The Reading Matter on this Page is from Yesterday's Evening Edition

THE news which we had yesterday from Richmond papers, of General Hunter's success in an encounter with the rebel General Jones, whereby we learned that Hunter had occupied Staunton, on Sunday, and the rebel force, having lost their General, had retreated to Waynesboro, which commands the pass in the mountains between Staunton and Charlottesville, gives us promise of important events in that quarter, if we consider the situation. General Crook was within fifty miles of Staunton a week ago, and we presume he has formed a junction with General Hunter. What the course of the Union forces would be from Staunton, we do not know, but Hunter will either move direct against Gordonsville, or strike for Lynchburg. One or the other will be necessary to sever railroad communication between Gordonsville and Richmond via Lynchburg. The performances of this army will have a very important influence in support of Gen. Grant's operations before Richmond. The combined armies of Hunter, Crooks and Averill furnish a formidable force for co-operative undertaking.

The Rebel Rams in England.

The settlement of the controversy about Mr. Laird's steam rams, by their purchase by the British government, seems to have been a source of great satisfaction in England, and will be such in this country as well. It is practically a defeat of the rebels, not only in depriving them of a chance of having on the seas vessels with which they might perhaps, even venture to attack our blockading fleets, but in preventing what they have striven most assiduously to bring about, viz: a collision between our country and England. There can be no doubt that the wisest men in both countries felt that there was possible danger that such a collision might spring out of some such cause. We, therefore, are very ready to rejoice over the result of this very pleasant and complicated affair." It is an indication to us that the English Government is really desirous of performing the obligations of that neutral position which they assumed. It seems also to indicate a feeling among the sympathisers with the rebellion in England, that their hopes for its success are vain. We are inclined to think that this will prove the end of rebel shipbuilding abroad, so far as England is concerned, and it is quite likely to lead to a similar result in France.

Thus the clouds lift and grow thinner all around our horizon, while they gather with ever increasing darkness over the rebel sky. Their hopes of help from "abroad must be pretty much destroyed; their hopes of success at home we leave to Lieut General Grant and his brave army.

From Rebeldom.

The Richmond Sentinel of the 3d instant, mentions the arrival at Libby Prison of eight hundred and fifty Yankee prisoners, as it styles them, an uncivilized and barbarous mass. It says that on Friday, in all the assaults made by Gen Grant on their right, he was repulsed with great slaughter, that they lost no ground on the right, gained largely on the left and captured nearly two thousand prisoners. It considers the day to have been a happy one for them, but a dark one for Grant, and thinks God that their loss has been very slight. Col. A. D. Moore of the Sixty sixth North Carolina, was killed, and Gens. Law, Lane, Kirkland, and Finnegan wounded. Law's brigade they admit has lost over 400 men. Johnson, after having compelled Sherman to follow him so far, has at last "got him just where he wants him," and is shortly going to show fight. Sherman's "flank movement" he admits has thus far been too much for him, but this time he is determined not to allow him to try it.

THE forged proclamation, regarding the effects of which abroad so many apprehensions were expressed, was taken out by the Scotia, which reached Liverpool, May 27. The telegraphic summaries of the news, forwarded to the press on account of the arrival of the mails, announced that such a document had appeared, and that it was a forgery, so that the hoax, after all, is likely to do less harm than it was feared it might. None of the London papers of May 28; the latest dates received by the China, republish it, and if they have attempted to make any capital out of it against our Government, they will have done so deliberately and with their eyes opened to the fraud.

MORE FALSE PROPHESYING.—The London Times, which said, before the taking of Vicksburg, that Grant was attempting an impossibility, now thinks it would be a "miracle of success" if he reaches Richmond with an effective army. The age of miracles cannot yet be over, for Grant has got to the door of Richmond and has still an army of 200,000 men. A man who, in the Times estimation, can perform impossibilities, and "miracles, might be allowed to execute his work successfully, in his own way, without so many dismal predictions of his failure.

