Southern Rebels and their Northern Friends.

In the face of such open and frank declarations as the following from the Augusta (Ga.) Constitutionalist, it is impossible for any loyal man, who has sense enough to know what he is doing, to support the candidates of the Copperhead Democracy. We quote:

"We have always held that the only way to build up a peace party among the Yankees, and to set at liberty the furious opposition of the Anti-Republicans, was by successful war on Lincoln's armies in the field. We still have great expectations from the peace men of the North and the explosive wrath of the opposition masses, but we were never more fully convinced than now of the essential importance of thick, fast and heavy blows from the Confederate armies, in order to give vitality, system and organization to the peace men, and to unloose the fierce impulses of the enthralled and terrorized people. Mr. Vallandigham himself, as we have heard, most emphatically declared that the success of Southern arms alone could give strength and consistency to the peace movement."

* * * * * * *

"If Johnston and Bragg can defeat Rosecrans and Burnside, Charleston still holding out, or if Lee, with his recruited army, can defeat Meade, with all the aid of his new conscripts, demoralized and disaffected as they are represented, then we may expect the most favorable results in the Ohio election and Lincoln Congress. Unless something of the kind is accomplished speedily, then a long farewell to the peace party—Vallandigham will be defeated and Wood and his party paralyzed or overawed in Congress, and peace postponed indefinitely without foreign aid."

There is proof beyond controversy that the rebels of the South recognize the "Democracy" of the North as their friends and allies, and that, consequently, they are as much the enemies of the Government as the rebels are themselves—that they are engaged in a common cause—that they are mutually aiding each other—that the late desperate efforts of LEE and BRAGG to win victories over MEADE and ROSECRANS were made more with the hope and intent of enabling their copperhead friends in the North to carry their elections, than from any immediate benefit they would hope to derive from them. In fact, the Copperhead Democracy is now their only hope; and so long as that party, led by cowardly but cunning traitors, can manage to keep up a bold front in the North, so long will the rebels of the South fight on, and no longer.

The Rebels and Copperheads are one party. Their fortunes rise and fall together. If one triumphs, so will the other. If either is crushed, the other perishes with it. If the armies of the Union beat those of the Confederacy, down goes the Copperhead party, never to rise again; and should the voters of the Union beat the Copperheads at the polls, down goes the Rebellion. So let every loyal voter feel that in depositing his ballot he is serving his country quite as effectively, as if he were struggling against its enemies amid the roar and smoke and perils of battle—and perhaps more so.

See, democrats, into what a position your leaders have brought your party! Testimony upon testimony shows you that the only hope the rebels have is in the success of the candidates your leaders have set up. They have no other hope. Neither Napoleon nor the British aristocracy, are base enough to come out openly in their favor however much they may desire their success There is indeed no people on earth so base as to give them aid and comfort in their abominable enterprise, except your party leaders. Thanks to God and to the people of the free States, your candidates cannot succeed; but what are we to think of the man who does what he can to give them success?—who by his vote, gives as much encouragement as one poor, degraded, party-ridden creature can give to the enemies of his country? Read what this Georgia editor says; see his anxiety for the success of what he calls the "peace party"—what you call the democratic party, and what the friends of the Union call the copperhead party,—and then vote for its candidates if you can.

Bear in mind that VALLANDIGHAM and WOODWARD belong to the same party—that the convention which nominated the latter endorsed the former, although his treason was as well known then as it is now. Be assured that if you can succeed in electing WOODWARD you will contribute as largely to the encouragement of the rebels as if you had voted for and elected VALLANDIGHAM himself. Your success will greatly protract the war, add fearfully to the mournful roll of the slain, and it may be lay the country defeated and dishonored at the feet of victorious traitors. If your party fealty demands all this at your hands, —if you are bound to give up to a mere party name your country, its heroic defenders and its glorious flag, and consign your own names to everlasting contempt, then vote for WOODWARD and LOWRIE. The Rebel army will shout with joy at your success, while the army of the Union will mourn; and your part of the spoils will be an infamy so profound, that your posterity will try hard to forget that such a man as you ever lived.

You may delude yourselves with the notion that in voting what you call the "democratic ticket" you are following in the footsteps of your fathers. But you are grossly mistaken. The name may be the same, but the thing is totally different. Your democratic fathers did not turn against their country in times of war as you do—not one of them. Your democratic fathers contended and fought for Liberty, not Slavery. Your democratic fathers were true to the Union; you are not. They crushed rebellion wherever it raised its head; you are the men whom the rebels openly recognize as their friends. Jackson would have hanged the arch-rebel of South Carolina "as high as Haman;" but you, poor wretches, would go on your knees to rebels smeared with the blood of your murdered countrymen, and humbly sue for peace! Shame!

Bishop Hopkins is not Pleased.

