THAT obese rebel, HUMPHREY MARSHALL, seems to have passed from military into civil life. He has left the West, where Prentice plagued him so, and gone where the Louisville Journal has but a limited circulation, owing to existing postal difficulties. We learn by the Richmond papers that he has opened a law office in that city, and advertises that he will attend to causes before the courts in Richmond and for Henrico county, and will take business requiring attention before the bureaus of the Confederate States.

AMONG the on dits in New-York, we find the following, which gives an amusing illustration of the curious relations and dependencies between certain things, that may exist unsuspected by people who cannot get behind the scenes: The story goes that the wife of the editor of a leading journal sent out to Europe some weeks since for a new ball dress. Recently she received information that it would not be at hand before the latter part of November, as the lace required to trim it would have to be manufactured. It is a strange coincidence that the leading journal aforesaid opposed the Russian ball the day after the reception of this important news from Europe.

A CHANGE IN BALTIMORE.—A Baltimore correspondent says: Rachel Barker, the well-known Quakeress, was moved, on Sunday last, in the presence of a crowded congregation at the Lombard street Meeting House, to denounce the crime of American slavery, and to plead for the abolition of the curse everywhere. Her audience listened in deep silence and in hearty approval of her sentiments, so far as could be judged from their demeanor and subsequent comments. In this same meeting house, Lucretia Mott was violently hissed some dozen years ago, and listened to impatiently four years since, while touching the forbidden subject in the most delicate manner. Now Rachel Barker's voice is heard in thunder tones against the monstrous iniquity.

Very Uncourtly Manners at Court.

A letter from Biarritz, where the French court has been rusticating, tells an interesting story illustrative of the bitter feeling existing between the Russians and the Poles. A French lady having expressed her admiration for Poland, a Russian lady of high rank meeting her in the street, struck her in the face with a parasol. The result of this brutal act was that the Empress struck the name of the Russian lady and several of her relations out of her visiting list. The Russians were extremely dissatisfied at this, especially as the Countess Przezdiecka, who, although a Pole, is a subject of Alexander II., was retained on the list. A fresh revenge was determined upon. As the Countess was receiving from an official source, a man accosted her with a letter, requesting her to read it immediately. The Countess took the letter to her room and broke the seal. Immediately some detonating powder, which was in the seal, burst with a loud explosion, and the countess's morning dress was on fire. Luckily her chambermaid was near and extinguished the flames, which had already burnt her eye-brows and part of her hair. The letter contained the following words:

"Wretched little PoHah-woman, do you think we do not know that it is by your intrigues and your degradation that you have succeeded in being admitted to the intimacy of that little French court? Weeare very little either for it or for you. Do not be too proud of those miserable distinctions which we shall know how to stop when we like. Let not your bare-footed compatriots imagine that they will triumph through you. You are now warned, and they are also."

This affair has caused universal indignation, and it is said that it will be brought forward in a court of justice.

High Life in Washington.

A Washington correspondent of the Independent says: "There was a fight to be seen in broad day-light a few days ago, in front of the Presidential mansion, which gave those who witnessed it a shocking idea of the onward strides which the vice of intemperance has made in the "good society" during the last few years. A woman clad in the richest and most fashionable garments, with diamonds flashing from her slender fingers in the slant western sunshine, sat upon the stone balustrade, unable to proceed on her homeward walk without betraying herself. At last she rose and started on, swaying to and fro, and yet soon rested again, utterly unable to proceed. The carriage of a foreign minister passed by—the poor woman was noticed—and it turned, stopped, took in the lady, and carried her to her luxurious home. For the lady is wealthy, and occupies a high social position; but she was drunk in the streets of Washington!"

Important Change in the Management of Fifteen-Inch Guns.

Notwithstanding the amount of time and labor expended to enable artillerists to fire the fifteen-inch Dahlgren gun inside the turret of the monitors without its muzzle protruding through the port-hole, the guns are henceforth to be run out, as in broadside ships-of-war, and just as the eleven-inch gun is run out.
Within the past few weeks the fifteen-inch guns have been modified considerably, and are now on their way to the different yards at which the iron-clads are building. They are somewhat lighter than the former class, and can be run in and out much more easily. The new compressor apparatus for working them has been made as perfect as possible, and it is now believed that fifteen minutes can do as much firing as is necessary with the gun.

HOW TO DETECT COUNTERFEIT FIFTY CENTS.—Many persons do not know the counterfeit fifty cent postal currency from the genuine. There are marks on the spurious that, if observed, will at once show the counterfeit. On the counterfeit the final "S" in the words "United States Postage," over the head of Washington, is dropped, and the letter "S" in the word "Treasurer" extends higher up than the other letters. Another test is that in the spurious the "y" in the word "Depository" does not touch the border on the back of the note. Attention to these directions will prevent persons being imposed upon by counterfeits.

