Interesting from Kentucky—Governor Bramlette on the Right Track Again.

A dispatch from Lexington, Ky., to the Cincinnati Gazette, dated Tuesday, says that Gov. Bramlette, Hon. Archie Dixon and A. G. Hodges had left for Washington to assure the President that there will be no opposition to the enrollment or drafting of slaves in Kentucky. We have also the gratifying intelligence, that these gentlemen do not represent the Guthrie-Prentice-Copperhead party of Kentucky.

Strength of Our Armies.

There are immense differences in the estimates of the number of men now in our armies. Some (says a Washington letter) make out that we have less men than we had a year ago, and some that we have more. The figures at the office of the Provost Marshal General show an increase of 406,000 to the armies since the 1st of January, 1863, there having been added 531,000 and lost 125,000. The official figures are as follows:

Enlistments from January 1 to Nov. 1, 1863	63,000
From Nov. 1, 1863, to Jan. 14, 1864	110,000
From Jan. 31 to Feb. 29, 1864	70,000
Product of the draft of 1863	40,000
Deserters returned	28,000
Invalid corps	25,000
Re-enlisted veterans	100,000
Black troops	70,000
Total	531,000

The Washington correspondent of the New York Commercial Advertiser says:

Many statements are being made as to the strength of the Union army, and some profess to be founded on official statistics. Your correspondent begs leave to record, as his individual opinion, that on the first day of April the armies of the Union will be seven hundred thousand strong, and a large proportion of them veteran soldiers.

Sherman's Expedition.

Prof. THE. ESOOK, of Ann Arbor, late U. S. Consul to Munich, was at Vicksburg when Sherman's expedition returned. He thus describes it:

I have seen in Europe moving sypsies; I have seen the poor peasant family with all their earthly possessions loaded on a little cart, to which was harnessed an ass, a dog, a man, his wife and several children, but until this rebellion predicted them, the world had never beheld such a scene as this. Here are wagons, carts and buggies drawn by horses, mules and oxen. There go 15—20 little negroes with their mothers and their effects bound up in little bundles and thrown into wagons together, the black heads stick out from among whitish bundles of rags. O for a photograph of some of the richer specimens of this train!

There goes a covered buggy, drawn by a horse driven by a colored women surrounded by two curly-headed brats, peeping out from among bundles of clothing. Beyond goes a covered carriage, which, so far as I could see through the windows, was loaded in the same way. It was like a bouquet with a napkin thrown over it. We had to imagine the beauties from our knowledge of the flowers which composed it. "Turn about" is said to be "fair play," and it naturally occurs to me that while these negro women are taking their turn at riding in carriages, some of their late substresses may be taking theirs on foot.

Death of Dr. Franklin Bache.

Dr. Franklin Bache, the oldest great grandson of Benjamin Franklin, and a distinguished member of the medical profession, died at his residence in Philadelphia, on Saturday afternoon, after a short illness. Dr. Bache was born in Philadelphia on the 25th of October, 1792, and was the oldest son of the oldest grandchild of Benjamin Franklin.

In 1810 he graduated as Bachelor of Arts at the University of Pennsylvania, and four years later graduated in the medical department of the same institution. The year previous he entered the army as Surgeon's Mate, and the following year was appointed a full Surgeon, a position he occupied for two years, when he resigned and commenced a private practice in Philadelphia.

From 1824 to 1828 he was physician to the Walnut Street Prison; from 1825 to 1832 a Professor of Chemistry in the Franklin Institute; from 1829 to 1839, a physician to the Eastern Penitentiary; from 1831 to 1841, Professor of Chemistry in the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy; and in 1841 he was appointed a Professor of Chemistry in the Jefferson Medical College, the duties of which office he ably and faithfully performed up to the day that he was taken sick with the disease which resulted in his death.

The Fight at Yazoo City.

