A single fact which we have reported by the last European mail shows where Louis Napoleon is, and whither he is going. The well known Paris newspaper, L'Opinion Nationale, sent a special agent to Brest to visit the Florida, and from his report we learn that the privateer had obtained the exceptional favor of admission for repairs into the Government basin.

Health of Gen. Grant.—Some dispatches from Cairo having transmitted reports of Gen. Grant being seriously indisposed, suffering from the consequences of his late fall, it may be well to state that dispatches from reliable parties in Vicksburg say that his injuries are not serious; that they consist of contusions only; and that he is rapidly improving and will be able to leave his bed in a few days.

Union Prisoners in the South.—A gentleman from Richmond, says the New York Tribune, contradicts the statement that Captains Sawyer and Flinn are kept in a cage at Richmond. He says they are treated in all respects like other prisoners. A Georgia paper says that Col. Streight and his men had been given up by the authorities of that State to the Confederate Governments, and sent to Richmond.

The Conflict in Pennsylvania.

Speaking of the pending political campaign in this State, one of the editors of the New York Evening Post, who recently made a journey through the central counties, writes:

In that region the copperhead speakers are unmeasured in their denunciations and and charges against the administration; and with the result that all men who really wish well to our flag and to the Union have united on the common ground of supporting the government. On this platform the canvass is carried on; "we must stand by the government," is the cry everywhere; and old political feuds and prejudices are buried out of sight; old political opponents are to-day working hand-in-hand for this cause, doubly impelled to it by the virulence and the unpatriotic course of the copperheads.

"What our soldiers are doing in the field, that we must do at home," say these Pennsylvanians: "If our brothers and our sons support the government with the musket, shall we not support it with our votes?" Why son is in the army fighting for the government, said a gray-haired farmer; "how would it look if I were to go and vote against it? If one man pulls one way, and another another, they don't accomplish much. It is like hitching a team to each end of a wagon, and attempting to drive both ways at once. You would be sure to pull the wagon to pieces; and that's all you'd do." But the men of Pennsylvania do not mean to pull the Union wagon to pieces, nor will they let the copperheads do that either.

A New Rebel Idea.

A letter from "one of the ablest citizens of Louisiana" appears in the Columbia South Carolinian. He makes the following suggestions as the best means of conducting the war in future, and in a general way shows how easy a war could be carried on, if talking would do it:

The war, if continued, can no longer be conducted as it has been. Our currency is so depreciated that it will soon cease to be available. I see but one remedy. Let no more paper money be issued. Let the whole confederacy be divided into two classes—the contrabatants and the producers. As long as this war shall last, every one of us must be satisfied with shelter, food and clothing, and nothing else. The soldiers and officers, from the highest to the lowest, must fight without pay. Why should they need money when provided with necessaries, and their families taken care of?

Let all the resources and productions of every farmer or planter be put at the disposal of the government without pay. Let the President and every civil officer or employee have no pay. In fact, let it be a penal offence to buy or sell anything; but let food, raiment, shelter and medicine be secured to every one under a parish organization, controlled or supervised by the general government. In this way there would be no further increase of our national debt; in fact, no currency would be necessary for the time being, but every one who should have confederate notes in his pocket, would then feel that they are good, and that he would have something to fall back upon when peace is declared. It was on this principle that Frederick the Great, when the existence of Prussia was at stake, carried on successfully his famous seven years' war against such odds as the world had never seen before nor saw since.

A "Yankee" Trick.—A Vicksburg correspondent writes:

Quite a Yankee trick was perpetrated on the children of Ham a day or two ago. Two soldiers called at all the negro shanties and collected taxes. One had a musket, and another a book in which to take the name and enter the amount paid. The tax was three dollars for a male, and two for a female. All the negroes about the city, at least have small amounts of money, and the swindle was quite remunerative. The negroes were willing to pay. In fact, they thought it like white folks to hand the tax man their change. Each was given a receipt, which was taken as something to be treasured. One old negro who thought it not altogether right, informed the Provost Marshal about it, and learned that he had been swindled out of eleven dollars. The rogues were not discovered at last accounts. It is hard to identify a person in uniform.