SHELBY COUNTY, Indiana, has voted $100 bounty to each volunteer from the county, in addition to that paid by the government. An enthusiastic meeting was held at Indianapolis on Tuesday evening to encourage volunteering, at which Governor Morton was present. Measures were adopted to induce a co-operation of all political parties in the work of raising the county's quota.

A FEW days since a lot of negroes collected at the Richmond gas-works for religious purposes. They were captured by the police, who took forty-three into custody, and, after a hearing before Judge Chandler, each man received ten lashes. This item may be commended to the attention of Bishop Hopkins, the apologist of slavery.

COAL GAS.—In the city of Liverpool the price of gas has been reduced to about 86 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. It is also stated that this price pays a fair profit to the stockholders.

THE REVOLUTION IN ST. DOMINGO IN FULL BLAST:

THE FIGHT AT COLLIERSVILLE.

Advices from Arkansas and Mississippi.

FEARS OF A SOUTHERN FAMINE.

The London Times on Affairs in America.

&c., &c., &c.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6, 1863.

The revolution in St. Domingo is still in full blast. The rebels hold possession of the entire island, except the capitol and east end, and they are reported to be within a few miles of St. Domingo city.

An arrival from Belize this morning says Export trade is entirely diverted from the United States to Liverpool and London, owing to the advanced charges in American ports in consequence of the war. The interests of the inhabitants of Belize suffered severely by the experimental cotton crops, which were ruined by twenty days' incessant rain.

Advices from Arkansas via Memphis and Cairo, state that Gen. Marmaduke attacked Pine Bluff on Oct. 28th, with three thousand men, and was repulsed by a garrison of seven hundred men, under Col. Clayton, with a loss of twelve killed and fifteen wounded.

General Price's force has retreated beyond Red river, leaving only cavalry at Arkadelphia.

The rebel division of General Loring, of eight thousand infantry, are at Canton, Miss.

Three thousand men are guarding Mobile and the railroads running to the South.

The attack on Colliersville, on the Memphis and Charleston Railroad, on the 3d inst., was repulsed, and three rebel General Gearys and thirteen of his staff were captured.

An important intercepted letter from the rebel Commissary General of Subsistence to the rebel Secretary of War, says fears of a Southern famine are earnestly expressed, and that the prospects of the army and people are alike terrible.

Gen. Bragg's plans to take possession of the plantations, is seconded determinedly, with invalid officers for overseers.

The writer says: The inventory ordered by Governor Brown of the bacon and live stock in Georgia, shows a well nigh exhausted condition of that State, and beyond peradventure, it is less nearly exhausted than any other State in the Confederacy.

The London Times tells Beecher: But this hideous intolerable and suicidal immorality, slavery, was recognized and tolerated in the Constitution of the United States. What does this show except that the Constitution was itself an immorality, and, therefore, inevitably and deservedly incapable of lasting long.

If the United States cannot settle this question for themselves, they can not claim a national character. The world will understand and accept a government based on slavery. It will leave the United States to settle for themselves the question whether they are to dead united, or whether they are only States banded together to bully the world, but agreeing to disagree on questions of social morality.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The Times special dispatch from Washington, Nov. 5, says: The mortality among our exchanged prisoners at Annapolis, and the to conclusive testimony of the barbarous usage of those in Richmond, have determined our government to apply corrective retaliation if the rebel authorities do not, upon remonstration, treat our captured men according to the rules of war. Scarcity of food in Richmond may give color to the plea of necessity, and an excuse for insufficient nourishment for our men, but there is a design in this starvation; the rebels mean to force us to a return to the old system of exchange which excluded officers of reserve regiments, and those of Col. Streight's command. They will not succeed. President Lincoln will not fail the black man who have taken up arms at his call nor the white men who command them. He will not tolerate any proposition which seeks to establish distinctions between our black and white soldiers as prisoners of war.

It is probable the new fractional currency will be suppressed, and an new effort at government engraving and painting made.

The Tribune has the following:

Headquarters Army of the Potomac, Nov. 5.—One full corps of Lee's army left this evening to be encamped at Brandy Station, on the Orange and Alexandria Railroad.

Stuart's cavalry watch the fords on the south side of the Rappahannock.

Lee's headquarters are at Culpepper. Deserters report his army stretches from Culpepper to the heights of Fredericksburg, and numbers about 35,000 men of all arms.

Gen. Meritt, of the regular cavalry reserves, while riding with his Staff along some road, and separated for a few moments from his command, was attacked by a party of guerrillas greatly outnumbering his staff, who, however, being mounted on fleet horses, escaped, although bullets flew around them thickly. Other attempts were made to murder orderlies carrying dispatches from headquarters to any distant point within the army lines.