An officer who was, in the recent fight at Yazoo City, says it was one of the best contested and most desperate of the war. The Union force consisted of the Eleventh Illinois, Col. Schofield, Col. Coates' Eighth Louisiana (colored), and 200 of the First Mississippi cavalry, Col. Edward Catband (colored). The enemy had eight regiments, under command of Ross and Richardson. The fight commenced at 8 a. m., and lasted nearly till dark, when the enemy retired. Three hundred of the Eleventh Illinois were surrounded in a small fort on the bluff outside the town. A storm of shot and shell was poured upon them all day, when a summons was sent to them to surrender. They replied that they didn't know what surrender meant. The remainder of the Union force was in town, where they were met by the enemy, who had gained cover of some of the buildings. The contest raged for three hours, when the enemy retired. The gunboats were in the river, but could render but little assistance. The colored soldiers fought bravely, and sometimes with desperation.

Gen. Burnside's New Expedition.

An Annapolis letter of the 19th inst., says:

"I have it from reliable military authority that Burnside's second expedition will be organized here. Capt. French, one of the General's staff, who has been in this city several days, has caused to be surveyed and laid out sufficient ground for the encampment, on the lands of Judge Brewer, Dr. Alfred G. Welch and Elisha C. Taylor, about two miles from the city and near Camp Parole.

"I learn there will be at least fifty thousand troops here in the course of a few weeks. The 48th Pennsylvania volunteers have just arrived in the steamer Georgia. The 10th and 21st Massachusetts are expected to-morrow. Our little city is again quite lively. Merchants, boarding houses, hucksters, &c., have replenished their stock in trade, ready to embrace the opportunity to make money."

Rebel Deserters Not to be Committed to Prison.

The Washington Star says:

"Hereafter deserters from the rebel army coming within our lines are not to be committed to prison if they prove to be bona fide deserters, but will be dismissed upon taking the oath, and furnished with transportation north, or employment on the various fortifications. Within a week past some three or four hundred have been released from the old Capitol, and sent to Philadelphia and New York."

Labor and Idleness.

Notwithstanding that mechanical labor in Washington city commands from three to four dollars per day, the city is overrun by a set of stout-armed and sturdy aspirants for place, who will take a low grade clerkship worth $600 per annum, or even a watchman's situation, rather than earn more money by honest toils. The Government should make it a necessary recommendation to appointments to civil office, that the applicant should serve at least three years in the army. That would empty Washington of office-beggars, if it did not fill the ranks of the army.

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

NEW YORK, March 22, 1864.

The political contest, even now, before the candidates are nominated, is waxing warm. The adherents of McClellan, of whose nomination there does not seem to be the least shadow of doubt to the New York Democracy, have already manufactured their "pyramid," and the name of the Old Key Stone forms the pedestal! The contemplated split, occasioned by Gen. Fremont's determination to run as a German stump candidate, is also to lose us those more closely contested States, New Hampshire, Connecticut, California, Illinois, and some others, leaving Father Abraham with two States, Massachusetts and Vermont. We shall see!

By-the-by, that lively hauling over the coals of Judge Woodward, performed by Messrs. Kelly and Broomall in the House yesterday, will have no bad effect. The transparent efforts of Mr. Skiles and Mr. Mallory to convince the House that "as it [the alleged conversation] was before hostilities commenced, there was no harm done," are not looked upon as a good excuse. There are scores of McClellan men within my own sphere of action who cannot endorse the General's choice for Governor of Pennsylvania. The "unwashed" are more anxious than ever to see the platform erected for them by their wiseacres, and if George B. is compelled to run by the side of peace resolutions (or war resolutions either, it doesn't matter,) it is pretty certain that they will have about all they can struggle with to patch up their own split, and let our own expected one alone.

