

There will be no Evening Gazette issued from this office to-day, nor will our Morning Edition appear on Friday morning.

We desire that all should observe the day which the President has set apart as a day of National Thanksgiving and Prayer, for the great deliverances which Almighty God hath vouchsafed to us, in the late times of unparalleled danger, through which the nation has passed.

The battle at Chattanooga—Hospital Supplies Wanted. The late battle between the forces of Gen. Grant and Gen. Bragg, at Chattanooga, has doubtless done more to increase the necessities of the army than any other military success.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 24, 1863.—The Secretary of the Louisville Chamber of Commerce, in a dispatch from Dr. J. G. Pearson, at Nashville and here, of commodities, condensed milk, beef, stimulants, &c.

The Sanitary Commission of this city, are at No. 59 Fourth street. Let the response be cheerful, generous and prompt.

Sentence of an Abolitionist. On Monday last, Dr. A. L. Alford, of Harrisburg, who had been tried and convicted for procuring an abortion on the person of Louisa Holtsberger, was sentenced by Judge Pearson to pay a fine of one hundred dollars, and to undergo an imprisonment of three years and four months in the penitentiary.

Forgetting the duties you owe to society, disregarding the commands of God through His word, and the duties of a citizen, you have neglected the duties of a Christian.

Remember that you are a citizen of this country, and that you are bound to obey the laws of the land, and to support the Government.

Remember that you are a Christian, and that you are bound to obey the commands of God, and to love your neighbor as yourself.

Remember that you are a man, and that you are bound to support the family, and to provide for the needs of your dependents.

Remember that you are a member of the community, and that you are bound to contribute to the welfare of the whole.

Remember that you are a creature of God, and that you are bound to glorify Him, and to enjoy His love.

Remember that you are a sinner, and that you are bound to repent of your sins, and to seek forgiveness from God.

Remember that you are a mortal, and that you are bound to prepare for the life to come, and to seek eternal life.

Remember that you are a creature of dust, and that you are bound to return to dust, and to be raised up again.

Remember that you are a creature of God, and that you are bound to love Him, and to love your neighbor as yourself.

Remember that you are a creature of God, and that you are bound to love Him, and to love your neighbor as yourself.

General Synod of the German Reformed Church.

ARTZBOOM, Nov. 25.—Synod convened, and was opened by singing and prayer, in German, by Rev. R. Kessler, of Akron, Ohio.

The regular order of the day, the discussion of the Liturgical question, was taken up, and the discussion continued.

Rev. J. Buehler, in behalf of the German portion of the Synod, spoke of the importance of the Liturgical question.

The material upon which they have to operate is widely different from that which the English Liturgy is most. They have Liturgies which are orthodox to the core.

The original amendment was then adopted, and the Synod adjourned.
