New York, Nov. 14.—The Rebels' retreat from the Army of the Potomac, November 13th, was a most remarkable event.

The weather is admirable for active campaigning, and there is no doubt that Gen. Meade will improve it. Warrenton Junction is present the depot from whence all our supplies are sent.

A deserter from the 9th Alabama regiment, who was captured on our picket lines yesterday, states that the men in the rebel ranks are not doing their duty.

They are not doing their duty, and are longer in the ranks than they should be.

They are longer in the ranks than they should be, and are longer in the ranks than they should be.