Bishop HOPKINS, of Vermont, has addressed to Bishop POTTER of Pennsylvania a long and bitter letter, in reply to the indignant protest of the last named prelate, together with a long list of clergymen of the same Church, against the former's "Bible view of Slavery," in which he justified American slavery on Scripture grounds, and which has been largely circulated by the copperhead politicians of this State as an electioneering document. To show the temper of the Bishop's letter, we quote a single sentence—the first one after a brief introduction:

"Now my right Reverend brother, am sorry to be obliged to charge you, not only with a gross insult against your senior, but with the more serious offence of a false accusation."

Speaking of his original publication, which the copperhead politicians are circulating, he says:

"The whole object of my letter was to prove, from the Bible, that in the relation of master and slave there was necessarily no sin whatever. The sin, if there were any, lay in the treatment of the slave, and not in the relation itself."

Here is an extract from his former publication:

"The slavery of the negro race, as maintained in the Southern States appears to me fully authorized both in the Old and the New Testament, which, as the written word of God, afford the only infallible standard of moral rights and obligations."

A good document for rebel apologists, sure enough, and they evinced their usual sagacity in taking it into their service; for if they could get the people to receive, at the hand of a bishop, such "Bible views of slavery" as these, they would have little trouble in getting them to justify the rebels in all they have done in support of the "divine institution." (The reply is also published in the copperhead papers as an electioneering document.)To show how strongly Bishop HOPKINS is "joined to his idol," we subjoin the following paragraph from his angry letter to Bishop POTTER:

"I wish you, therefore, to be advertised that I shall publish, within a few months, if a gracious Providence should spare my life and faculties, a full demonstration of the truth 'wherein I stand.' And I shall might be excused as not unnatural. And if prove in that book, by the most unquestionable authorities, that slaves and slaveholders were in the Church from the beginning; that slavery was held to be consistent with Christian principle by the Fathers and councils, and by all Protestant divines and commentators, up to the very close of the last century, and that this fact was universal among all Churches and sects throughout the Christian world. I shall contend that our Church, which maintains the primitive rule of catholic consent and adjures all novelties, is bound, by her very Constitution to hold fast that only safe and enduring rule, or abandon her Apostolic claims, and descend to the level of those who are 'driven to and fro by every wind of doctrine.' And I shall print your 'indignant reprobation,' with its list of names, in the preface to my book, so that if I cannot give you fame, I may, at least, do my part to give you notoriety."

We are afraid the new book will not be out in time to save Slavery and the Copperheads.

We shall, of course, not go into a serious argument upon a position so monstrous as that assumed by Bishop HOPKINS. Our own views are admirably set forth in the reply of a number of distinguished Scottish clergy to an appeal from the clergy of the rebel States, which we publish to-day.

GOVERNOR CURTIN'S PROBABLE MAJORITY.—The Union State Committee have made up their table of probable majorities upon a data furnished by reliable parties in the different counties. In their calculation, Berks is set down at 6,000 majority for Woodward (more than she can give); Schuylkill, 3,000; Montgomery, 1,200, &c. Philadelphia, 6,000 for Curtin; Lancaster, 5,500, Allegheny, 6,000, &c. The result foots up about 30,000 majority for Curtin in the State. Our own impression, judging from the signs of the times, is, that Curtin's majority will not be less than 40,000, and it may be half as much again. The tide is setting strongly in the right quarter, and is gaining impetus every day. The election of the Union State ticket by a large majority is beyond all doubt.

More Witnesses of Woodward's Perfidy—Scene in a Railroad Car.

A gentleman who was a passenger on the down train from Milton, Northumberland county, on Wednesday last, says the Philadelphia Daily News, informs us that Mr. Justice Woodward was a passenger in the same car with him from a way point on the road. During the ride, and when it was known to but one or two persons on the train that Mr. Woodward was a passenger he was approached by a proposition which was made to canvass the cars to ascertain how the passengers would vote.

The gentlemen making the canvass, without knowing Mr. W., politely asked him as to his preference, to which the Judge replied, "WELL I HAVE SOMEWHAT MADE UP MY MIND NOW I SHALL VOTE. The canvassers passed on, and shortly after returned and announced the votes as follows:

|---|---|
| Curtin, | 33 |
| Woodward, | 6 |
| Undecided | 1 |

In the meantime the gentlemen had been informed of the fact of Judge Woodward's presence, and promptly apologised for having queried him as to his vote. After this an animated conversation took place between Mr. Woodward and the Rev. Mr. Hutter, who sat near him, in the course of which Judge Woodward declared the same sentiments as were listened to, on the way to Gettysburg, by Mr. Hart, whose communication was published some days since.

