A thorough and triumphant exposure of the old "ten cent" calumny will appear in the next Compiler. We shall also, from time to time, as inclination may prompt, dissect and lay hare the various other fulsehoods which an unscrupulous and heartless press have invented against Mr. Buchanan. This we may do, not that the high and unsullied character and eminent statesmanship of cur candidate need such vindication, but "just for ton, of New Jersey, for President, and Kenthe fun of the thing,"-to show how "easy it noth Rayner, of North Carolina, for Vice is to put the liar to the blush." Mr. Buchanan received the news of his nomination for the Presidency with perfect calmness. When it reached the operator at Lancaster he could scarcely wait to pick up and Mr. Dayton, of New Jersey, for the Vice his hat ere he rushed to Mr. Buchanan's residence, spreading the intelligence, by the way side as he ran. All Lancaster turned out, cannons were fired, bells rung, and bands of music struck up, while a vast concourse formed and marched to pay their respects to the candidate. The excitement at Lexington, Kentucky, the home of Mr. BRYCKINRIDGE, American Convention to confer with the Rewas also intense. The people of all parties were almost mad with joy.

Mr. Buchanan has replied, in clear and able letter, to the Committee who informed him of his nomination for the Presidency. He cordially accepts the platform adopted by the Convention, and boldly espouses the doctrine of civil and religious liberty, declaring that "we are all equal before God and the Constitution; and the dark spirit of despotism and bigotry which would create edious distinctions among our fellow-citizens will be al Convention meet with a unanimous and enspeedily rebuked by a free and culightened | thusiastic reception from all parts of the Union, public opinion." Our paper being already in by the friends of the Constitution and the type, we are reluctantly compelled to defer Union, and we can truly, say, in the language the publication of Mr. B's. letter until next of the "Virginia Sentinel," that "the response

"New York, June 16 .- Hon. Lot Morril. chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee of Maine, repudiates the nomination of Mr. Buchanan.

The Lot Morril referred to, has been for several years, we believe, the leader of the Anti-Slavery, and Know Nothing factions, in league against the Democracy, who, like some nearer home, are fond of purloining that time-honored name to conceal their own bad principles and worse designs. He has not been recognised or claimed to be a member of the National Democratic Party for a long time. So much for that telegraph false-

At no period in our political history has the Democratic party of the State of New York shown a bolder, more confident, or more have had an immediate and magical effect. From one extremity of the empire State to the other all is union, harmony, and enthusiasm in the Democratic ranks.

High Authority.—The venerable Cass said week, that he "need not tell a Pennsylvania audience-an American audience-that James Buchanan is among the ablest and purest and most experienced of the Statesmen of our country, fitted by his qualifications to fill and adorn its highest station. The executive government will be safe in his hands."

midst of wheat harvest.

The Democratic Nominees.

A most cheering spectacle is presented by the tone breathing through our numerous exchange papers from every section of the councities and towns of the Union, too, ratification enthusiastic audiences have been held, and a deep feeling of joy and intense gratification seems to animate the masses of the American people at the prospect of securing to the country the services of our able and patriotic nominces in the posts for which they have been designated.

If anything were wanting to ensure their worn-out slanders which are being re-hashed the more unscrupulous journals. The charges are all either so utterly destitute of truth, or so despicable in character, that they but serve to disgust the public mind with the weakness of the cause which prompts a resort to such miserable expedients, and if the opposition papers will only steadily persist in inflicting pandering for foreign votes in our elections." such insults upon the intelligence of their readers, we shall not be surprised if they drive them almost en masse into the support of our they not, in essentials, at least, travelling glorious ticket.

The Presidential Race.

It seems that there are to be four or five nage on the Presidential course, contending with Hon. James Buchanan. The Anti-Fillmore Know Nothing seceders from the Philadelphia Know Nothing Convention, met in New York, and on the 16th instant nominated the notorious N. P. Banks, (the present Speaker at Washington,) for President, and the equally notorious Ex-Gov. Johnston, of Pennsylvania, for Vice President. A resolution was adopted to confer with the Black Republican Convention, at Philadelphia. A portion of the Convention, who declared they would not be sold to the Black Republicans, seceded, and nominated Commodore Robert F. Stockand-out Black Republicans met at Philadelphia, on Tuesday, and after a sharp opposition made by the friends of Judge McLean, John C. Fremont was nominated for the Presidency,

Well, trot out your nags, gentlemen! Buchanan and Breckipridge are bound to "distance" the whole of them.

