Davenport was nominated for Lieut. Governor, and a full State ticket was formed.

Oct. 3.—During the session of the Whig State Convention, yesterday, a letter was read from the Hon. Rufus Choate, in which he said that the party of fusion is, in the worst sense, a geographical party, and that the whigs will not join any party that does not carry the flag and keep step to the music of the Union.

A similar letter was read from the Hon. R. C. Winthrop.

Hon. Geo. S.illard, of Boston, made a lengthy speech, in which he styled the "fusion" the rag baby party. He also alluded to the speech of Senator Wade, of Ohio, during the late Maine canvass, and said that its disunion sentiments was calculated to wake Washington in his grave. As to the Personal Liberty bill, others might call it nullification, but he called it treason.

After speeches from Prof. Fowler, of Amherst, and others, the convention, with loud cheers for the candidates nominated, dissolved.

ONE WEEK LATER FROM EUROPE.

The Assault on the Malakoff.

FEARFUL LOSS OF LIFE.

The Retreat of the Russians on Perchop Contradicted—More Negotiations—Excitement in Paris.

SANDY HOOK, Oct. 3, 12 A. M.—The American mail steamer Pacific has just arrived off this point, with Liverpool dates to the 22d ult., one week later than previous advices.

She arrived out at Liverpool on the afternoon of the 10th ult., after a passage of only nine days and twenty-three hours!

General Simpson's despatches to the British government describing the assault upon and the capture of the Malakoff tower, had been received. He says:

At 12 o'clock on the morning of the 8th of September the French columns, under General Bosquet, McMahon and De La Mottergue, carried the Malakoff by a most impetuous valor.

The British columns stormed the Redan battery, but after a most bloody combat could not hold it!

A second assault was organized on the following morning (Sunday) when the Redan was captured.

The loss of life has been fearful, particularly among the officers.

Gen. Pelissier's despatches had not arrived. The retreat of the Russians on Perchop is contradicted, but it was expected they would be unable to hold the north side of Sebastopol for want of provisions.

Nothing decisive is known in regard to the next movement of the allies.

The military stores found in Sebastopol by the allies were very great. Four thousand cannon and fifty thousand balls, together with other immense stores of gunpowder, were taken possession of.

The Czar Alexander, in an address to the army, says: "I rely confidently upon your courage to repel all the future attacks of the enemy."

In a letter to the King of Prussia the Emperor of Russia states that he "will accept of no conditions of peace derogatory to Russia!"

The Czar, with the three Grand Dukes, have signified their intention of proceeding to the Crimea.

The Emperor of Austria has formally congratulated Queen Victoria and the Emperor Napoleon upon the recent great victory of the allies in the capture of Sebastopol.

There is more talk about Austrian negotiations. The latest was that Austria is willing to undertake the work of mediation at Vienna, and France at Paris.

At Paris considerable excitement prevailed in regard to the high price of bread.
