TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 26.

The Uses of Copperheads.

It is an established article in the general creed of many sensible people, that nothing is created in vain—that the vilest and most noxious animals, and even vermin, have their uses; and although it is lawful and right to rid ourselves of them, yet the very abhorrence which prompts to the effort to do so is wholesome, and calls forth energies and strengthens habits of thought and practice which would never otherwise have been developed.

Who can doubt that the existence of a set of politicians, generally known as copperheads, throughout the loyal states, has developed a far higher and more active spirit of patriotism than could have existed without them? Antagonism is essential to development in every department of both the natural and moral activities of the universe; and we needed these copperheads, these sympathisers with rebellion, these friends of traitors, to raise the pulse of the nation to that healthy tone essential to the support of the government in this trying crisis, and to a vigorous prosecution of the war. A dead level of unanimity would have resulted in a sluggish and drowsy apathy, fatal to a successful prosecution of such a work, such a revolution, such a reformation, as the American people have now on hand. But in saying this we are offering no apology for that detested thing which seeks to lay the country dishonored at the feet of traitors, and sacrifice Liberty upon the obscene altar of Slavery.

A friend in a neighboring county, in a note, inquired what the loyal men there, ought to do with a vile copperhead publication that they have among them. We say to him, do nothing unlawful at all events. If the editor lays himself clearly and unmistakably amenable to the charge of treason, let the law be brought to bear upon upon him; but, if not, let him have free scope. His antagonism to all that is right and true and patriotic will only develope a more lofty and determined patriotism in the hearts of the loyal people of that county.

The time is coming when many who are now copperheads will affect the most ultra loyalty. GRANT's victory at Vicksburg will bring about marvelous conversions; so now is the time to make a record of the position of men in the dark and trying period through which we have just passed. It is due to both true and false men to keep a memorial of their whereabouts between the months of November, 1862, and May, 1863. When victory perches upon the national banner, and the rebellion goes down to that deep and infamous perdition that awaits it, thousands who have been plotting in K. G. C. lodges, and other traitorous conclaves, will fling up their caps in simulated exultation at the triumph of the Government over its enemies. When the Revolutionary war was over there were no professed tories; yet they were not forgotten; nor will the copperheads of this greater and more terrible struggle be suffered to cover their slimy trails.

The Gubernatorial Question.

The Village Record, (West Chester,) after stating the fact that the delegates from Philadelphia to the Union State Convention, twenty-one in number, will go in a body for the Hon. JOHN COVODE for Governor, expresses the opinion that he will be chosen without the formality of a ballot. We are unable to judge as to the probability of such a result.

From the fact that the delegates from Montgomery county were instructed to support Governor CURTIN, some people think that he is yet in the field. It used to be jocularly said of the democracy of Berks, that they kept on voting for Gen. JACKSON a score of years after his death. Perhaps our Montgomery county friends adhere to their old favorites after the same fashion. We do not wish to be understood, however, as saying that Governor CURTIN is dead either literally or figuratively; but his declination to be a candidate was too positive to be retracted.

A Good Man Departed

In the death of L. D. LIVINGSTON, Esq., of Oakland, this community has lost one of its most honored, esteemed and useful members. In every walk of life, as a business man, a large hearted benefactor, a zealous promoter of everthing calculated to raise the fallen or reform the depraved, and as an earnest, active, yet meek and lowly Christian, Mr. LIVINGSTON had few equals. For many years he filled with great faithfulness the office of ruling elder in the Third Presbyterian Church of this city; and knowing him long and intimately as we did, we assented heartily to a remark made yesterday by a friend, that "Mr. LIVINGSTON had much treasure laid up in Heaven."

Gen. James Watson Webb at Whist.

The official documents relating to the difficulty in Brazil between the American and British Ministers are just published in England. Mr. Christie explains the cause of his squabble with Gen. Webb. It appears that one evening in October last the two Ministers were engaged in a game of whist at the house of the Russian Ambassador at Rio Janeiro; that Gen. Webb was uncommonly talkative; that his uninterrupted conversation interfered with the progress of the game, and that Mr. Christie finally said to him: "You talk so much, General, as to put me out."

This, according to Mr. Christie's statement, is all that was said, but Webb responded in the famous note which declared that "it was language far more fitting an English groom than an English Minister," adding, with a written oath: "If you ever again are impertinent to me, I shall punish you!" Mr. Christie's account of the affair is corroborated by notes from the Russian and Prussian Ministers, appended to his statement. So Gen. Webb's latest escapade grew out of a quiet whist party, and from that the affair finally got into Parliament, where Lord Palmerston said he had not the pleasure of Webb's acquaintance.

A NATIONAL BANK IN CHICAGO.—Preliminary steps have been taken for establishing an institution entitled the United States Savings Bank of Chicago, with a capital of $500 000, and the necessary certificate and application in conformity with the provisions of the National Banking Law, have been complied with, and the same forwarded to the Comptroller of Currency at Washington.—Chicago Tribune.

SHORT SUBSCRIPTIONS TO A REBEL NEWSPAPER.—The Jackson (Miss.) Appeal, for some time past, carried at the head of its editorial columns a notice that "no subscription will be taken for a longer term than three months." Clearly, the editor must have seen visions and dreamed dreams of coming Yankee visitations, prejudicial to the maintenance of rebel newspaper continuity.

North Carolina Rebels Threatening to Withdraw from the Confederacy.