REBEL GENERALS.—Nineteen rebel Generals, the Richmond papers say, have been lost since the beginning of the May campaign in Virginia. Seven were killed, ten wounded, and two captured. Since that publication, the rebels have lost five other Generals. Jones killed, Law, Lane, Kirkland and Finnegan wounded, the last named commanding the Florida troops, and his presence at Richmond proves that the forces recently engaged with Seymour in Florida are with Lee.

REBEL PRISONERS AT WHITE HOUSE.—A Washington telegram says:

Parties just arrived from White House, state that there are over three thousand rebel prisoners, including over one hundred officers, at that point awaiting transportation northward. We have captured between four and five thousand prisoners within the past five or six days.

THE Richmond Enquirer gives a list of 11,130 rebel wounded who have been sent to hospitals from Lee's army, and 3,040 from Beauregard's command. This probably covers about half the total losses. Add then 11,000 taken prisoners by Grant and Butler, and four or five thousand killed outright, and we can approximate to the rebel losses thus far during this memorable campaign.

A SPRIGHTLY OLD LADY.—A lady of Gorham, Maine, aged three score and ten years, went into the field with her hoe, on the 19th ult., covering 1100 hills of corn; drove up her cow, milked them before sunset, and retired to rest in good season.

NO ARMY has suffered more severely than that of the Dukes in the war of the Duchies. It did not exceed 35,000 men as the commencement of the struggle, and the losses are officially reported at 19,473 men, including 300 officers.

SURRENDER OF A DISUNION CONVICT.—A general order from the War Department, just issued, commutes the sentence passed by court martial upon deserters, to imprisonment as Dry Tortugas, Florida, during the war.

THE Siamese twins are still living in North Carolina. One has nine, and the other has eight children. One of the latter is in the rebel army, but the others are either girls or boys too young to fight.

JEWELS to the value of $5,000 were lately sold in England for the benefit of the Polish revolution. They belonged to Polish ladies, who sacrificed them for the public cause.

Religious Intelligence.

OLD SCHOOL PRESBYTERIAN GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

NEWARK, N. J., May 30, 1864.

TENTH DAY.

After the usual devotional exercises, the report of the Committee on Correspondence was adopted. Delegates were appointed to the General Assemblies of the New School, Cumberland, and United Presbyterian bodies, Genl. Synod of Ref. Prot. Dutch Church, and Associate Reformed Synod of New York.—Rev. D. Elliott, D. D., is delegate to U. P. Genl. Assembly and was received and read. A committee was appointed to prepare a new book of psalms, Rev. Dr. Krebs, chairman. The remainder of the session, as well as the one in the afternoon, were occupied in discussing the case of Dr. McPheeters, of St. Louis.

ELEVENTH DAY.

Shortly after the session opened, Dr. Brookenridge reported several items from the docket of the Committee on Overtures and Bills, after which the case of Dr. McPheeters was taken up, and debated, occupying the session of the forenoon, afternoon and evening, without reaching final action.

TWELFTH DAY.

Immediately after the usual religious services, Rev. Dr. J. Orcutt presented the claims of the American Colonization Society. The case of Dr. McPheeters occupied the morning and afternoon. In the evening the case was further discussed, after which the following decision was made: For sustaining Dr. McPheeters' complaint, 47; not sustaining, 117.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

Committee on the Docket reported seven Judicial cases. Committee on Bills and Overtures reported several papers. Among the number was one recommending the appointment of a Special Committee on revising the Form of Government and Book of Discipline on the subject of the Constitution of Church Appeals, to report to the next Assembly. Overture No. 69 reads: "Is the Baptism of the Campbellites or "Disciples" valid?" Answer in the negative. Thursday, September 1st, was designated as a day of humiliation, fasting and prayer, or such earlier day as the President may designate. Resolutions of fraternal regard for the New School body were adopted. Dr. Taylor, one of the Secretaries of the American Bible Society addressed the Assembly. Two committees were appointed, one at Philadelphia and the other at Indianapolis, to have charge of the Assembly's efforts for the instruction of Freedmen. Publication of the Church Commentary was indefinitely postponed. After the usual vote of thanks, followed with some closing remarks, the Assembly was dissolved, and another meeting of the General Assembly be directed to meet in Pittsburgh on the third Thursday in May, 1865.

