D. M. Cook,
Cashier of Bazaar.

NOTE.—The above statement of receipts comprehends only the moneys paid in by the different booths in the Bazaar to the Cashier during the continuance of the Fair. In a few days a supplementary statement will be published, giving additional credits to many booths made up of their outstanding accounts after the Fair closed, and proceeds of sales of goods at auction, etc. In this connection, the Cashier of the Bazaar desires to make a public acknowledgment of the very able assistance rendered him by Messrs. M. A. Emmons and Frank Stevenson. The fidelity and strict attention of the se young gentlemen to the duties of the Cashier's desk during the Fair, merits the highest commendation.

Fiendish Attempt at Assassination.

About four weeks ago, a young man named James Kelly, residing in this city, received an anonymous note, through the hands of a second party, warning him that his life would be taken at the first opportunity, and alleging a reason which we need not mention s. present. That the threat was not an idle one, and that the spirit of murder pervades the mind of the person who wrote the note, appears from circumstances which have subsequently transpired. On Thursday night last, between nine and ten o'clock, as Mr. Kelly was proceeding homeward, and while passing along Wayne street, opposite Wallace's burnt warehouse, he was shot at, but fortunately the would be assassin missed his mark. Not satisfied with this first attempt, the villain awaited another opportunity. On Monday night last, as Mr. Kelly was walking along Hancock street, between Penn and Liberty, he was again shot at—the ball or slug passing through his hat, and within an inch and a half of the head.

A person, supposed to be the guilty party, was seen not long after this second attempt; and a close watch has since been kept upon his movements. It is to be hoped that he will soon be discovered and made to suffer the penalty which his dastardly crime deserves. If another attempt is made upon the life of Mr. Kelly, the villain making it may not succeed so well in escaping justice as he has done heretofore.

Death of Major Montgomery.

Major Samuel Montgomery, a native of Westmoreland county, and brother of Major Montgomery, formerly Quartermaster at this post, died in Boston on the 15th inst., aged sixty years. The deceased was commissioned Captain of an independent company by Gov. Wolfe, in August, 1851. Gov. D. R. Porter, in 1843, appointed him Major General of the Thirteenth Division of Pennsylvania Militia. In 1847 he was made Assistant Quartermaster, with the rank of Captain, and went through the Mexican war. In 1854 he was appointed Indian agent in New Mexico. In 1857 he gained the post which he held at his death—Military Storekeeper at the Quartermaster's Department. He was entrusted to join the rebellion, and his refusal to do so was followed by the confiscation of considerable property in Arkansas.

Financial.—We would direct the attention of the public to the advertisement of the Fourth National Bank, which will be found among our new advertisements. This bank, although but recently organized, has become one of the standard institutions of the city. The Board of Directors is composed of some of our most substantial business men, and the President, James O'Connor, Esq., has long enjoyed the reputation of being one of the best financiers in the country. Persons doing business with this institution may rely upon being faithfully and honestly served.

The Wheeling Fair.—The cash receipts of the Wheeling Sanitary Fair amounted to $9,769,50 on the 21st inst.

Alumni of the Western University.

The Alumni of the Western University of Pennsylvania, pursuant to public notice, held a meeting in the University building, Diamond street, yesterday afternoon at three o'clock, for the purpose of organising an association in connection with the Institution. Dr. E. D. Gazzam was called to the Chair, and Alexander M. Watson, Esq., was appointed Secretary.

The Chairman called on Dr. Woods, President of the Faculty, to give a statement in regard to the importance of Alumni Associations. The Doctor stated that they were important in that they tended to the cultivation of a literary taste among the members, and at the same time attached them more firmly to the Institution.

The Rev. D. R. Kerr, D. D, reported the following Constitution, which was unanimously adopted:

1. This Association shall be called the Alumni Association of the Western University of Pennsylvania.

2. It shall be the object of the Association to cherish old college associations, to advance its members in literary culture, and promote the interests of their Alma Mater.

3. The officers shall consist of a President, Vice President, Secretary, and an Executive Committee of five, to hold office for one year, and be elected by ballot.

4. The Association shall hold its anniversary on the day immediately preceding the Commencement Exercises of the University.

5. The exercises of the anniversary shall be an address by one of the members; reports on any subjects assigned to individuals or committees, and such other exercises as will serve to refresh the associations that bind us to the University.

Dr. Kerr was appointed to reduce the constitution to form as the rough draft only was presented, and hand it to the Secretary.

