not hitherte been behind the very chiefest in giving brave hearts and generous contri-We are called upon now to outdo all ing accounts reach out ears of what other every soldier's heart in the country to beat a prouder march against his blue coat as he looks at the figures, and says to his conrades, "Emitty faces may be up there is old Pittsburgh, but mighty hig hearts." Now, Mearrs. Editors, to secomplish the desired result we must eslist everybody. Trerybody, I say—old and yonag, rich and poor, big and little, handsome, or—like your corresponders, compelled to quote dear Aunt Primrors fer consolation, "handsome is that handsome doer"—but everybody must put their hearts in their hands, and their hands at work for the Great Fair.

And now, sir, to enlist the heartiest cooperation of every one who can work or give, a number of ladies request me to propose that we throw to the bress two dage, in-scribed respectively, "Sanitary Commission,"

"Ohristian Commission."
These two noble charities, working in brotherly fellowship side by side, have equal claims upon us, are each deserving all the aid we tan bustow. Which of the two stands we tan the public estern, it were invidious to inquire, even were it possible to determine. They are both doing what they can for the soldier, and doing it wisely, helping each other, too, with generous, unsparing hands, as your correspondent can testify from experiout to the "field harpital."

Kach of these "Commissions" has troops of friends, laving not one the less, but the other more. —Let us call them all together ender the intertwined flags! Let there be the same cardial working together, the same unity of aim, the same readiness to divide labor and means among us, that I have eften seen between the agents of these two most noble charities in the study, and, my word for it, we will double our success. I am confident, sir, that these fading anyress the wishes of thousands throughout the city and country adjacent. Common Pleas.—Yesterday the Court discours augusts. I am confident, sir, that these ladies "appress" he wishes of thousands throughout the city and country adjacent. Many in the country district, depending for lass mainly apon the weekly religious newspaper, are better acquained with the tabors and study of the Orbitalian Commission. An appeal to them partly in its behalf would meet with a readier response.

Will the Managers not consider the proposal?

At Colliersville, on the lith of October, this Estalland, and four companies of the 66th Indiana, was attacked by Gen. Chalmers with a force of 3,254 men and nine pieces of artillery. Although the numerical disparity was so large, this force was held in check for five hours, and finally driven off. For its unfinching courage and daring on this occasion, the Estallation was complimented by General Sherman. On the field at Musion Ridge, though-reduced in numbers, it nobly sustained the reputation it had won on ester fields. To have awarded the first honor at Vicksburg, in terms so flattering, is an endorrement than which there could be no higher, and afford a guaranty to all who may enlist in this Regiment, that they, indeed, associate themselves with brave men and officers.

Mr. Long ristled the cattle yards at East Liberty, and from the description he had received of Baker, had no difficulty in recognizing him. He was arrested and brought into the city, and during the evening a number of persons who had been swindled out of the fir horses arrived from Indians, in search of their preperty. It appears that Baker represented to citizens of Warraw, Indians, that he had been authorized by substantial parties to purchase a number of known, and the week house, and it is said that two of the will can describ the wind and the representation succeeded in procuring two can loads, with which he started East. After his departure acception was sroused, and inquiry into his financial condition being made, the fact was revealed that he was endeavoring to perpetrate a stupendous swindle.