The Herald has the following:

Headquarters Army of the Potomac.—Day before yesterday Gen. Kilpatrick started for the Rappahannock by way of Hartwood Church House and Falmouth, striking the river near the latter place. His command returned today and report the country clear of the regular rebels so far as this observation extended, though they encountered several straggling guerrilla bands with whom they skirmished moderately. On their return, when near camp, the rebels descended upon the rear wagon train and captured a Sergeant, four men, four mules and a wagon. Last night the Major was captured within two miles of his Headquarters, and is now on his way to Richmond.

Kilpatrick's cavalry division went out on a reconnoissance yesterday, and when four miles this side of Barwood Church they struck the rebel pickets, which they drove a short distance, when a small body of them dismounted and sheltered themselves under a hill and awaited our further advance, but flank movements by squads of Michigan cavalry dislodged them from their position, and were followed by that regiment till they advanced to Falmouth, where we were repulsed, but the remainder of Custer's Michigan brigade came up to their support, and the rebels, after half an hour's skirmishing, were driven across the Rappahannock, at the ford, immediately above the old bridge, with a loss of three killed and several wounded. Our loss was nothing.

The enemy sheltering themselves in houses on the Fredericksburg side of the river, kept up a lively fire with their carbines, which was answered by the Michigan boys, but the range being too long for any effect on either side. At night approached our cavalry fell back to Hartwood Court House, and having accomplished their object of reconnoissance, returned this afternoon.

The enemy's force consisted of two regiments of cavalry from South Carolina and Georgia.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Yesterday guerrillas made a raid upon Edson's Station, about five miles from Alexandria, capturing several horses and mules. The gang came into the neighborhood Tuesday night, and captured a Union man, who escaped after tying in the woods with them nearly all day yesterday. They talked in his presence about attacking some of the stations, but also said failed to reach our pickets in time to give warning. These gangs are now prevented from coming down towards Vienna, and have abandoned the neighborhood.

Several parties of rebel cavalry dashed through our lines on our left, and committed depredations in Prince William county within the last few days.

Yesterday Gen. Morrell sent out and seized all the inhabitants in the vicinity of his command, and sent them to headquarters to be disposed of by the Provost Marshal General.

Affairs at the front remain comparatively quiet.

Yesterday a portion of the army moved down to the Rappahannock, and stationed its pickets along the river.

There are now no rebels on this side of the Rappahannock except a small force of cavalry between the railroad crossing and Falmouth.

Most of Lee's army is believed to be near Culpepper.

The impression prevails that the enemy will not make any decided stand this side of the Rapidan, should we advance.

Missouri and Illinois Elections—Expected Capture of the First Alabama Cavalry.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 5.—Dispatches from Jefferson City say that the conservatives there admit their majority on the home vote in the State will be too small to avail anything, while the radicals are sanguine in carrying the State by a small majority, without the aid of the soldiers' vote. This is mainly conjecture, however, as the returns are insufficient to base a definite statement upon.

Returns from Illinois continue to show large Union gains.

A Cairo dispatch says: About two-thirds of the 1st Alabama (loyal) cavalry were recently surrounded by a largely superior force of rebels, at Russellville, Alabama, and cut their way out, and arrived at headquarters at Giendale.

THE Toledo Commercial, of the 3d, says: Hay is selling readily on the streets for $18 and $20 per ton. We understand that the majority of the farmers in this section are selling off their cattle on account of the high price and scarcity of fodder, and, as a consequence, great quantities of beef arrive in town daily, which is sold from the wagons at 3 to 3½c for hindquarters, and 2 to 2½c for forequarters.

FORTIFICATIONS OF BEAUTY.—A New London (Connecticut) man has invented a weapon that may be inserted in the handle of a lady's parasol, and will drive a ball through an inch and a half plank at the distance of ten rods. Steel clad and armed with these parasols, the dear creatures will be invulnerable.

REV. CHARLES BEECHER'S case has assumed a new phase. Though adjudged a heretic by an ecclesiastical council, and in consequence having asked a dismission, a majority of his church refuse to let him go. He also has been elected to the Massachusetts Legislature by the Union men of his district.

PRIVATEERS IN THE WEST INDIA WATERS.—The ship Nabob, from Manilla, reports that on September 30th, off Cape Agulhas, she was boarded by a boat from the United States steamer Vanderbilt, which informed the captain of the Nabob that privateers were in the neighborhood.

CONFISCATION OF REBEL PROPERTY.—Advertisements of Government sales of rebel property occupy seven closely printed columns of the Era of the 21st ult. This shows an intention on the part of the Government to carry out effectively the Confiscation law.
