True patriots who enlisted almost to a man. The brave three hundred returned to Fennsylvania and recraited to the fall compliment of one thousand men, and again returned to the Army of the Camberland, where it is now bravely fighting the battles of Union and freedom, against rebellien and slavery. The maximum I number has again been reduced in the recent hattles of Beasca, Dallas, &c., in Georgia.

Xour flag is doubtless in satch hands, and its present owners together with all the brave soldiers of the Union, are acting on the motto of the streamer your tasts attached to it; "God loves a cheerful giver." Truly are they giving their life's blood to the cause of God and their country. Let our prayers go up to the Thome of Grace for their safety, and success, and let us freely give of our means to help these who are tick and wounded in the holy cause.

FELLE R. BENEOT, Chalrman. PISTSBURGE, Pa., June 20, 1864. To Mr. F. R. Brunet, Chairman Executive Com millee of the Pittsburgh Sanitary Fair:

To Mr. F. R. Brunch, Chairman Executive Committee of the Pittsburgh Samilary Pair.

Dans Siz: I am in receipt of your letter of the Isth inst., on behalf of the Examitive Committee, presenting to the 46th Regiment Pennsylvanis Veteran Infantry, through me, the colors awarded to it at the Fair.

It will be a source of great pleasure to me to convey to the regiment the colors as a token of the high regardents ratined in Western Pennsylvanis for it as a regiment. I thank you so on behalf of those tried velorans who I am proud to represent; and assure you that this mark of esteem of the cilisens, particularly those of Pittsburgh, will be properly appreciated by them. Each soldier will thank you. All the members of the regiment will thank you. It will remind them that they are not forgotten at home. I never knew them in any of their hard fought battles to do a synting, else than their duty, even when that duty claimed their lives for the protection of their commy. But, is, when they are reminded by this token of the regard in which they are held here, and that their conduct is fully appreciated, it will revive them in action, and it will be a pleasure to them to know that in offering up their, lives for this glorious Union there are many, yos, very many here at home, who feel keenly their trials, and that although absent fighting the battles of their country, they are exemembered.

These colors will soon be conveyed to the regiment, and also the kind regards entertained for the members comprising it, and, as yon very kindly remarked in your letter to the ladies who so generously donated them to the Fair, that they were "doubtless in good hands," I will answer for those tried vesterant to the ladies.

In conclusion, permit me to again thank you and the miny villens of Pittsburgh who
