Masts, spars, ship or resset blocks, 2 per finder, and Gen. JOHN COCHEANE, the Place- only remedy against what threatens to be at Review a man by the name of GLAIBOREE. from their lips are worthy of notice.

Browsson said that 'In 1856 he voted for James Buchanan, and in 1860 he did liles would be reduced to beggary if they the far worse thing of voting for ADRA- should be forced into the ranks-HAM LINCOLN." He was "ready to suppor any man who can defeat the re-election of ABRAHAM LINCOLN." "He did not think a party in this country was strong enough to defeat him that did not contain a great portion of the Democracy. He had Demooratic antecedents and allowance must he made for it." He added that, "If the country could be preserved in no other wan than with the election of GEO. B. Mc-CLELLAN, then let it be so." Mr. BROWNSON was guilty of the singular solecism of stating that, "as for the President's Proclamation, he would not give a fig for it; no slave could defend his liberty in a court of justice by setting that up as a plea," and immediately adding that "he (the speaker) was one of the first to advocate the freedom of the slave as a military necessity, as given by a military order."

CLAIDORNE said that "he was a Demcorat, and had always been, and in all the part of his country stood by the National Democracy, and he expected to stand by its principles in the future. He confessed that if he had thought it was possible to defeat the present Administration by the nomination of one of the old Democratic party, he would have preferred it. But he expected that the Chicago Convention, (to which he was a delegate) would be convened between now and the 29th of August; that to defeat. Mr. Lixcoln would require the union of all men opposed to his opinion. If that convention should come to the conclusion that John C. Farkions can secure eight or nine hundred thousand votes against the Administration, and that to secure the defeat of Mr. Lixcoln, it was necessary to have the vote of the Democracy, he believed that they would follow in the ware of Farkions and Colmans with flying colors. The speaker then referred to the war: "there had been blood enough! Checked that they would convent the defeat of Mr. Lixcoln, it was necessary to have the vote of the Democracy, he believed that they would follow in the ware of the think of the war with a decided the convention of the war. B. McCLELLAN applanded; [prolonged and enthusiastic cheers; | louder was an echo of the name of Jone C. FREMORY; [cheers;] twin cherries from one stalk, that indicated that this meeting favored the great principles of free men and free speech. [Applause]." The rest of his speech was devo ted to a hitter attack on the Administra tion. In fact, there was nothing else in al of the speeches delivered but abuse of the President and patting of the Democrats on the back. The name of JEFF. DAVIS was not once mentioned. Nor was there anything in the resolutions adopted to which JEFF himself, if he had been present, could have objected, while there was much that the Copperheads who were present loudly

Farmont and his body-guard are throwing off the mask. In this their real out runs their discretion. Had they prefended to be opposed to the Copperhead Deme racy, they might have induced a few good Union men to support their ticket at the Presidential election; now, however, there need be no fear that any hearty haters of the Rebellion will longer adhere to the treacherous organization. Their vaulting ambition has o'erleaped itself.

One Year Ago.
The days are dark. Gold is quoted in 240. SHERMAN has not taken Atlanta, GRAND has not taken Richmond, Srungis has met ing Port Hudson, and there were grave doubts about the success of either. Both of glue, to be sold in a liquid state, per guillond, 40 cents. had been severely repulsed in assaults upon the enemy's works. Gold was up to 179. The hearts of loyal men everywher were heavy within them. There was no bright ray visible anywhere upon the hori But in a week-in two weeks-how everything changed! On the lat of July the battle of Gettysburg commenced, and on the 4th, Lzr, with his broken and defeated army, was in full retreat to-Virginia. On the 4th, 100, Vicksburg surrendered, and that strong for-tress, with its garrison of 80,000 men, fell into the hands of Gen. Granz. On the 8th Port Hudson fell, and 5,500 Rebels laid down their arms. Gold at once went down to 125. The people's hearts were gladdened, and there was thanksgiving throughout The situation now is not as grave as it was one year ago. We have met with no disaster in front of either Richmond or disaster in front of either Richmond or Allants. Our armies threatening these places are stronger than those of the Rebols. Why, then, shall not victory again crown our banners! Why shall the gleom of today not be changed into joy to-morrow! Surely there is no good reason why hope should not all every breast, and why the too. $3.50.

The Expected Call for Volunteers. The Government will-soon call for mor nen to keep full the ranks of our armies. The probability is, that the call will be for bree hundred thousand, and that the period f service will be limited to one year. If Mr. Surreys' substitute should be adopted by the Senate, a bounty of $200 will be paid by he Government for volunteers to serve for that time, and sixty days, will be allowed and without distinction of persons.