The St. Louis Republican, of Thursday, states that Gen. Smith's division, of Gen. Grant's army, left Memphis several days ago, to reinforce Gen. Rosecrans, and that other troops are doubtless en route. A dispatch from Cairo to the Chicago Tribune, dated Sept. 23, states that the Government had taken up eighty steamers for the transportation of troops.

Another Union paper is started in Nashville. Col. L. C. Houk is editor. In his leader he says, "Our regret is, first, that we voted for Bell, and next, that we did not vote for Lincoln."

The Secretary of War directs that colored volunteers from New Jersey and Delaware be mustered into the regiments forming at Philadelphia, credit being given for those States respectively.

American Growth.

A glance at a few facts and figures will help to convince us that we are a great and growing nation, and that if we can control the centrifugal force which in our rapid revolutions, has broken up the integrity of our country, there will really be no limit to the growth we may hope for. In 1800, with a population of 4,000,000, our manufactures were valued at $5 and exports at $7 per head. In 1860, with a population of 24,000,000, our manufactures were valued at $64 and our exports at $6 per head. In 1800, the value of lands and houses was estimated at $155 per head, and in 1860 at $400. In 1840 the entire wealth of the country was less than $1,000,000,000; in 1860 the valuation was $16,585,358,433. This rapid growth has been the legitimate result of well known causes, and may be readily traced to the co-operation of individuals and the aggregation of capital, to the application of steam to transportation and mechanical uses, to the use of machinery in its countless applications, and to the large quantities of cheap and fertile land which have been placed within the reach of all. The day's labor of an industrious man, which in 1800 could remove only one pound of cotton from the seed, could, in 1860, with the help of the cotton-gin, remove four hundred pounds. In 1812 it took six weeks of time, and $1,000 in money to convey a single cannon from New York to Buffalo, and now, if circumstances require, twenty-four hours and a ten dollar bill will suffice to carry a heavy gun from the streets of New York and point it toward the Canadian shore of Lake Erie. Great are the resources of our country, but great as they have been, we are yet only in the opening scenes of the grand drama of American development.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

"With the Author's Compliments."—An anecdote relative to the late Professor Wilson is just now circulating. When the suitor for the hand of his daughter had gained the lady's approbation, he was, of course, referred to "papa." Having stated his case, the young gentleman was directed to desire the young lady to come to her father, and doubtless her obedience was prompt. Professor Wilson had before him for review some book, on the fly-leaf of which was duly inscribed, "With the author's compliments." He tore this out, pinned it to his daughter's dress, solemnly led her to the young lover, and went back to his work. No doubt the young gentleman fully appreciated the gift, conveyed in such a technical manner.

Condition of Rosecrans' Army.

A dispatch from Indianapolis, dated the 27th inst., says:

Col. John Wilder passed through this city yesterday, en route for his home at Greensburg, direct from the Army of the Cumberland, which he represents as being well fortified, and in a splendid condition, with thirty-five days' rations on hand, and extremely anxious for Bragg to attack them. Both Burnside and Grierson had been heard from, and were expected at Chattanooga yesterday. Gen. Rosecrans was in good spirits. Our losses in killed, wounded and missing, will amount to near 10,000. The enemy's losses are thought to be heavier than ours.

From Natchez.—A recent dispatch from Vicksburg says:

At Natchez all things are progressing with as much satisfaction as could be expected. The city is clean, healthy, and, stranger still, well governed. The inhabitants are pleased with the change, and, as a general thing, are anxious to show their loyalty. Great quantities of Confederate cotton are coming in. There are thousands of bales to come in yet, within a few miles of the city. The place has been strongly fortified, and can easily be forever kept under the shadow of the stars and stripes.

The difficulty between the Church and State Governments in the United States of Columbia seems to be at an end. The Bishop of Pepyan and the Vicar of the Archdiocese of Bogota have taken an oath to obey the Constitution, and the Churches in these two dioceses have been consequently reopened.

In Terre Haute, a few days ago, Master Calliger called Master Brown a liar, and Master B. shot him dead instantly, and was immediately acquitted on the plea of justifiable homicide!