On motion, the Association proceeded to ballot for officers. Much time was consumed with this part of the proceedings, which resulted as follows: For President, Hon. Wilson McCandless, Judge of the District Court of the United States; Vice President, Dr. E. D. Gazzam; Secretary, Alexander M. Watson, Esq., Attorney at Law; Executive Committee, Rev. James Prestley, D. D., L. E. Bayne, M. D., H. Brady Wilkins, Esq., R. E. Sellers, Esq., and Rev. John G. Brown.

On motion of Dr. James Prestley

Resolved, That notice of the anniversary meeting be given by circular, and through the secular and religious press.

On motion of Dr. Mowry

Resolved, That Rev. D. R. Kerr, D. D., be appointed to deliver the first Annual Address.

The Rev. John G. Brown offered the following paper, which was adopted.

Resolved, That every branch of industry in our city, its reputation and morals demand that we should have in our midst a literary and scientific institution of the highest order.

Resolved, That as no college or University can be self sustaining in this country, when there are so many richly endowed institutions, it is the duty of our citizens, who are now enjoying an eminent degree of prosperity, to contribute to the endowment of the Western University of Pennsylvania, that it may become, as it should be, our pride, and our aid in all our interests.

Resolved, That the success it has attained the past few years should stimulate us to make every effort to increase its resources, and thus add to its usefulness and ensure its permanency.

After some routine business Dr. Prestley moved that the proceedings be published by the daily papers, and the meeting adjourned.

Handsome.—We noticed on Friday last, among the thousands of Home donated to the Great Western Sanitary Fair, one lot of the finest leather it has been our fortune to examine for many a year, manufactured and donated by Charles Kiefer, of Eagle Tannery, Spring Garden. In excellence of work, freedom from cuts and scars, quality of workmanship manifested in the tanning, beauty of lustre and finish, this lot of stock constitutes a source of delight to those interested, or curious in such matters. The lot though small was valuable enough to net over $200 of proceeds for the Fair, Mr. Wm. Loughrey, one of our leading Saddle and Harness makers, 102 Wood street, being the purchaser.

Mr. Charles Kiefer has constantly on hand oak tanned harness, fair and black bridle, waxed upper, hip and calf leather. Office, at Day & Hayden's saddlery hardware house, No. 68 Wood street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Railroad Appointments.—John H. Miller, Esq., of this city, long and favorably known in connection with railroads, both east and west, has been appointed General Agent of the Pittsburgh, Columbus and Cincinnati route, and Mr. O. H. Allen is General Superintendent. Mr. Allen's headquarters will be at Steubenville. Mr. Miller's principal office is at Broadway and Spring street, New York, with a branch office at the Astor House.

Corns, Bunions and Diseased Nails

DR. RANDALL.—This eminent Chiropodist, who effected many cures of corns and bunions, is again among us, and is located at 20 Fifth street, over Andrew's tea store. His operations are effections, painless and speedy, and knowing, as all should that comfort in walking is essential to health, those afflicted with these troublesome pests would do well to give the Doctor a call. Mr. Eli Young, and Mr. James Millinger, well known in this community for years, were afflicted with both corns and bunions for a long time. Mr. Eli Young says: Dr. Randall most successfully cured some most painful corns and bunions for me. The cure is effectual, and I consider I made an excellent investment.

Mr. James Millinger writes:—Dr. Randall, a year ago, removed a most painful corn from under one of my toe nails. The operation was perfectly successful. To-day he has removed others, and I have no doubt with equal success, for which I had undergone several unsuccessful operations at the hands of other professed Chiropodists.

On Trial.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. Mary Bilby, accused of stealing $170 in gold from Mrs. Cooley, a resident of the Third Ward, occupied the attention of the Court yesterday, and was not concluded at adjournment. Our readers will recollect that the case was tried at the last term of the Quarter Sessions, and the defendant found guilty, but a new trial was awarded. The prosecutrix was confined to her bed by sickness at the time of the robbery, and alleged that the defendant understood to attend to her, and while profoundly acting the Good Samaritan, relieved her of her money. John M. Kirkpatrick, Esq., appeared for the prosecution, and Marshal Swartzwalder, Esq., for the defence.

REBEL PRISONERS SENT TO INDIANAPOLIS.—The eleven hundred prisoners captured by General Hunter and sent through to Beverly, did not stop at Wheeling as was expected. They crossed at Bonwood and are now en route for Camp Morton, Indianapolis. Among the number was Capt. Imboden, a brother of the Imboden who commanded the troops so badly whipped by General Hunter. The prisoners were greatly fatigued after their long march, and are represented as a hard looking set of vagabonds.