NEW SCHOOL GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

DAYTON, Ohio, May 28, 1864.

After devotional exercises the Mileage Committee reported that $8,541 had been received. This sum was appropriated to paying the bills of the members and contingent expenses of the Assembly. Committee on Church Records reported favorably. The report of the Committee on Publication called out a long and animated discussion. The Permanent Committee on Publication were directed to revise the Church Psalmist. The subject of Home Missions was ably and thoroughly discussed. The churches were urged to contribute liberally this year —notless than $150,000. Committee on Publication were directed to issue a monthly of not less than 24pp. 8vo., to be the organ of the Assembly for its various Permanent Committees. Special Committee on the tercentenary anniversary of the decease of Calvin presented a highly laudatory report. Church Extension Society reported. In the evening the Assembly celebrated the Lord's Supper.

EIGHTH DAY.

The consideration of the report of the Committee on Church Erection was resumed, and after a long and earnest discussion on the mode of disbursing the fund, the proposition to increase the amount of loans to feeble churches on certain conditions, was referred finally to the next Assembly. Committee on the Narratives reported that fifty churches had enjoyed revivals of religion, and the feeling in others is deepening daily. Twenty-three members have died during the year. The Special Committee on Missions and Public Libraries favored the edition of manses and the erection of libraries whenever needed and practicable. The report of the Special Committee on Sabbath Schools brought out prominently in the speeches the necessity of a closer and more vital, as well as a more distinct organic union of the Sabbath School with the Church. The Committee's key note to the other four and to the whole is, it belongs to the pastor and elders to take charge of the young." When the report on Correspondence was before the body, some favored the views that delegates should pay their own expenses, but it was decided to defray all the necessary expenses of the delegates. The cause of Temperance was renewedly commended to the Churches. Delegates to thirteen Corresponding bodies were appointed.

SIXTH DAY.

The American Bible Society and the American and Foreign Christian Union were commended to the support of the churches. The remainder of the session was occupied in considering the report of the Committee on Bills and Overtures, reading communication from Rev. E. M. Smith, D. D., and hearing the report of the delegates to the General Synod of the Reformed Presbyterian Church. Thanks were tendered to Germany, and entitled to them, after which the Assembly was dismissed to meet next year in Brooklyn, N. Y., in May, 1865.

The Rebel Raid into Kentucky.

Speaking of Morgan's raid into Kentucky, the Cincinnati Gazette says:

"Precisely what this invasion means we are not now prepared to say. It may be intended for something more than a mere horse-steal ing operation. It is the opinion of prominent Union men of that State that it does mean a great deal more; that State officials not only do not object, but favor it; that this is the beginning of a movement to put into operation the plan proposed by Gov. Jacobs for uniting the communications of Sherman and forcing his army to retreat from Georgia; that it is, in a word, the inauguration of a formidable rebellion in Kentucky—as formidable, at least, as the sympathizers with treason are capable of making it. This point a few days will decide. If the apprehended conspiracy shall be developed; if the sympathizers in the State shall join hands with the invaders, and especially if the civil authorities shall be implicated in this affair, then the troubles of Kentucky will commence, and fire and sword will sweep over the State, devastating and ruining, as Missouri and Arkansas have been devastated and ruined. Whom the Gods would destroy they first make mad." We hope that the Kentuckians are not mad; but if they are destruction will follow. Nothing more certain than this. Hitherto the war has set lightly upon her. Carefully have her interests been protected by the National Government. For this a large portion of her people have been greatly ungrateful. It may be that the sword, which has so long been used to protect individual and State interests, will be used to protect Union men and crush treason. This will be determined by the action of the people themselves. Peace in Kentucky is desirable; but more desirable is the maintenance of the authority of the National Government. The latter will be cared for at all hazards."

