We have already adverted briefly to the action of the Methodist Episcopal Churchin dealaring slawsholding to be incompatible with membership in that body; but the subject is of too much importance to be passed over briefly.

This church had always the advantage of a mominal anti-slavery record Wesley was cutspoken in his denunciations of clarery. His nervous phrase characters.

Though the House passed a resolution was cutspoken in his denunciations of clarery. His nervous phrase, character-ling it as "the sum of all villainies," comprehends in the briefest possible space all the hatred of slaveholding which the language can give utterance to; and the Discipline of the church in this country was from the first so outspoken and decisive on that path that, prior to the time when that paint that, prior to the time when much attention. slavery became profitable, it was known out, under the faithful labors of its minisat, under the faithful labors of its minis-re, in the border States.

But, while the Discipline put its han upon thall have a sword, so he shall.

It is well known that there is no extradition treaty between Spain and the United States, and consequently the arrest has given rise to considerable actionent. The Government has resumed the whole responsively provided in the state of the state of the bady upon Slavery. But in that year the ultra Southern members, with something of prophetic ken, anticipated what was sure to come, and seceded, build.

Bed on board a vesset and taken to account it wells well known that there is no extradition treaty between Spain and the United States, and consequently the arrest has given rise to consederable actionent. The Government has resumed the whole responsibility of the affair, and theofficial correspondence has been published. It seems that in November last, Mr. Savage, Vice Capaul General of the United States, and consequently the arrest has given rise to consederable actions. The Government has resumed the whole responsibility of the affair, and theofficial correspondence has been published. It seems that in November last, Mr. Savage, Vice Capaul General of the United States, and consequently the arrest has given rise to consederable actions. The formation treaty between Spain and the United States, and consequently the arrest has given rise to consederable actions. The formation treaty between Spain and the United States, and consequently the arrest has given rise to consederable actions to co what was sure to come, and seceded, building up what was afterwards known as the Southern Methodist Episcopal Church. This was not in consequence of any overt act of agreesion; but they saw the growing hestility of the Northern Methodists to slaveholding, and that, in course of time, they would either have to go voluntarily or the more stringent enforcement of the proled out; and so they look time by the United States and Great Richard, for the more stringent enforcement of the slaveholding, and that, in course of time, they would either have to go voluntarily or the price large was also instructed to inquire into the particulare of the landing of the elaves, and in March learned from the Captain-Gorence of the tastes, and in March learned from the Captain-for secession sixteen years before thir political so-adjutors undertook to follow the particulary. The Leutenantfor secsion sixteen years before their political co-adjutors undertook to follow them.

But they did not take all the South with them. The Border State Methodists romained with the North, and, up to the prosent time, have been able to prevent, with the sid of the conservative sentiment in the North, any change in the Discipline.

At last, however, the end has come. Slaveholding has maturally culminated in secession and war. The "sum of all villainies" has developed all villainies within itself, since the last session of the General Conference, and now, at the earliest period possible in the frame work of its organization, the Church sets the emphatic seal of its condemnation upon the erime of slaveholding. Henceforth there is one more large and induential body of Christians in which no slaveholder canclaim membership.

And 'net ene only; for here comes the Old School Presbytarian Church to keep their Methodist brethren company. This church, equal to the other in its numbers and influence, and as strongly characterized by its seal and fabors in the cause of the Master, has had an anticalavery record of year cancelled the most wall of indictment against Mr. Michodist brethren company. This church, equal to the other in its numbers and influence, and as strongly characterized by its seal and fabors in the cause of the Master, has had an anticalavery record of the President. This of course exhance of the church and the nation, the fathersput upon the record the most manly niterances against slavery, which no temptations have induced their children to repeal. They thon, and did not attempt secession. They have not been able to attend the meetings of the Assembly for some time past; and seren if they had been, or were even now present, such is the power of the rising tide of anti slavery sentiment, they would find themselves swept away by it. ports as were lately made to the General Assembly on this question by its committee. It places that branch of the church most decisively upon the side of Freedom, and helps us to trace more clearly the gradually narrowing lines within which slavery is to find its death.

We heartily rejoice in these manifesta tions. The Church, it is true, is doing no more than its dety in making them; but there is none the less cause for joy in the fact that it is equal to the duty imposed upon the fact that tis equal to the duty imposed upon it. It gives voice to the sentiment of the mation, which feels and knows that slave holding is a crimo—a crime which the laws may legalize, but cannot the carriers but cannot the carrier, but cannot committee the committee.