Judge W. declared "THE WAR IS AN ABOLITION WAR." "They (the Abolitionists) have been seeking to bring it about FOR TWENTY YEARS. "YOU CANNOT CONQUER THE SOUTH." And to a question propounded by one of the gentlemen who had joined in the conversation, as to "How do you propose to remedy the matter?" Judge Woodward replied, "BY WITHDRAWING THE TROOPS FROM THE FIELD, AND OFFERING TO THE SOUTH TERMS OF PEACE."

Thus is the charge of open sympathy with the rebellion again fastened on Judge Woodward; and if the Copperhead organs deny the fact, we stand ready not only to furnish the names of the several respectable gentlemen who heard these declarations, but to prove them to the satisfaction of any candid man in the State.

The Union Pyramid for 1863.

The elections held thus far this year form the following pyramid:

MAINE.
VERMONT.
KENTUCKY.
CALIFORNIA.
CONNECTICUT.
RHODE ISLAND.
NEW HAMPSHIRE.

How slowly Ohio would cap this pile; but no better Pennsylvania would extend and strengthen its base. Let the Union men of these States see that neither is wanting in this glorious structure.

The Scottish Church and Slavery.

The address sent to Europe some time ago, from the "Clergy of the Confederate States," asking for the sympathy of the Christian world for slavery and the slaveholders, has excited much indignant comment. The last mail brought a response from the ministers of the Churches of Scotland, which shows what is thought of slavery by the venerable and truly religious body of Presbyterians. When the mail closed the document had just been drafted and there had been no time to obtain many signatures. But the names already signed are those of some of the most distinguished of the Scottish divines. The address is as follows:

We, the undersigned, ministers of the gospel in Scotland, in reply to the appeal made to us in the "Address to the Christians throughout the World," recently put forth "by the Clergy of the Confederate States of America," feel bound to give public expression to our views, lest our continued silence should be misconstrued, as implying either acquiescence in the principles of the document, or indifference to the crime which it seeks to defend.

We refer, of course, to a single topic, that of slavery, as it is handled in the address. We desire to say nothing inconsistent with our country's attitude of strict neutrality as regards the war raging across the Atlantic. We do not discuss any of the political questions connected with its origin, progress, and probable issues. We offer no opinion on the measures adopted on either side. Nor are we to be regarded as shutting our eyes to the past and present sins and shortcomings of the North in relation to the African race. The one object we have in view is to express the deep grief, alarm, and indignation with which we have perused the pleading on behalf of slavery in general, and American slavery in particular, to which so many servants of the Lord Jesus Christ have not scrupled to append their names. With the feeblest possible incidental admission of "abuses" which they "may deplore, in this, as in other relations of mankind," we find these men broadly maintaining, in the most unqualified manner, that "the relation of master and slave"—"slavery as it is," they add, to make their meaning more explicit—"is not incompatible with our holy Christianity." They thank God for it, as for a missionary institution; the best, as it would seem, and the most successful in the world. They hold it to be their peculiar excellency to defend and perpetuate it. And they evidently contemplate the formation of the Southern Confederacy upon the basis of slavery as one of its fundamental and permanent principles or elements, not only without regret, but with entire satisfaction and approval.

Against all this—in the name of that holy faith and that thrice holy name, which they venture to invoke, on the side of a system which treats immortal and redeemed men as goods and chattels, denies them the rights of marriage and of home, consigns them to ignorance of the first rudiments of education, and exposes them to the outrages of lust and passion—we most earnestly and emphatically protest. We do not think it needful to argue. The time for argument has for many years been regarded by the whole of enlightened Christendom as passed and gone. Apologists for slavery, attempting to shelter themselves and it under the authority of God's Word and the Gospel of Jesus Christ, are to be denounced as really—whatever may be their intention—the worst enemies of both.

All reasonable allowance, no doubt, should be made for the circumstances of Christian ministers called in Providence to labor where slavery exists. Some soreness, even, on their part, under what they regard as unfriendliness and dangerous movements on the other side, we saw them manfully lifting their voices on behalf of universal liberty, and setting themselves to aim at the instant redress of the more flagrant of the wrongs incident to a state of bondage, we would be prepared calmly and candidly, and by all Protestant divines and commentators, up to the very close of the last century, and that this fact was universal among all Churches and sects throughout the Christian world. I shall contend that our Church, which maintains the primitive rule of catholic consent and adjures all novelties, is bound, by her very Constitution to hold fast that only safe and enduring rule, or abandon her Apostolic claims, and descend to the level of those who are 'driven to and fro by every wind of doctrine.' And I shall print your 'indignant reprobation,' with its list of names, in the preface to my book, so that if I cannot give you fame, I may, at least, do my part to give you notoriety."

We are afraid the new book will not be out in time to save Slavery and the Copperheads.

We shall, of course, not go into a serious argument upon a position so monstrous as that assumed by Bishop HOPKINS. Our own views are admirably set forth in the reply of a number of distinguished Scottish clergy to an appeal from the clergy of the rebel States, which we publish to-day.