The Raleigh (N. C.) Standard, the special organ of Governor Vance, and the great leader of the opposition party in this State, which is now in the ascendency, by a two third vote, in commenting upon an article from the Richmond Enquirer favoring an "imperial despotism" like that of France, says:

"We know that military despotism is making rapid strides in these States. We know that no people ever lost their liberties at once, but step by step, as some deadly disease steals upon the system and gradually but surely saps the fountains of life. We know that tyrants and their minions always prepare the popular mind in advance for their usurpations, and that these usurpations are always based upon the plea of the 'general good' or 'military necessity.' The argument now is, we hate Lincoln as bitterly, that in order to resist him successfully we must make slaves of ourselves.

"The answer of our people is, 'we will be slaves neither to Lincoln, nor Davis, nor France, nor England.' North Carolina is a State, not a province. She has eighty thousand as brave troops as ever trod the earth. When she calls them they will come. If the worst should happen, she will be able to take care of herself as an independent power. She will not submit, in any event, to a law of Congress passed in deliberate violation of the Constitution. She will not submit to Mr. Davis being invested with dictatorial powers; but she will resist such a law by withdrawing from the Confederation, and she will fight her way out against all comers with a courage and an ardor which will eclipse even any former achievements of her sons during the existing war. For one we are determined not to exchange one despotism for another."

Other opposition papers are also denouncing the "destructives." The Henderson (North Carolina) Times, in speaking of the approaching Congressional election, says:

"Beware of the Fire Eaters! They are the fag-end of the old defunct democratic party, who fight their battles in bar rooms or in the shade. They aided to precipitate the cotton States into a revolution which has made a breastwork of Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee and Missouri. Let them be anathema maranatha! Give them the reins of Government, and after peace they will quickly carry us to perdition. Let them be marked as deeply as Cain was, for they cannot be trusted in politics as far as an ox could be thrown by the tail."

From the Rappahannock.

The Washington Republican, of Friday, has the following interesting news from Lee's army:

We have information from a highly intelligent gentleman who was captured at Chancellorville, and who is directly from the south side of the Rappahannock, in reboldem, to the following effect:

"The enemy claims that he has, altogether, eight thousand three hundred of our men captured, which includes the wounded left upon the field. This number embraces one thousand and six wounded men belonging to the Stonewall Jackson corps, all of whom were doing well day before yesterday. At least one hundred and fifty men of that corps were killed on the field, or have since died of their wounds.

"According to the rolls two thousand and six hundred men are missing from the Eleventh Army corps since the battle. After deducting the number named above, killed and wounded, from the total missing, it will appear that one thousand four hundred and forty-four were captured by the surprise resulting from the rear movement of Jackson.

"The rebel officials acknowledge that they lost altogether in killed, wounded and missing about ten thousand men. They do not hesitate to say that the battles at Chancellorville and in Fredericksburg, under Hooker and Sedgwick, were the severest and most expensive that the Confederacy has yet experienced in the war.

"General Lee expressed himself to his officers very freely that Hooker was a much abler man than he (Lee) supposed. He said he did not think that Hooker could handle so many men so well as he did. Lee don't hesitate to tell his officers that Hooker is a man to be feared and watched closely.

"Gen. Lee also expressed his wonder that Hooker was shrewd enough to return with his army to the north side of the Rappahannock.

"Our informant says that the leading rebels acknowledged to him that Lee was expecting reinforcements to enable him to get between Hooker and the river, with the intention of cutting off his supp ies by destroying all the ferries and pontoon bridges, with the hope of starving him out.

"Jackson's death was a most terrible blow to the rebels.

"Our soldiers, who are prisoners of the enemy, are suffering greatly for the want of food, although they do not hesitate to say that they shared equally with the rebel soldiers, so far as they could judge.

"Our informant says he was frequently asked when he thought the war would end. He replied that some of our people thought it might end in twenty years, some thought less, but for himself, he was of opinion that five years might see its termination. This kind of logic was anything but pleasant."

Washington Items.

WASHINGTON, May 23, 1863.

REAR ADMIRAL A. H. FOOTE.

I am assured of the entire recovery of this gallant commander from the wounds received at Fort Donelson. He laid aside his crutches about three weeks since, and has offered his services to the Secretary of the Navy, ready for a command afloat, and anxious to again take an active part in subduing the rebellion. He is now, as he has been since his partial recovery, at the head of the important Bureau of Equipment and Recruiting for the Navy, in this city.

NEGRO SOLDIERS ATTACKED.

Two mustered, but unarmed companies of the negro regiments raised here were attacked while passing through Georgetown, this evening, by a band of Pro-Slavery ruffians. They turned upon their assailants, routed them, and beat some of them in a most wholesome manner. One of the rowdies was hurt very badly.

PAY OF THE SOLDIERS.

The payments made to the army within the last fortnight have amounted to $21,000,000. There are still unpaid $16,000,000. The troops yet unpaid are General Grant's, Gen. Rosecrans' Gen. Schenck's, Gen. Heintzelman's, and Gen. Peck's. The money is all ready for the Potomac army whenever the pay rolls are ready. Paymasters are now in New York with the funds, en route to all the coast expeditions.

A PREMATURE FAST.—By a telegraphic blunder, the President's Proclamation for a National fast day was set in California for April 16th, instead of the 30th, and that day (the 16th) was observed in California as fast day—banks and stores were closed, and the Legislature adjourned over.

A LARGE NUMBER of pontoons have been shipped by railway to Lexington, Ky., we learn from the Cincinnati papers. This seems to point to a movement in the right direction —towards East Tennessee.

THE birth-place of Daniel Webster in Franklin, N. H., has passed out of the Webster name, having been sold by the widow of Fletcher Webster to S. D. Colby.

SOME of the rebel newspapers found in Alexandria, La., are curiosities in their way, being printed on paper of all ages and colors—wall paper included.