ANOTHER FUSION!

New York, June 20.—The Committee of Conference appointed by the Anti-Fillmore publicans reported this morning that they had been discourteously treated by the Philadelphia Convention. Several excited speeches were made, and several bolts took place in favor of Fillmore.-Suggestions were made of making another nomination should Mr. Banks decline. On meeting this morning the Convention nominated J. C. Fremont for President and Wm. F. Johnston for Vice President.

Who Can Hesitate?

The nominations of the Democratic Nationto the nomination of Messrs. Buchanan and Breckinridge, comes up from all quarters of the country, like-the answer to the shout of the Highland chieftain to his faithful clana "fire-eater" paper in South Carolina; and From mountain and from sea shore, from North and from South, the rising echoes swell the vocal thunder, proclaiming that the Demorracy are united, unterrified, and destined to be triumphant. Tens of thousands of patriots of other creeds, seeing that the safety of the country lies in the triumph of the only natical lovers of internal strife should be party that proclaims the same national principlo everywhere, are also gathering under our always have been, and always will be, against | flag, to fight the great battle of Conservatism, the Democratic party. It has no plank for the Constitution, and the Union. We bid them welcome!-Shoulder to shoulder let us stand, with the stars and stripes floating above_us, while we put under our feet the madness that would destroy us all. The man who hesitates in such an issue as is now presented, who can talk about potty measures of ideal policy while the very ark of our safety is threatened with destruction, is like one who cries "fire!" in us in laying deep and broad the foundations of our liberties and national tranquility. There is no other rallying ground that offers any hope of success. Mr. Fillmore's nomination has been repudiated by State after State at the North, and his party has but little strength at the South. It is transparent madness to hope for his election. The issue is then between that sound, able, and incorruptible Statesman, James Buchanan, and the narunited front, than at the present time. The row sectionalist, on an abolition platform, nominations of Buchanan and Breckinridge | that the Black Republicans will soon put out to rule this glorious Union."

"Look Before You Lenp.!"

We understand that there are throughout the county a few persons who were proscribed by Know Nothingism, that have altry. The Know Nothings and Black Republicans appear to have not the least difficulty in uniting upon the State ticket composed of Thos. E. Cochran, for Canal Commissioner, Darwin Phelps, for Auditor General, and Bart. Laporte, for Surveyor General. The Know Nothing State Council and the Black Republican State Convention have both passed resolutions recognizing it as their ticket, and in that issue at least they will travel hand in hand against the Democracy. Let all who do not wish to be drawn into the support of proscriptive dark lanternism, hold themselves clear of the so-called "union" ticket.

Keystone Club.

The friends of BUCHANAN and BRECKIN-RIDGE, in this Borough, assembled, upon a few hours' notice, at Wattles's hotel, on Monday evening last, for the purpose of taking steps preliminary to the organization of a "Keystone Club." George Gever, Jr., was called to the Chair; Wm. J. Martin and Alexander Frazer were chosen Vice Presidents, and H. Buchanan Danner and Charles White Secretaries. The meeting was then addressed by II. J. Stahle and S. J. Vandersloot; after which, on motion, the chairman was authorized to appoint a committee of seven, to prepare Rules for the government of the Club, and to call a meeting when ready to report.

The utmost enthusiasm prevailed throughout, and three rousing cheers were given at the adjournment for the distinguished nominees of the Domocracy, James Buchanan and John C. Breckingidge.

They Don't Want Peace.

