world, a most startling and alarming spectacle, and men will begin to inquire, "who is to be the next victim?"

It was thought by many that Napoleon had staked his throne wpon the success of his operations in Mexico; for, had he failed, the recoit upon him, in the present temper of France and of Europe, would have been tremendeus, perhaps fatal. But he has been successfel; and at this moment Mexico, with its boundless elements of wealth, and its sommanding position in respect both to the dominien of the seas and to the martime commerce of the world, lies at his feet, a conquered province, and that success will in a corresponding degree, addstability and power to his throne. Mexico, the "sick max" of the West, is dead, and his magnificent estate appropriated.

But how is this great disaster likely to affect us? Our government—and very properly too—clung to the old government of Mexico, even after it had been driven from its ancient capital. No positive offense was-effered to the invader and usurper; but the unwavering sympathy ever manifested by our government for that of the Republic of Mexico, in its calamity and sore pressure, was ne doubt very distasteful to the proud and self-willed master of France's and now that the feeble barrier, interposed by the armies of Juanzz, between him and us has been broken through, we may expect to feel the weight of his hand upon our South-western border. Nothing will be easier than to pick a quarrel with us on the Eio Grands, should open war be his policy; but eur impression is that we are the Rio Grande, should open war be his rebel population and their sympathizers than from his armed forces.

Many learned men are of the opinion that Napoleon is the prophetic Prince of whom it is said, "By reace shall be destroy seeny;" but, without protending to offer any topinion as to that, we may point to the significant facts, that he set out in his imperial carser with the motto, "The Energy for Preser," and that by his consummate skill, and with comparatively little war, he has manged to get Europe more under his thumb than his nucle ever had it. By "peace" had been contrived to throw his mental legal tendered in it, having the same than the second to the saint legal tendered in it, having a series and helpless vassal in his hands.

The Court decided that it is one of the attribution to throw his mental legal tendered in it, having the same than the second to the saint legal tendered in it, having a series and helpless vassal in his hands.

There is a conflict of anthority in New practical benefit in temporizing over a subject which had already been disposed of virtually by current events.

"Mr. Swam was more distinct and emphatic in his declarations. He declared the immediate emancipation the only remedy, and avowed the intention of himself and friends to push the steed of emancipation with whip and spur, until every valley and every full-top shall feel the tramp of his glarious mission, and the whole State of Maryland, from its centre to its circumference, shall be awakened to an edict of universal emancipation."

State or Local Taxation of U. S. Stocks.

There is a conflict of anthority in New Yellows, in Stocks held by banks. Congrass passed alaw stocks held by banks. The banks in the superment of the control of the control of the state of the control of the contr then carried to the Court of Appeals, where it is now pending. Meantime, the Reselver of Taxes has made fortible collection of the taxes from the hunks. The case is an important case, as it involves the question of power on the part of State Legislatures to tax stock which by act of Congress are exempt. Is is said the Hudson Bay Company have changed their exclusive policy which has so long beaud up the vast and fertile region under their chapter, and have thrown open 100,000,000 acres of fertile hand to settlement.

Processes in Arkapsa.—Arkapsas is coming out glorisuity. A Little Rock corsespondent of the St. Louis Democrat writes on the 10th, that the State convention in session at the place has representatives of 27 counties, in fifteen of which elections were held without the presence of a single soldier. The vote was heavy, one county casting 480 votes at their election, which in peace times cast 890. It Evry delegate is in favor of the abolition of slavery. The same of Cromwall can be constalled in the constally into the ground. Several valuable ("veins" have been struck. No doubt this is substantially the plan of the rebels. General Grant is no doubt awake to the plots which the enemy is laying for his destruction. He knows what no one can deny, that Longstreet is an indefatigable, coursgeous and capable officer, with whome it will not do to triffe. He is a wary for any day of the opening of the specters of Minstey.
