Union State Convention.

The loyal men of Pennsylvania, comprising the National Union party, will meet in State Convention in the Hall of the House of Representatives, at Harrisburg, on Thursday, April 28th, 1864.

Each district will be entitled to the same representation as it now has in the State Legislature, and the delegates will be chosen at such times and in such manner as shall be directed by the respective county committees.

The State Convention is called for the purpose of placing in nomination an Electoral Ticket, selecting delegates at large to the National Convention of the Union party, to be held at Baltimore on the 7th June next, and taking such action as it may deem proper in reference to the approaching Presidential canvass.

The election of the district delegates from Pennsylvania to the National Convention is left, where it properly belongs, to the people assembled in their county conventions; but the different county committees are earnestly requested to adopt such measures as will secure a full attendance at their respective conventions, and thereby secure, in the choice of delegates, a full and fair expression of the will of the people.

The committee cannot forbear to congratulate all lovers of liberty and the Union upon the recent triumphs of the good cause in New Hampshire and Connecticut, and to express the hope, shared by all loyal men, that they are only the forerunners of more splendid victories soon to be won in the same cause alike by the ballot and the ballot.

Immigration to the United States.

It has been known to our readers for a week or two that Secretary SEWARD has recently addressed a letter to Mr. WASHBURN, Chairman of the House Select Committee on Emigration, recommending the passage of a law to encourage immigration. He proposes to advance to indigent emigrants sufficient money to cover the expense of ocean transit, and pledges the labor of the emigrant for the payment of the loan. It also authorizes the reduction of tonnage duties on emigrant ships, and requires but one year for the naturalization of emigrants. It provides also for the appointment of a Commissioner of Emigration. It is alleged in behalf of this proposition that the Government should extend aid to emigrants, that our consulates are thronged with persons desirous to emigrate, but destitute of means to defray the expense of a voyage, and that the cost of bringing over one hundred thousand emigrants will not exceed a million and a half of dollars.

A dispatch to a Cincinnati cotemporary intimates that this project will not be favorably considered, and for these reasons: first, because the financial condition of the country would not well permit it, and secondly, because the class of emigrants who are really desirable are able to pay their own way across the Atlantic, while under the bounty system proposed by Mr. SEWARD, an immense number of worthless adventurers would be foisted upon us at the expense of the Government. These considerations of course do not apply to the organization of a Bureau of Emigration, which would furnish needed information to emigrants and protect them from imposition. Notwithstanding these objections, however, it is understood that Mr. SEWARD's project is to have a trial in the House before many days—Mr. GRINNELL, of Iowa, having prepared a bill embodying his suggestions.

We have given above all the information that is deemed essential to a proper understanding of the emigration question as it has been presented to Congress. We think the Bureau of Emigration should be established for the diffusion of information abroad and the protection of emigrants after landing upon our shores; also, incidentally, to assist them in obtaining employment. Further than this we do not think it wise to go. We have too recently had an instance in the colonization swindle of the manner in which Government managed emigration matters to warrant the belief that its management of a scheme of immigration would be successful.

The true way to facilitate immigration we hold is, for the Government to circulate correct information abroad touching the wants of our industrial interests and the inducements our country to-day presents to skilled and industrious workmen, and then let associations of capitalists do the rest. By the adoption of this policy the Government will spend but little money; there will be no room for frauds upon the Government, or, what is as bad, criminal mismanagement by its agents; we will import comparatively but few paupers, for capitalists will choose in Europe the workmen they propose to employ and will not select paupers; and, lastly, every branch of industry in need of labor will be more likely to secure through its own agents the workmen it wants than if those agents represented the Government.

The War Democrats.

A correspondent of the N. Y. Evening Post calls the attention of the editors of that paper to an omission in the call for the Baltimore Convention. He says that the call was issued by "the residuary legatee of the Chicago Convention, and although it permits, it does not cordially and openly invite, the members of the old Bell Everett and Breckinridge parties to come in and share its responsibilities and honors. It does not give a fair show to such men as DIX, and DICKINSON, and BUTLER, and HOLT and a host of others, who have abjured the Sham Democracy." We apprehend that there need be no apprehension because of the omission. There is a class of so-called War Democrats who will go for the Chicago nominee, but such true War Democrats as DIX, and DICKINSON, and BUTLER, and HOLT will do nothing of the kind. If such a result were at all possible, we would begin to think that this country was not worth saving, and that faith in men is a foolish sentiment. And if the Post correspondent does not fear that the men named and "a host of others who have abjured the Sham Democracy" are in danger of going over to the Chicago nominee, what political wrongheadedness and perverseness does he fear?

THE PRESBYTERIAN BANNER.—This well-established and influential organ of the Old School Presbyterian Church appears this week, notwithstanding the high price of paper and composition, in an enlarged form. By increasing the length of the pages, two columns of reading matter are added. We understand that this enlargement is in part due to the increased advertising patronage of the paper. We are glad to note the prosperity as well as the enterprise of our neighbor.