Everybody seems to be in good spirits over the opening of the spring campaign. Not one in ten knows what a campaign is, or if he does, he is ignorant of where the first blow will be struck. There is a general confidence manifested in General Grant here. Occasionally croakers who think we are too apt to measure ability by success, are to be met, but the generality of the people think he cannot be allowed to "build that side-walk" up in Galena yet. The general's rapid flying about from east to west, and west to east, has disturbed the "plans" of our far seeing geniuses, who fight all sorts of difficult battles on paper every Sunday morning; and it is to be hoped that the traitors south of his lines are in the same mental predicament. The Army of the Potomac, if it has received no recruits other than those sent through this city, must now contain at least double the number opposed to it. When he "moves on the enemy's works," may we find a sort of Oriental Vicksburg, an Eastern Donelson.

A human landmark in the person of Mr. Eben Merriam, better known to New Yorkers as "E. M.," has passed away, the gentleman having died at his residence on Brooklyn Heights on Saturday. Mr. Merriam was a great meteorologist, never sleeping over three hours at a time, but rising at different hours of the night to "make observations." It was his custom to communicate the results of his observations to the people through the daily papers above the very mentioned initials. His researches are truly valuable to statisticians and scientific men, and are shortly to be published in book form.

A bill was introduced into our Legislature, the object of which is to permit husband and wife (particularly the latter) to be witnesses in certain cases. It is supposed that the bachelor Wing of the Houses will go solidly against allowing women to talk any more than they now do; but the bill must be put through some way, for there is no definite rule on the subject. Our Courts hold different views on the question, and confusion and uncertainty necessarily follow. The rights of married women have so far recognized as to permit them to hold property in their own name, and having gone thus far, it is urged that it is absurd to deny them the means of protecting their interests in Courts as witnesses.

Official returns from fifty-two counties give a majority, for the proposed amendment to the constitution allowing soldiers to vote, of 163,547. The complete returns will swell these figures to 180,000, quite enough for our friend, the Tribune, which revels in cracking majorities.

Jersey justice and Jersey lightning have a world-wide celebrity. A soldier, while on guard, shot a citizen for smuggling liquor to the troops, at the Jersey depot not long since. He was arrested in Philadelphia, and attempted to excuse himself for fooling by remarking that if the New Jersey laws were as strengthy as her apple-jack, he should not stand much chance!

A resolution before the New York Common Council, to provide a large number of the reports of Generals Hooker and Meade for the use of that body, was passed unanimously last week. An amendment to insert General McClellan's name was disagreed to. What does it mean?

News and Miscellany.

THE ALABAMA IN EAST INDIA WATERS.—The following is an extract of a letter written by Dr. Winslow, of Mobile, January 27, 1864:

"We learn that the Alabama, which has been lately at Singapore, has destroyed three more federal ships since she was there, and is going on to Bombay. I have written two articles for the newspapers here, against her proceeding in having burnt about fifty ships at sea, which have caused one of the editors to acknowledge that such doings are abominable."

AN INDIAN ON THE STAFF.—The Captain E. S. Parker, Assistant Adjutant General on the staff of Lieutenant General Grant, is Ely Parker, of this State, the Head Chief of the Six Nations, and so long as Ely Parker is known as a promising engineer on the public works of this State. He has spent several years past in Galena, the residence, of General Grant, where he had charge of buildings in process of erection by the Federal government.—N. Y. Commercial.

LOYALTY IN ARKANSAS—ALBERT PIKE TENDERS ALLEGIANCE.—Official advices received from Arkansas state that there is a steady return there of citizens to their allegiance, many prominent rebel officials being among the number. General Albert Pike has, it is averred, made overtures for an amnesty.

SEVERAL refugees from Rockingham county, Virginia, have just arrived in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. They left early in February, and after much suffering succeeded in passing the rebel pickets and getting into our lines. For several consecutive nights they camped in the woods without shelter or food.

A WORKMAN named Jenson, who superintended the wharf at Flensburg, was compelled to take down the Danish flag and hoist the Schleswig Holstein flag. He was so overwhelmed with shame that he died shortly after of an attack of apoplexy brought on by his distress of mind.