A FAIR OF REBEL SHOES.—A resident of Wheeling, who has been to Cloyd's Mountain, the scene of the late fight between Crook and Jenkins, secured a pair of rebel shoes. The soles and heels are of wood, and appear to have been sawed out by machinery. The uppers, which are of very heavy, stiff and badly tanned leather, are nailed upon the wooden soles with large tacks and welts. The shoes are exceedingly clumsy and heavy.

ROBERT J. WALKER is reported to be suffering from feeble health, caused by the effects of an amateur balloon excursion taken in London in October last. The balloon went up very suddenly, and the refraction of the air affected Mr. Walker severely. He has this Spring gone to Egypt to recruit.

THE Government is actively forwarding reinforcements to Gen Grant from Washington. Two steamers left on Wednesday morning with several regiments of 100 days men, including the 143d Ohio.

JUDGE JOHN A. BRYAN, formerly Auditor of the State of Ohio, and Assistant Postmaster-General under Tyler, died at Menasha, Wis., a short time since.

AT a meeting of citizens of Montreal, on Monday last, resolutions of respect to the memory of the late Hon. J. S. GILMORE were adopted.

COLORED AUDITORS IN CONGRESS.—It is not uncommon now to see colored ladies and gentlemen in the galleries of both Houses of Congress.

OUR LINES STILL ADVANCING.

Enemy Within Talking Distance.

GRANT HEAVILY REINFORCED.

ANOTHER RAID BY SHERIDAN

NEW YORK, June 10.—The Herald's correspondent, of the 7th, says that two divisions of the 5th corps occupy a position from the railroad bridge over the Chickahominy to Summers' Bridge, crossing the river two miles above. The enemy's battery is posted on the opposite side, with heavy guns, opened fiercely upon our columns when they moved. They were promptly answered and quieted.

Another correspondent says: Our lines are being somewhat advanced and put in condition for defense. The enemy are within talking distance.

Our ranks are being filled rapidly by reinforcements.

The headquarters of the 5th Corps, yesterday, were shelled vigorously for half an hour. Few men were killed or wounded. About 4 p. m. the rebels made another desperate charge on the corps' works and were disastrously repulsed.

WHITE HOUSE, JUNE 8th, 1864.—Sheridan has gone on another very important raid. If successful, it will be one of the most beneficial and hazardous expeditions of the war.

FROM SHERMAN.

DETAILS OF LATE MOVEMENTS.

Our Army Marching on Atlanta.

THE BATTLE NEAR DALLAS.

NEW YORK, June 10.—A Tribune correspondent details Sherman's movements to June 1st. May 21st and 22d was devoted to rest at Cassville. On the 22d he ordered a move next morning on the direct road to Atlanta. At the Etowah the enemy's pickets and sharpshooters were met with. The army crossed the river and pushed on towards Huntsville, skirmishing on the way, and reached Hickory and Huntsville on the 25th, leaving Allatoona and the rebel forts and big guns miles to the left, thus flanking them.

Towards evening heavy firing was heard in front of Hooker's position. Troops were hurried up, but reached the field after dark, when the firing had ceased, and found that Hooker had suddenly fallen upon the enemy in the swamp and driven him back.

The next morning another skirmish took place, and the rebels were again forced back rapidly, followed cautiously by our troops, when suddenly masked batteries opened with destructive effect on our men, who were out down by the score.

Our loss is between two and three hundred.

Our army was in position in front of the enemy, strongly posted, four miles from Dallas.

The next day the enemy massed for an assault on our works; but half an hour the fight was terrible, and the slaughter of the enemy was great; he was driven back in confusion. At the same time a powerful attack was made on McPherson, on our right; it was repulsed; the enemy losing between two and three thousand men. On the 31st a feeble attack was made by the rebels and they were again repulsed. On Thursday noon we entered Dallas.

SECRETARY STANTON'S BULLETIN.

Nothing Important from Grant.

HUNTER'S VICTORY COMPLETE!

Twenty Cannon, Many Prisoners and Stores Captured.

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, June 10—7 a. m.—To Maj. Gen. Dix:—Owing to a break in the telegraph, no dispatches were received yesterday from the Army of the Potomac.

Dispatches received this morning, dated 9 o'clock last night, say there was no fighting on Wednesday excepting picket firing.