Nothing (says the Ohio Statesman) will suit the fusionists which can be done in relation to Kansas affairs. Lane, Robinson & not produce his testimony? We are aware Co. wrote the President, asking him to issue his proclamation, and command the peace of the Territory. The President did so, and straightway he was denounced for the act. Shannon has now issued his proclamation for no other purpose than to disperse and drive out of the Territory armed bands of men from Missouri and other States, who volunteer their services to conquer a peace, and who act without law or license, and Mr. Shannon is reprobated by these fusion fire-eaters. The law-abiding senators at Washington propose to send General Scott to Kansas as a general pence-maker, and the proposition is resisted by Hale, Sumner & Co. They don't want peace. It would take from them all their political stock in trade just now, and leave them without even a "coon song" or a "shrick for liberty" to carry on the presidential camp sign. There is to be no peace on any terms in Kansas until after the election. Mark that!

The Know Nothings take credit to themselves (says the North Carolina Standard) for-having, as they say, abolished their secrecy, oaths, &c. Twelve months ago they declared that these oaths and this secrecy, and especially their third degree, were the very things to save the country; now they say they are an open, mid-day, unsworn party, on patriots of any and every name, to join with | they must be wrong now. Who knows how long they will maintain their present opinions as to the oaths and secrecy? They admit they have changed their line of conduct once; they may do it again and again; but every time they depart from usages which have become unpopular they will, of course, declare that they are right, and that they are better propared than ever to save the country. But such a party can never obtain the confidence of the people.

"Look out for the Locomotive."-Along our principal railways, at the crossings of turnpikes and common roads, huge signboards are erected, bearing in large letters the caution "Look out for the Locomotive." Taking a hint from the railway signboards, and having a care for the safety of our political opponents, out for the Locomotive." The BUCHANAN train is in motion, and our Know Nothing friends had better keep off of the track if they don't want to be crushed. They need not try to get on board. It's a "through train," and won't stop to take up passengers

A ship to be named James Buchanan

Mr. Buchanan and Henry Clay. .

The Cincinnati Gazette expresses astonishment that old Clay Whigs should be found willing to support Mr. Buchanan, and, amongst Cincinnati Enquirer makes the following triumphant reply:

"Now, it is well known that, although Mr. Buchanan was an ardent and devoted friend of General Jackson, and one of his most able and eloquent supporters, before and after his election to the presidency, the above accusation of complicity in any plot, or in any dishonoring imputations against Mr. Clay's integrity, are entirely unfounded. They are lisproved by the letters of that distinguished statesman himself, by the correspondence of his friends, and by the direct statement of his own chosen biographer.

"In Mallory's Life of Henry Clay, vol. 1 page 138, reference is made to the charge against Mr. Clay and his friends having proposed, through Mr. Buchanan, to give General Jackson their support on certain conditions Mr. Clay indignantly repelled the charge, and his biographer adds: 'Mr. Buchanan flatly and promptly denied that such a proposition had been made through him, as had been alleged, and entirely exhonorated Mr. Clay and his adherents from all connexion with it."

"Mr. Clay himself, in a letter to Judge Broode, of Virginia, dated Washington, Ausion of Native born Americans, and to the gust 14, 1827, (see his private correspondence, published by Colton,) states emphatically in regard to the same matter: 'I could not desire stronger statement from Mr. Buchanan. The tables are completely turned.'

"Again: the Hon. R. P. Letcher, of Kentucky, a devoted personal and political friend of Mr. Clay's, writes to the latter, under date of August 27, 1827, in relation to the same point in Mr. Buchanan's response: 'This answer is well put together. As they say in genteel, yet strong and conclusive. I am truly delighted with the manner in which Mr. B. has acquitted himself.'

"These few quotations are sufficient to show how unfortunate our not altogether unintelligent cotemporary is in its reference to 'by-gones.' But if the Clay Whigs may not be permitted by the Gazette to vote for James Buchanan on account of their ancient contests with him, will it be pretended that they can consistently support the Gazette's party, or any candidate who is likely to be set up by the Philadelphia Convention? Shall they assist in elevating the self-seeking leaders of the faction that in New York and Ohio betrayed Henry Clay in 1844?

"When the Gazette is next disposed to refresh the memories of its readers with 'bygones,' let it recall the names of those factions and sectional demagogues of abolitionism who now rule in the councils of the pseudo republicans, and who in 1844 played the parts of double traitors, and won the meed of scorn and contempt from all honest, Union-loving, and patriotic men among Whigs and Democrats."

Brom the Lancaster Intelligencer.

