THE subject of forming an efficient military organization, on which we can rely in future as a preservative against that most humiliating description of moral or physical disease which we usually call a panic—and which always sweeps down with the sudden and destructive force of an epidemic—is just the one subject now claiming precedence of all others, and the one which ought to be considered, decided, and acted upon immediately,—with, of course, as much practical wisdom and careful foresight as possible. Now, in order to set abroach, so to speak, the thoughts of our most experienced men on this subject, we take pleasure in laying before our readers to-day, in another column, a communication from an officer of the United States army, in which a very thorough system of organizing for military service all citizens capable of bearing arms, is set forth with such clearness of detail, that nothing but a careful reading is needed to put even a person hitherto unacquainted with the subject, in possession of the writer's views.

We require the organization of such a militia system as would promise us exemption from panics in the future, and such a sense of security in our homes and business as would arise from the consciousness that both were protected by strong arms and brave hearts, ready, at the first signal of an approaching foe, to go forth and make an impregnable living rampart rise in every defile to bar his way.

SO FAR as the Cumberland Valley raid is regarded, its proportions have waned rapidly as more accurate advices have come in. It appears to have amounted to just this—that a small force of rebels, not over 2,500, crossed the Potomac at Williamsport, in pursuit of Kelley's baggage train, which they did not succeed in catching. This force went through Hagerstown and entered the Cumberland valley, but did not go more than five miles beyond Chambersburg.

We trust that the raid said to be destined to sweep down the western valley of Pennsylvania from Cumberland to Pittsburgh, may prove as small a matter. But why should we expose ourselves to such raids, by our defencelessness? Let us improve the occasion of this excitement to put ourselves in a thorough state of defence by continuing the construction of works, guarding the approaches to our city, but more especially by organizing such a force as will carry a living wall of defence to any point first threatened by an invading foe—which will long keep the peaceful circuit of our high-crested hills sacred from the desecrating tread of rebel marauders.

The Fortifications.

Pittsburgh will soon be a fortified city. The energy and patriotic spirit of our manufacturers, in putting their entire large forces of stalwart men at the work, paying them liberal wages while so engaged, and in many cases lending them personally, is beyond all praise. We have, however, heard of exceptions—of employers who stopped operations, but declined to make themselves responsible to their hands for their labor on the works of defense. The consequence has been that many strong and willing men have been idle for several days, having no one to direct their operations and secure their compensation. This is all wrong. It is alike unfair to their fellow-citizens who acted more liberally; it is unfair to their employees; and it is a wrong to the public at large.

UNION NOMINATIONS IN IOWA.—The Union State Convention of Iowa, on Wednesday, nominated Col. WILLIAM M. STONE for Governor. Col. STONE is a lawyer by profession, and was Judge of the Fourth District Court when the war began. He enlisted as a private, was elected Major, captured at Shiloh, held a year in rebel prisons, finally exchanged, appointed Colonel of the Twenty-Second Iowa, and has since been twice wounded, the last time before Vicksburg.

RHODE ISLAND TO THE RESCUE.—As soon as the news of the rebel invasion reached Providence, the Governor of Rhode Island issued a call for the Legislature of the State to meet on Thursday, the 18th inst., to consider such measures as the situation may suggest. The Adjutant General of the State also issued an order for "three regiments of infantry and one of cavalry, to be organized without delay, to respond to the call which has been made." Well and promptly done, little Rhody!

BLACK SOLDIERS IN PARIS.—The French have none of the "prejudices of color," which have long made such mischief on this side of the Atlantic. In a letter received from Paris by the last steamer, we find the following:

Paris is now in part garrisoned by negroes, and the proud court of Napoleon III. does not appear to observe that there is anything abnormal in having the guard of the palace mounted by black men. The greater part of the Spahis and the Turcos are Bedouins, it is true, but there are also Ethiopians among them, and all are black alike. They are also employed as an escort for the Imperial carriages on the promenade.