AT a recent Presidential banquet, Mr. Lincoln is reported to have said, as the Major Generals were looking about as though somebody else was expected, "Gentlemen, this is the play of Hamlet with Hamlet left out. We expected Grant here, but he couldn't stay.

THERE is now but one secessionist paper published in Arkansas, and that is edited by a very honest, good sort of a man, whose conversion is strongly hoped for. His success, pecuniarily, is said to be far from brilliant.

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN.—The Catalogue of this institution shows 850 students in the University; of these 221 are in the Law Department; 240 in the Medical and 295 in the Undergraduate Course.

NEWFOUNDLAND is said to be a country without a reptile, and the Chattanooga Gazette says Vallandigham is a reptile without a country; he ought to "move" to Newfoundland.

THE receipts of the American Bible Society for the year ending with this month will exceed $500,000—$100,000 larger than any previous year.

DIPHTHERIA is fatally prevalent in some parts of Vermont. In the town of Somerset fifteen persons have died of the disease within a brief period.

NEW YORK city has a church for every three thousand inhabitants; a groggery for every one hundred.

NATIONAL BANKS IN CALIFORNIA.—The Californians who have organized and are organizing National Banks, expect to be well repaid for their investments. They figure thus: For seventy dollars in gold they can obtain a bond which will enable them to issue bank notes to the amount of one hundred dollars; they will receive six per cent. interest on the bond; and they will receive the legal State interest, ten per cent on their notes so issued; in other words, sixteen per cent. per annum upon every seventy-odds originally invested, or something above twenty-two and a half per cent. At any rate, such are their calculations.

WE have a rumor from Memphis that the 16th and 17th Army Corps are under orders to join the Army of the Potomac. Also, that the troops under General Burnside have been ordered to that Department. We are not able to vouch for the correctness of these reports. —Chicago Journal.

The Remains of Col. Dahlgren—Severe Storm.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The Star has the following: The steamer Baltimore, acting master Bidwell, which left here on Friday morning with the remains of Dahlgren, went down to Fortress Monroe expecting to receive the body of his son, arrived up this morning with the Admiral on board, he having been again unsuccessful in his mission.

The flag of truce boat which was due at Old Point on Tuesday afternoon did not arrive until Saturday afternoon, on account of the steamer Baltimore having to lay too off Old Jamestown Island, during Tuesday night.

The boat brought down a number of wounded soldiers, but did not bring down the body of Col. Dahlgren, as expected. Colonel Ould, the Confederate agent for the exchange of prisoners, sent a verbal message, stating that the man who had buried the body could not be found in time to get the body ready for transportation, but he would be sent down as soon as possible. This promise of one of the officers at Old Point and the numerous relatives and friends of the deceased the hope that the remains will shortly be delivered to the afflicted father and his family.

Hay Burnt.

PORTLAND, March 24.—A store house on Hobart's wharf was burnt last night, containing hay belonging to the Government, with haddings and boxes of shooks.

A BRIGADE General Hays has issued a stringent order prohibiting persons not in the United States service from wearing the federal uniform and also directing the arrest of all soldiers without furloughs, and those whose furloughs have expired. They will be taken to General Hay's office, and thence sent to the army. The enforcement of this order will do much toward removing the disgrace which has heretofore attached to the name, by reason of the large number of runners, stage drivers and others who have worn it. It will also prevent swindlers from cheating soldiers by wearing officers' uniforms and making false representations.

A PROTRACTED "JOB."—It is a noticeable fact that the mixed commission appointed nearly ten years since, to define the limits at the mouths of rivers, within which fishermen of the other contracting party should not enter, has not finished its labors. It is a lucrative business, and the commissioners on either side, with their subordinates, as well as the umpire, have apparently taken as much time as possible, that they might continue to draw their salaries and the incidentals. It will be rather curious if the treaty should be abrogated before the Commissioners are ready to report.