An arrangement is said to have been effected by which the killed and wounded were gathered in.

There were no movements yesterday.

Deserters, who come into our lines, report Hunter's victory, near Staunton, more complete than the Richmond papers reported. They say Hunter took twenty cannon, many prisoners, and a large quantity of stores. The defeated force was recently a part of Breckinridge's command. Hunter's report has not yet been received.

GEN. AVERILL'S OPERATIONS.

His Expedition Highly Successful

NEW YORK, June 10.—The Times has an account of General Averill's operations. In his expedition he appears to have been highly successful. He kept Morgan, with 5,000 men, at Wytheville until Crook had completed his work, and then moved down Crook on the way encountered Morgan, and though outnumbered two to one, found it necessary to make a stand and fight. For hours his gallant little command withstood assault after assault, holding their ground as firm as a rock until dark. Averill then moved off, Morgan not deeming it advisable to follow, and eventually fell in with Crook, after having several skirmishes and meeting a force of 1500 under Jenkins, whom he flanked. At this time his command was entirely out of ammunition.

THE KENTUCKY REBEL RAID.

Railroad Train Attacked near Bayard.

PROBABLE SAFETY OF THE TRAIN.

LOUISVILLE, June 10.—The ordnance train from Frankfort, yesterday, was attacked near Bagdad, by Jenkins' men. Mr. Shanks, a union member of the Kentucky Legislature was killed in the encounter. The railroad men think that the train may have returned safely to Frankfort, as its engine was reversed immediately upon the attack, and the cars proceeded towards Frankfort.

A car of armed soldiers which proceeded up the road last night to learn the extent of the disaster, has not returned, and we have had no telegraph communication with Frankfort since yesterday afternoon.

The Baltimore Nominations to Nashville—Speech of Andy Johnson—The 6th Ohio Volunteers.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The Baltimore Convention nominations are received with much enthusiasm. Salutes were fired. Andy Johnson made an eloquent national speech at the St. Cloud Hotel. Great applause.

The 6th Ohio volunteers will arrive here to-day at route north, to be mustered out of service.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

A Brave Marriage.

The following appears in the Bucyrus Journal of last Thursday:

MARRIED.—At Dorsey's Hotel, in the city of Washington, on Monday, May 30th, 1864, by the Rev. Dr. Smith, Capt. David Lewis, Co. G, 5th Ohio Regiment, and Miss Maggie McCracken, all of Bucyrus.

Our readers will remember that Captain Lewis was severely wounded at the battle in the Wilderness, on May 9th. At the time of his being wounded Miss McCracken was teaching in the Primary Department of our Union Schools, but no sooner did she hear of his being wounded than she wept to take care of him. At the time of his marriage he was strapped to a board unable to turn his body. These present at the marriage were James C. Wetmore, the Ohio State Agent, John Hopley, Esq., and several distinguished men. "None but the brave deserve the fair," is an old adage, and in this case there were certainly two brave souls united.

Court of Quarter Sessions.

Before Judges Mellon and Brown.

The following cases were disposed of this morning:

Jacob Ward, a resident of East Brownsville, was arraigned on a charge of keeping a ferocious dog, on oath of Wm. Davis. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty, and the defendant was sentenced to pay a fine of one dollar and costs.

Margaret A. Fife was charged with assault and battery, on oath of Mrs. Arthurs. A verdict of not guilty was rendered, each party to pay their own costs. Thomas J. Monroe was fined fifty dollars on a similar charge.

John Burke convicted of larceny was sentenced to two years imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary.

OIL REPORT.—We copy the following from the Oil City Monitor of yesterday: The creek navigation has been suspended on account of the big 'jam" of last Tuesday. There is a scarcity of oil in the market. The river is quite low and receding rapidly. There are a great number of teams employed conveying oil from the creek jam to the wharf, the streets being as completely crowded as any streets in eastern cities. The amount of Petroleum on hand is light, both here and at the wells. The roads are in good condition, and teaming in request.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.—James Spry, the young man arrested yesterday morning at the Fair while in the act of picking a lady's pocket, had a hearing before Mayor Alexander this morning, which resulted in his committal to jail to answer at Court. Spray denys the charge, and states that he is "too much of a gentleman to pick a lady's pocket," but the evidence appearing conclusive, the Mayor committed him.

