

REPUBLICAN COMPILER GETTYSBURG, PA.

MONDAY MORNING, JAN. 14, 1856.

TTHON. JOHN CADWALADER has placed us under renewed obligations for Congressional favors. Dr. MELLINGER, of the Senate, and Messrs. Robinson and Inwin, of the House, at Harrisburg, also deserve and have our thanks for their attentions.

ington on Tuesday last-Hon. Robert M. Mc-Lane in the chair-and adopted a resolution fixing the first Monday in June for the meeting of the National Convention at Cincinnati, President of the United States.

joint resolution has passed both branches of the Legislature, and been approved by-the Governor, fixing this day, at 12 o'clock M., as the time for electing a Senator to represent Pennsylvania in the Senate of the United States. A good Democrat will undoubtedly be elected, and Pennsylvania will have reason to be proud of her representative.

The Democratic Senatorial coucus met on Friday evening, and, on the first ballot, Ex-Gov. Bigler had 18 votes, Robbins 15, Foster 13, Buckalew 6, Porter 7, Jones 8, Mc-Candless 6, scattering 9. Necessary to nominate 42. The 16th ballot resulted in the choice of Gov. Bigler, he having 43, Foster 18, Buck- the "Jug Law." alew 11, Jones 7, Robbins 3. Pennsylvania will never have cause to regret this choice.

The election of State Treasurer by the Legislature takes place on Monday next.

The Old Soldiers' Convention, in Washington City, on Tuesday last, was well attended. They waited upon President Pierce in a body, and were very handsomely received. At a subsequent meeting, resolutions were passed asking from Congress the enactment of more liberal pension laws.

NEW YEAR'S AT THE PRESIDENT'S MANSION. -The diplomatic corps paid their respects in power of the Senate to originate those bills .-season were exchanged, and the interview, although of brief duration, was characterized by great cordiality of feeling. After the deparpublic reception was held, and rarely, if ever, has the presidential mansion been visited on the first day of the year by a larger number of solution he would not commit himself to the citizens and strangers, anxious to pay their personal respects to the Chief Magistrate of the Republic.

It may be conceded as a general rule, that a bank should only be instituted 'when indispensably necessary and clearly demanded by the actual business wants of the community in which it may

The Whig party would not need any re-organising if Mr. Fillmore and thousands of other former Whigs like him had not described it, and become members of another and distinct organization.

We have the highest authority for the doctrine that a man cannot serve two masters : and the idea that an man can honestly be a member of two parties, having separate organizations, governed by different principles, and seeking different objects, is novel, and all attempts to put it in practice have failed.