A Stale Falschood Revived. The Independent Whig of this city (a Know Nothing, Black Republican, Nigger Worshipging journal,) has already commenced the work of defamation and falsehood for which its unprincipled editor and owners have such H. J. Stahle, J. B. Panner, Moses McClean, a wonderful proclivity. This does not sur-Jacob Troxel, Wm. J. Martin, Charles White prise us in the least—indeed, we should have been disappointed had that paper pursued any other course. The editor is only laboring in his true vocation-doing the dirty work of his unscrupulous masters.

Amongst other falsehoods against Mr. Bu-CHANAN retailed in its columns, is the oft refuted one about the "drop of blood." The writer knows this to be false-for it was pronounced such by a number of our most respectable civizons, of all parties, at the time the charge was first started. And this fact the writer for the Independent Whig was cognizant of. But he says he has living testimony to prove the charge. Well, then, why does he that there is an old man in this city, whose character for veracity is so bad, and whose conduct is so despicable that no one acquainted with him would believe him on oath, much less his mere naked asseveration. This man, we presume, is the authority upon whom the Independent Whig relies to prove the villainous falsehood. But let that paper produce its man, and we pledge ourselves to produce at least twenty of our most respectable citizens who will prove the story a downright lie-a base unmitigated falsehood from heginning to

Mr. BUCHANAN has resided in this city and its vicinity for forty-five years. His upright and consistent character, both in public and private life, is well known to almost every man, woman and child in this community .-The people of this county have time and again honored him with their suffrages, and it is a remarkable fact that he has never yet been beaten at a popular election before the people of Lancaster county. It is, therefore, all futile for a strolling Yankee nutmeg adventurer, like the editor of the Independent Whig, to attempt to injure Mr. Buchanan at his own home. The lie in question has been repeated so often by a reckless and unprincipled opposition, as to have lost all novelty and interest. Nobody believes a word of it. Mr. B's. enemies will have to get up some other story-concoct some new falsehood-if they hope to deceive any portion of the people.

Mr. Buchanan's Nomination among the Business Men .- The money article in Greeley's N. Y. Tribune, says :- "The announcement of the nomination of Mr. Buchanan over and ask the people on this account to trust Pierce and Douglas, was well received in the the midst of a universal deluge. We call up- them. If they were right twelve months ago, streets, as Lkely to inspire confidence in the financial community. It was considered a conservative nomination, and if elected he would be less likely to embroil the country with foreign nations than either of the other prominent candidates.'

> Col. Benton has accepted the nomination for Governor of Missouri. In his letter of acceptance he says:

> The nomination of Mr. Buchanan for the Presidency determines my course in relation to the Governorship, I consider him the safest chance for preserving the peace of the country, now greatly endangered both at home and abroad, and believing him to be the best chance for peace, I hold it to be the duty of those who are in favor of that object to assist in his election; and for one, I shall do-so -in a public capacity, if you invest me with one, and as a private citizen of Missouri, if not.

Hon. James Buchanah.

Those of our readers who have paid any attention to politics for the last ten or twelve years, know that the New York Tribune, other reasons, alludes to the charge that, in edited by Honace Greek, never spares an 1824, "Mr. Buchanan was mixed up with a opponent. Semetimes, however, he manages plot to break down Henry Clay." To this the to permit his impulsiveness to control his prejudices, and then truth does manifest itself. In the progress of a long leader, on the "nomination of Buchanan," he says concerning our candidate:

"It is the vulgar presumption that journalists of one party habitually disparage the candidates of another, and seek to cover them with personal opprobrium. We believe the truth is just the reverse of this, and that the better class of journals reluctantly suggest personal objections to the candidates they oppose, and greatly prefer that they should be men of unsullied reputation and competent ability. It gives us pleasure to recognize in the Cincinnati nomince for President a man respectable in every personal relation-a good citizen and neighbor-a man of fair talents and unsullied private character. He is the embodiment of worldly prudence and unfaltering discretion."

