Another New Novel! TORKS of fiction are now considered as part and parcel of all intelligent households; and scarcely a family will be without our new novel entitled "The Fireman!"-the most interesting work of fiction from the press of 1856. The reader's attention is caught with and-offers them to a free and enlightened peo- [the first chapter, and "finis" stares him in the face before the interest lessens. The book is like a moving panorama of ever varying, always admired succession of new and pleasing scenes and exciting incidents, each chapter being more interesting than its predecessor .-A feature that adds to its lasting merits, is the fact of its high moral tone-not a single sentiment being inculcated that the most fastidious moralist could object to.

"The Fireman" will be a large 12mo. volume of over 400 pages; beautifully illustrated-price $1-mailed post free on receipt of price. Sold by all booksellers, and agents in
