Late Southern News.

The Richmond Examiner, of the 6th, says:

TAKEN OF BATTERIES ON THE JAMES RIVER.

From below we learn that on Tuesday two monitors and three gunboats appeared in the James river, and advanced up as far as Sandy Point, where they anchored and threw shells shorewards occasionally, for the purpose of startling any "rebels" that might be in the woods.

Yesterday one monitor and two gunboats moved up, and hailing within sixteen miles of Drewry's Bluff, commenced a vigorous shelling of the woods right and left. The firing was heard on the outskirts of the city. The object of the expedition appeared to be one of observation of the depth of water, and to ascertain the location of torpedoes.

MILITARY ORGANIZATIONS OF YOUTHS BELOW CONSCRIPTION AGE.

Enough of companies composed of youths below the conscript age (fifteen) will speedily be formed to take the place of veteran troops now doing guard duty at Richmond.

THE SITUATION IN MISSISSIPPI.

The Meridian letter of July 19, to the Atlanta Appeal, says:—

On the line of their march from Jackson to Brandon, on the 18th, 19th, and 20th instants, the Yankees, in addition to the destruction of the rail road, laid waste the whole country. In Brandon they burned the whole of the South side of the public square, two large blocks of buildings, the railroad depot, and pillaged every house in town.

The railroad from Jackson to Canton is destroyed. They also burned a train of forty cars and two engines between Canton and Jackson. We will lose heavily in rolling stock by their depredations North of Jackson. There are from ninety to one hundred locomotives belonging to the New Orleans and Jackson railroad and the Mississippi Central railroad, which the destruction of Pearl river bridge prevented us from bringing off, which will fall into their hands, and of course nearly all the rolling stock will share the same fate. From everything we can learn the enemy don't intend occupying Jackson, nor does he intend leaving it in a position to be of any use to us. He never would have destroyed the railroads if he contemplated permanent occupation. Jackson, he knows as well as Gen. Johnston knew, is no point of strategic importance, and he will simply make it impossible for its being of any service to us.

Mobile is now doubtless the next prize claiming his attention, and his movements would indicate an early approach to that city by the way of Meddleville, La., on the lake, landing at Biloxi, Ocean Springs, or Pascagoula, thence marching overland and combining with a gunboat attack on the city with the iron-clads relieved by the fall of Port Hudson and Vicksburg. He is too cunning an old fox to follow the army up among the sterile hills of Scott, when he would be at the mercy of the climate, the drought and the cavalry, his communication constantly in danger of being cut off, and his supplies destroyed. But we must wait and see.

Rumored Difficulties among the Rebel Chiefs.

It is rumored in the Army of the Potomac that Gen. Lee and Jeff. Davis have quarrelled and that the former has resigned. A letter to the Boston Traveller from the army says:

A report is in circulation in Warrenton, among the secessionists, that Stuart and Fitzhugh Lee, the notorious guerrilla raiders, are to be relieved of their command for intemperance and profligacy, and Brig. Gen. Wade Hampton is to assume command of both forces, which are to be united. Through the same sources I learn that both Lee and Stuart were intoxicated at the cavalry fight at Brandy Station, and Jeff. Davis has administered to both a severe reprimand for allowing the "Yankees" to defeat them at that point.

A Philadelphia Colored Regiment Ordered to Charleston.—The Philadelphia Inquirer of Saturday morning says: "An order was received this morning, directing that the colored regiment which has been encamped at Chelton Hill since its formation, shall leave as soon as possible for Charleston, S. C. Another colored regiment is now forming in this city. Its ranks are fast filling up, and it is thought that, in a few days, they will have reached the number required. The rapidity with which the colored regiments are filling up is truly astonishing."

Commerce with Brazil.—At the meeting of the New York Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday a letter was read setting forth that at the last meeting of the Brazilian Parliament it was proposed: 1. To make the coast of Brazil free to all nations. 2. To open the river Amazon to the commerce of the world. 3. To subsidize a company in New York to open a line between that city and that country. The first two propositions were passed, but the latter was lost for want of a few votes.

High Prices of Gold.—The Atlanta Confederacy says:

"The Savannah Republican says that one day last week four hundred dollars was paid by an individual in that city for a twenty dollar gold piece. The man who sold it did (sic) well as a speculation; but what could any one want with gold at such a price? Has he in some loose shot ought to be looked after."

Movements of Gen. Banks.—It is reported, by way of Cairo, that Gen. Banks had reached Biloxi, Miss.; and that Gen. Grant is sending him men very rapidly. This, it is thought, insures the capture of Mobile. The place is but poorly defended. Biloxi is two hundred and twenty-seven miles southeast of Jackson.

It is worthy of note, that that bitter Secession, but often candid sheet, the Richmond Examiner, predicts that Charleston will fall. The admission is doubtless made to throw contempt on Davis' plans, for the rebel President is only less an object of hate to the Examiner than are the "Yankees."

Parson Brownlow says that when General Rosecrans moved into East Tennessee, he, parson as he is, wishes to accompany the advance in command of a wagon filled with rope to be used on the necks of traitors whom he will be happy to designate.

The Southern Confederacy newspaper has raised its price to thirty-six dollars a year. This, says an Atlanta paper, "is not as high as the articles of subsistence and price of paper would authorize. All the Atlanta papers have adopted these rates."

Judge Wilkey, of the Police Court of Boston, decided lately that "bar-tending" is not a lawful employment, and sentenced a man who claimed this calling to the House of Industry.