THE SEVENTH OHIO REGIMENT.—This gallant regiment, whose term of service has expired, is expected to arrive in this city in a few days, on their way home. The Seventh was formed in Cleveland, and was commanded by Colonel William Creighton, formerly a resident of Pittsburgh, who was killed in one of the Virginia battles only a few months since. The citizens of Cleveland intend giving the regiment a public reception upon their arrival in that city.

THEATER.—Last evening the Theatre was crowded on the occasion of the benefit of the Treasurer, H. Overington, Esq. We were gratified to see that the beneficiary received such a substantial token of the appreciation of his friends. "State Secrets," "The Dog of the Old Stone Cross," and "Sketches in India" are announced for this evening.

POCKET PICKED.—David Keefaurer, of Allegheny county, had his pocket relieved of a wallet containing over $40 on Tuesday morning, about seven o'clock, while in the vicinity of the depot at Harrisburg. Fortunately the thief did not get hold of a pocket book containing a large sum of money, which Mr. K. had in another pocket.

ALARM OF FIRE.—The alarm of fire last evening was occasioned by the burning of some evergreens, which had been removed from the Fair buildings to the West Common, in this city. The alarm spread to this city, and the steamers visited the conflagration, but fortunately their services were not required

PUBLIC SALE OF GOODS AT THE BAZAAR.—A large amount of the goods left unsold in the Ladies' Bazaar of the Sanitary Fair, were disposed of at public auction, yesterday afternoon. The articles sold brought very good prices, and a handsome amount was realized. Mr. A. Leggate conducted the sale.

WESTERN UNIVERSITY.—The commencement exercises of the Western University were held in the Second Presbyterian church (Dr. Howard's), on to-morrow (Friday) evening, at 7½ o'clock. The public are respectfully requested to attend.

W. A. GILDENSLEEVE, 45 Fifth street, near Wood, sends us Peterson's Ladies' National Magazine for July. It contains the usual literary and fashion variety.

WASHINGTON, June 22, 1864.

LATEST FROM PETERSBURG — GEN. WRIGHT'S HEADQUARTERS SHELLED.

The latest reports from your correspondent with the Army of the Potomac are under date of "Headquarters, June 21." Everything was quiet along the line, except that the rebels developed new batteries of heavy rifled guns across the Appotomax, with which they shelled Gen. Wright's headquarters for thirty minutes. The General and staff escaped injury. Two non-commissioned officers and one private were killed instantly by the explosion of a shell. We opened three batteries on those guns and soon succeeded in silencing them.

It is believed here, from information obtained from prisoners and deserters, that rifle brigades of Ewell's Corps have gone to oppose Hunter.

Petersburg papers of the 18th inst. complain bitterly that our batteries are shelling the town without any warning having been given to the inhabitants, among whom there is great terror.

HEADQUARTERS, June 21—5 a. m.—Some skirmishing took place along the lines yesterday and to-day. No change of position has been made by either parties during last night. The enemy are busy throwing up works at different points, and although our lines reach within three quarters of a mile of the city, they seem determined to hold it till the last.

The Richmond Enquirer of the 18th gives the following version of the late fighting before Petersburg. "The interruption of communication with Petersburg by the advance of the enemy up the railroad on Thursday from Bermuda Hundred shut us off from any positive intelligence concerning the events before Petersburg on that day."

The Enquirer has the following from the Petersburg Express, which gives the rebel account of the engagement:

On Thursday cannonading commenced on City Point road at an early hour in the morning, and was followed by heavy skirmishing, which continued during the forenoon. In the afternoon the infantry assault was made upon Gen. Hoke's front, whose division occupied a position facing the batteries from nine to twelve o'clock inclusive, constituting a most important situation.

The enemy came up in three lines of battle and made three charges, but were at one time repulsed by a heavy fire which blazed from our lines, and which sent the vandals back in confusion. Our men occupied an entrenchments which the enemy had hastily thrown up during Wednesday night, on the right, in the vicinity of Calvary's farm-house. There was heavy firing during the greater portion of the day, but late in the afternoon it became quite severe, the enemy attempting to carry our works by assault.

This portion of the line was occupied in the morning chiefly by our military forces where we regret to hear several severe casualties occurred. As soon as the regular troops could be brought up and placed in position the militia were relieved and sent to Bermuda. Beauregard Johnson's division occupied the breastworks along with the Mason, Georgia light artillery. Other batteries here, as stated above, worked quite briskly. The day advanced, the enemy having raised two divisions, if not more in our front.