FIRE IN NEW CASTLE.—A fire was discovered in the drying house connected with the Shenango Iron Works, in New Castle, on Tuesday last, and before it was subdued it damaged and destroyed much valuable lumber. The building was capable of containing from 12,000 to 14,000 feet of half inch boards, and is the more severe as the present time on account of the scarcity of lumber.

SANITARY FAIR.—PUBLIC SALE OF AUTOGRAPHIC LETTERS.—A very large and valuable collection of autographic letters by distinguished personages of the present day will be sold at auction in the Ladies' Bazaar to-morrow, Saturday afternoon, at one o'clock. In consideration of the great labor in procuring these contributions, and their own intrinsic value, and the object in view, we predict a large attendance and spirited competition.

EASTERN PAPERS.—J. P. Hunt, Masonic Hall, Fifth street, and J. T. Sample, 85 Federal street, Allegheny, have received the New York Weekly Tribune, Times, Herald, Sun, Mail, etc., this week, also, the New York Independent, Harper's Weekly, Street & Smith's Weekly, the National Police Gazette, etc.

LAND SALE IN PENNSVILLE BY ORDER OF ORPHANS' COURT.—The 44 acre farm of the late Robert Campbell estate, will be peremptorily sold by A. Leppard, at auction, on the premises on Wednesday, June 22, at 10 o'clock. Parties in want of a country place are requested to examine these premises before the day of sale.

SANITARY FAIR.—Our readers should not forget the Floral Hall Concert, on Monday evening next, under the direction of Prof. Shyrock, in Andiences Hall. The concerts given by Professor Shyrock have always been pleasant, and we bespeak for him a good house.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The following resolutions were passed on Thursday night by the Grand Council of the Union Leagues, in session, a copy of which was handed to-day by the President by a committee appointed for that purpose:

Resolved, That the National Council of the Union League of America hereby heartily approve and endorse the nomination made by the Union National Convention at Baltimore, on the 8th of June, of Abraham Lincoln for President, and Andy Johnson for Vice President, and as we are bound by our obligations to do all in our power to elect good and reliable Union men to all offices, and as the nominees of the said convention are the only candidates that can hope to be elected, as loyal men we regard it as the important duty of members of the Union League to do all that lies in our power to secure their election.

Resolved, That this Council also earnestly approve of the platform and principles adopted by said Convention.

Resolved, That we will, as individuals and members of the Union League, do all in our power to elect said candidates.

Representative Washburne, of Illinois, made an adverse report to-day in the House on the memorial of the New York Chamber of Commerce asking encouragement to ocean steam navigation.

Elijah Ward, of the Committee on Commerce, presented a memorial setting forth at length arguments and facts in favor of subsidies for the accomplishment of the objects of the memorialists. The report lies on the table for the present.

The friends of the Bankrupt Bill feel confident that they will to-morrow effect a reconsideration of the vote by which the bill was to-day rejected by only one majority.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The special correspondent of the Tribune, says: The rejection of the Bankrupt bill is not regarded as decisive. It is deferred until December.

BOOKS, ALBUMS, &c.

LATE PUBLICATIONS,

AT HENRY MINER'S.

THE GREAT NOVEL.

HAUNTED HEARTS,

By the author of "The Lamplighter."

Price, cloth, $2 00.

Seven Stories, with basement and attic. By Ik Marvel, author of "My Farm at Edgewood," "Dream Life" etc. Cloth.....$1 75

The Springfield Republican says: "The seven Stories are all charming—a happy blending of truth and fiction—foliage of fancy trained upon a trellis of fact. The Basement and Attic are finely drawn sketches. The Wet Day as an Irish fun, is a romance in miniature. The 'Account of a Consulate' is full of quiet humor, and the whole pleasant book commends itself."