The last sentence is exactly what we believe, and the fact that it is so, and that he has a name, aye, an historic name to sustain, the people can rest assured that he will not violate the Constitution, or do that which is calculated to injure his own fair reputation and his confiding countrymen. -

Mr. Greely says in another part of the same article concerning Mr. Buchanan that "there is not a man living more unlikely to make rash or silly speeches than he is."-That quality in a man constitutes true greatness, and from such a man we need fear no rashness or silliness as a President. We re-Connecticut, 'there is a great deal of good joice that he is such an one, and while we reading in Buck's reply.' It is modest and thank Mr. Greely for so much truth, we hope he will continue to permit a ray of truth occasionally to light up his long leaders. So says the York Gazette.

Multum in Parvo.

The New York Express says of the Demo

ratic nomination: "The nomination is personally respectable, politically consistent, and probably the strongest that could be made."

The New York Mirror says: "Mr. Buchanan is a man of eminently repectable character and talent, and the very | youd recall by the angry look and menace. est and strongest man the Democrats could have named. He will be a hard man to beat.'

The Journal of Commerce says: "The selection of Mr. Buchanan will tend to strengthen the public faith in the fitness of the people for self-government."

-----From the Eric Observer. It Don't Set Well.

A good deal of Buchanan powder was burnt on Tuesday evening last in this city; and what is not very wonderful, the fact does not set well on the political stomach of the Gazette, because, it avers, "several professed Whigs actively and prominently participated in the affair-defraying a liberal portion of the expenses and testifying a lively interest in the objects of the occasion." We can testify to the truth here made manifest by the Gazetle, and at the same time inform it that the end is not yet.— There are "several" more "professed whigs" in Erie county that cannot be drove nor coax-They say, and say truly, that sectionalism was never an article of Whig creed-that "fusion" was never a plank in the Whig platform—that proscription of men on account of birth or religion, was never taught by the fathers of the Whig party—and hence they must be excused from being traded off by even and they lean their backs against their marthe "old Gazette," to gratify the ambition of riage certificate and defy you." Greely, Seward, Wilmot & Co. These men see in the nominees of the Democratic party, and in the platform laid down by the Democratic Convention, a nearer appoximation to what the deem right, than is exhibited by the fanatical band the Gazette wishes them to join, and hence they have made up their minds to give that nominee their support. And to this state of affairs the Gazette may as well make up its mind. It is inevitable; with that gallant Kentuckian, Col. PRESTON, whose eloquent remarks will be found elsewhere, they choose to join "that band who have chosen. to stand outside of all the parties rather than encourage the proscriptive spirit of a secretly organized bigotry, or the false philanthropy of that other faction that would oppose itself | templated the people of other countries-but to the Union of these States." And they are there is no country under God's heavens welcome. We extend to them the hand of where a man feels for his fellow-man as fraternal and political fellowship most cordial- in the United States. And if you could see ly, certain that like true soldiers, they will be how despotism looks on, how jealous the desfirst in the fight, and last in the retreat.

Republicanism in Pennsylvania.

In the Black Republican Convention, at Philadelphia, on Wednesday, Thaddeus Stevens made the following remarks:

"Mr. Stevens saw what the current of the Convention was-he did not resist it-but he admonished delegates to take care it does not sweep away friends as well as foes. |Applause. Pennsylvania is embarrassed by the withdrawal of the only name he thought could | are evidently disappointed that some one else save the State. He would like to have time to than Mr. Buchanan was not placed at the head consult his colleagues. He would be sorry to of the Democratic party in the campaign, and see Judge McLean's name introduced now, but he was assured that, without that name, Pennsylvania would be lost by 50,000 majority in the Fall. In conclusion, he moved to adjourn until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning." We have not the slightest doubt that Mr. Stevens's prediction will be verified!

"Every Man has His Price."

Although we do not subscribe to the correctness of this proverb in its unlimited sense, yet, it is true, that some men have their price, and it is far more than they are worth. The opposition papers representing Black Republicanism. Know-Nothingism, &c., have become violently excited at the nominations made by the Cincinnati Convention. They though affecting to be indifferent as to who the Democratic candidate for the Presidency is. they cannot conceal their chagrin and mortification that a man has been selected as the standard bearer of Democracy who will be likely to carry every State in the Union in the coming contest. Of all others, Buchanan is the last man that the opposition would choose to encounter. To defeat him is impossible, and the opposition know it.