MILROY'S WAGON TRAIN, five hundred in number, arrived safely at Harrisburg on Tuesday, making the extraordinary march of one hundred and twenty miles in forty-eight hours, making no stoppages only to feed the horses. Part of the train was lost in cutting through the enemy's line at Martinsburg, but the train which got in was over three miles in length. Considering what Milroy had to encounter, he has done excellently in saving so large a portion of his army train.

MANDARIN WARD, the American filibuster who obtained to so much distinction in China, has received the honor of apotheosis, temples having been erected to his memory at Ningpo and Sunghiang.

CROP PROSPECTS FOR 1863.

ISAAC NEWTON, Esq., Commissioner of Agriculture, has just issued the following important tabular statement, presenting a short abstract of the returns to the Agricultural Department of the amount and condition of the crops in May, 1863.

In explanation of the table, it is only necessary to say, that the number 10 represents an average of the crops, both as to their amount compared with the crops of 1862, and their appearance in May, 1863. A number above or below 10, represents as many tenths as it is above or below it. Thus 8 is two-tenths below an average, and 14 is four-tenths above it.

The table is prepared by first taking an average from the returns of each county, and from these an average of each State, as published in the table.

The Copperheads and the Peace Men.

We know not whether it is proper to make two distinct species, or genera, under these names, out of the whole class of hypocritical platitudinisers about the rights of free speech, about the habeas corpus, and especially about the Con-sti-tu-tion-al rights of treason and rebellion, inasmuch as the mingled hiss and whine by which the creatures are known from all others, is really but one voice, which, in its various gradations, seems to be a constant and unmistakable characteristic of the whole progeny. Speaking of them as Copperheads and Peace men, one of our contemporaries treats them to a cruel piece of banter in the following strain:

The Copperheads and the Peace men are full of indignation at the indecent zeal of their fellow minions of Jeff. Davis. Too many cooks will assuredly spoil the Copperhead broth. Here were the Pennsylvania treason-shriekers about to meet at Harrisburg, when lo! a rush of their impatient Southern allies in that direction overturns the pottage and disperses the sacred cooks. In Ohio the Vallandighamers had just got everything fixed, and were becoming of a most pacific turn, when lo! the intemperate zeal of the rebels mars all the plans of their Northern friends. What chance has Peace to make her nest in the border counties of Ohio and Indiana if these rebel raids are to be the order of the day? Somebody will get mad presently, and then we shall hear no more of peace. The Northern Peace men are at their wits end at the aspect. Where is the Peace Society? Why will not Jeff. Davis serve his cause by calling off his hordes? It is inevitable that there will be an united North, and a rush to arms such as we have not yet seen if this new style of irritation is to be kept up. We sympathise with the Peace men, but see in the enlightenment of loyal men every where, in view of present perils, an earnest that the war will come to be prosecuted with an intensity it has heretofore lacked, an unity and oneness of purpose before which the infamous cause of the Rebellion and Slavery will bleach away. It will only be when the people of the North lay aside all trades but War that Peace will be reached through Victory.

A Curious Set of Patriots.

The Pennsylvania Democratic State Convention, held at Harrisburg on Wednesday, adopted resolutions violently denouncing the war policy of the government, but failed even by so much as an implication to condemn the invasion of Pennsylvania by armed insurgents, leaving the public in doubt whether, after all, the "democracy" did not expect and desire the presence of Jenkins and his rough-riders at the State capital, as preferable to that of Governor Curtin and our loyal soldiery. The Convention also denounced, with especial vehemence, that part of the national policy looking to the employment of negroes in the national defence, and the subjection of slavery, in all its relations, to the risks and penalties of the war it has evoked. Yet at that very hour stout negro arms were building, within sight of the place where this Convention met, fortifications for the defence of the capital, and a company of colored citizens from Philadelphia, embracing men of character and means, were asking at the hands of Gen. Couch permission to fight for the preservation of the lives and property of these very "Democrats."

Lee's Plan of Campaign.