Late in the afternoon a charge was made, but the enemy were handsomely repulsed. In the last charge the enemy came within one hundred yards of our fortifications, but our fire was so terrific that they halted, broke rank, and retreated in great confusion, seeking shelter in a ravine about one hundred yards from our lines. Here a large portion of the Yankee brigade, being exposed to an enfilading cross fire from our guns, and not daring to show their heads for fear of being toppled over by our musketry, surrendered to the gallant 17th regiment. These prisoners numbered over 400 men. They say that they were fearfully cut up.

The Inquirer gives quite a list of casualties. Among them is Capt Pegram, son of the rebel Gen. Pegram.

REBEL NEWS FROM CHARLESTON.

An article copied from the Charleston Mercury of last Tuesday says: For the first time during several weeks there was an intermission of the bombardment last Monday. This, doubtless, was owing to the bad weather. During Sunday night seven shells were thrown into the city. The enemy's troops seemed to be actively engaged in repairing damages which the recent rains have caused their works.

"Our Secessionville correspondent writes us from that post: Visitors from Yankee Batteries in the shape of shells are still inconveniently plentiful. On Saturday they threw seven shells from Light House Inlet and ten from Long Island. Yesterday they threw twenty-one shells from the former and seven from the latter. Our batteries responded as usual."

"For some little past it has been known that a batch of Yankee prisoners, comprising the highest in rank, now in our hands, were soon to be brought hither to share the pleasures of Sumter. They accordingly arrived on Monday. The following are their names and rank:

"Brigadier General's Seymour, Wessells, Scammon, Shaler, and Heckman. Colonels Tyler, Hamilton, Hawkins, Lehman, Lagrange, Lee, White, Bellinger, Brown, Dana, and Lardell. Lieut. Colonels Hayes, Hunter, Alcott, Pottsley, Rogers, Burnham, Baldwin, Bartholomew, Cook, Dickerson, Fellows, Glenn, Hallsaks, Spofford, Stewart, Swift, Taylor, Lascell, Joslin, M'Makin, Miles, Maxwell, Mayhew, and Maffit. Majors Clark, Carpenter, Crandell, Grant, Hall, Johnston, Lennes, Baker, and Bates."

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

The Adjutant General has just given an important decision, which will answer many inquiries daily made throughout the country. The principle involved is this: No information must be given by any officer in the United States service, to any person, of any circumstances which can be made the basis of a claim against the Government for pay, pension or other allowance, except it be given as the regulations prescribe, to the Adjutant General or other proper officer of the Treasury or Pension Bureau. Information of sick and wounded officers and men, may be freely given to any one to allay anxiety of friends. The bare fact of death may be communicated to relatives, but not dates, or any circumstances which would be required to be urged in prosecuting claims. Parties interested must satisfactorily account to the office of the Treasury that they are legal claimants, and then this office will obtain and give to those officers all official evidence necessary to perfect it. These rules are to guard the government, as well as lawful claimants, against frauds.

CUSTOM CASES.

In the Senate Mr. Sumner presented a petition from a colored citizen of Washington asking pay for his daughter under the emancipation law. He was himself a slave, but purchased his daughter of his master previous to the passage of the law. The commissioner decided that a slave could not own slave property, and refused him to another curious case which is presented by Johnson. THE GOLD EXCITEMENT!

Meeting of Bankers and Brokers.

NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

NEW YORK, June 22.—The Commercial says the gold market is in a most excited condition. The suspension of public competition has thrown the gold market into the hands of the speculators, and they can make their own prices, and have made it so. It was well known that a large portion of those in its interest were compelled to settle its contracts for the delivery of gold during to-day and to-morrow, and the principle holders therefore held back for a larger advance. The pressure of the speculators increased the anxious of holders, and the pressure continued until noon the brokers were paying 225, and selling at 230. The effect of this state of affairs has been to entirely suspend operations in foreign exchange; operators do not know what to ask and refuse to give any quotations. One large firm in Nassau are asking $150 to the pound sterling. At such rates there can be no offers. 1:30 P. M.—Gold took a downward turn. A large lot was thrown upon the market, at $220, which put down the price suddenly about 15 per cent. At 2:30 the Brokers were buying, at 210, and selling at 220, and at 3:30 about 208.

A meeting of bankers and brokers to-day appointed a