Both branches of the Legislature have passed the bill providing for a special election throughout the State on the first Tuesday in August next, at which the people shall decide whether the proposed amendment to the Constitution permitting soldiers to vote shall be adopted. The Legislature is to meet on the 23d day of August to receive the returns.

RESOLUTIONS from many of the leading railroad corporations of the country were presented to the Houses of Representatives on Saturday against the extension of the Goodyear patent.

Congressional Trifling.

FERNANDO WOOD, in the course of a speech in the House on Monday in defense of LONG of Cincinnati, used the remark that "it was humiliating to him as a member of the American Congress to witness this continued trifling from day to day, when the country was bleeding to death for want of remedies, which Congress alone could give." The author of the MARVIN fraud would have the country believe that the New York and Illinois riot party to which he belongs is not responsible for any of this "trifling." He should know that the Round Table, the first literary journal in the country, and published in his own city, among other truthful things last week said this of the riot delegation in Congress from New York:

"We have a word for the delegation from this city. To speak plainly, it is a disgrace to the metropolis. Of the whole delegation, but two members so much as attempt to attend to the proceedings; and these are Mr. Brooks and Mr. Fernando Wood, who may do credit always do credit to their constituency. Here is a case to the point. Last Friday the Committee on Commerce reported two most important bills, one establishing a new method for the admeasurement of vessels, and the other for establishing a new and uniform code of signals at sea. Each of these is of special and endless importance to the subjects by their private and leaders, will, in the end, discover that they are freemen, and ascribe the beneficence to its proper source. They will recognize the Russian government as the author of a change which has relieved them of many grievous burdens, endowed them with important political privileges, and raised their social value and estimation.

This concession may not put an end to the war, any more than Mr. Lincoln's proclamations have put an end to the slaveholder's revolt, but it will unquestionably weaken the force of the revolutionists, and render it easier for the government to prosecute its schemes. But whatever the immediate effect of it on the national war in Poland, every lover of liberty must hail an act which raises millions of people to the condition of freedom, and empowers a populous society to enter upon the methods and ways of progress.—N. Y. Tribune.

Railroad Extension in America.

[From the London Times (city article), March 22.

Proposals have been issued to the existing holders of bonds of the Great Western Railway for subscriptions for £405,000 additional bonds at the price of 70, which will yield interest in sterling at the rate of nearly nine per cent. per annum, and for which they are entitled to a preference. The line has been completed within its estimated cost; and these bonds will constitute the whole of the mortgage debt, to be created on the New York and Pennsylvania divisions. Hitherto the road, although only partially opened, has yielded unusual profits, owing partly to the fact of its being in connection with the great oil district, but more especially from its forming the most convenient and direct route for the large and constantly increasing Western traffic from New York. On its complete opening in May next express trains will be run from New York to St. Louis, one thousand two hundred miles, in forty hours; without break of guage or change of carriages. A large business is likewise being opened up on the line for the supply of coal to Canada. The present bonds are to be redeemable, at par, by means of a sinking fund, in nineteen years.

COPPERHEADS HEADED OFF.—It will be recollected that the copperhead Legislature of Delaware refused to pay that State's proportion of the expenses attending the burial of her soldiers at Gettysburg, whereupon the Governor appealed to the patriotism of the people to raise the amount required by subscription. We are happy to state that the required amount has already been realized, and the Secretary of the State has requested that no more subscriptions be sent. The subject requires no comment, except to say that the rebuke is stinging and most justly deserved.—Gettysburg Star.

THE report of Adjutant General Townsend relative to nine months men states that, under the act of July 17, 1862, there were received into the nine months class, eighty thousand and eighty-nine men, of whom sixty-one thousand two hundred and five were militia. Twenty-five thousand dollars in bounty were paid to volunteers accepted under the act. By mistake of mustering officers and paymasters, bounties were paid to three thousand nine hundred and thirty-four Vermont nine months militia.

CONFISCATION.—The United States District Attorney at New York has taken possession of three hundred and sixty-six shares of the Maysville and Lexington (Ky.) railroad, valued at $50,000, the property of Captain W. W. Hunter, of the Confederate navy, the same officer who is said to have been in command at Galveston when the Harriet Lane was captured.

An eagle has been shot in Bristol, Maine, which was a famous sheep stealer. He was a big one, measuring ten feet from tip to tip.

First appearance in Pittsburgh of Mr. CHARLES WILKINSON.

Apart from the undeniable literary excellence of the drama and the brilliant dash with which Mr. Adams invests the character of Landry, as played by him for sixty consecutive nights in Philadelphia and Boston, the plot of the Dead Heart, is alone sufficient to establish its interest with the audience.

This evening will be presented for the first time in Pittsburgh,