We find the following letter in the New York Herald:

WASHINGTON, June 16.—From rebel sources the following is learned. I do not know what value may be attached to it. It comports, however, with what rebel sympathizers here have mysteriously whispered from time to time for a week past. Lee's army, numbering 96,000 men, has been divided into three parts. No. 1 started six days ago from Gordonsville for Parkersburg, Va. No. 2 left Culpepper Court House to proceed by way of Grafton to Wheeling, and Pittsburgh, with instructions after occupying the latter to unite with No. 1, to proceed through Ohio into Kentucky. No. 3 was to proceed by way of Winchester and Harper's Ferry into Maryland and Pennsylvania, towards Harrisburg or Baltimore, with a view to make a diversion to occupy the attention of the Federal army of the East. This last division of the rebel army is composed very largely of cavalry and mounted artillery.

Richmond is for the present abandoned, with the expectation that conscripts and new levies will be brought there in sufficient numbers to garrison the defenses.

LEE'S ARMY is reported to be 104,000 strong, and that his intention is to cross the Potomac for the invasion of Pennsylvania. Hooker's army is not much less than Lee's, and is not divided. Another force lies back to guard the entrenchments at Washington, and there is a tolerably strong body of men at Harper's Ferry, while a heavy force of militia will be concentrated at Harrisburg in the Cumberland Valley, in less than a week. With all these dispositions of forces, Hooker, if he is equal to the occasion, ought to be able to attack Lee and punish him severely. Hooker has been trying for six months to get the rebel army out of its entrenchments at Fredericksburg, and now that Lee voluntarily comes out of his defences and exposes himself to the strategy of Hooker, the latter has a fine opportunity of proving to the country that he knows how to take advantage of the fact to strike a decisive blow that will send rebellion to its grave.

NEW YORK CONVINCED THE WORK.—From early morn till after midnight, yesterday, the war spirit of our militia was alive. As soon the 7th regiment marched down Broadway on their way to Harrisburg, amid the enthusiastic cheering of well wishing and patriotic multitudes. Towards evening the 8th regiment marched also with full ranks. About midnight the 71st regiment followed in the same direction. On Tuesday a large detachment of the regular United States infantry, 8th regiment, left Governor's Island for Harrisburg. Notwithstanding numerous obstacles which stood in the way of the regiments filling up their ranks, the enthusiasm of all concerned remained thoroughly alive, and in good time, Gov. Seymour and the Secretary of War removed every difficulty, and General Sandford was ordered to distribute uniforms and equipments until every man was supplied. The 5th, 11th, 22d, 13th or 23d, and the 37th regiments are under orders to march to-day (Thursday.) The others will leave on Friday, when it is possible General Sandford will forward them to the field and see that all are properly provided for.—New York Tribune, of Thursday.

Immense Union Meeting at Concord.

An immense Union meeting was held at Concord, N. H., on Wednesday. Not less than twenty thousand persons were present, and the enthusiasm was intense. A series of resolutions was adopted pledging support to the Government in putting down the rebellion. The fourth resolve is as follows: "That the men of the loyal States who, by word or deed, directly or indirectly, under whatever pretence or disguise, discourage the recruiting and maintaining of our army and navy, or in any other way lend their aid to schemes calculated to embarrass the Government in this crisis of the national life, ally themselves with the rebellion, and are traitors at heart." Eloquent addresses were made by Gen. Butler, Montgomery Blair, Gen. Hamilton, Ira Perley and others.

Wreck of the Steamship Norwegian.

A dispatch from Aspy Bay, Cape Breton, dated June 14, via Sackville, June 17, giving an account of the wreck of the abovenamed steamship, was received in New York on Thursday. It reads as follows:

The steamship Norwegian, of the Canadian Steamship Line, which left Liverpool at half-past 12 o'clock noon of the 4th and Londonderry on the 5th inst. for Quebec, was wrecked on St. Paul's Island this (Sunday) morning, 14th inst., during a thick fog.

All her passengers and crew, together with her mails and baggage, were saved.

She had on board fifty-eight cabin and two hundred and seventy-one steerage passengers, all, together with the crew and mails, saved.

CHAS. A. WICKLIFFE will probably be the Democratic candidate for Governor of Kentucky. He is in close fellowship with Richardson, of Illinois, Voorhees, of Indiana, and all that genus.
