SATURDAY.....JULY 2, 1864.

NATIONAL UNION NOMINATIONS.

FOR PRESIDENT:

ABRAHAM LINCOLN, of Illinois.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT:

ANDREW JOHNSON, of Tennessee.

SPECIAL ELECTION, TUESDAY, AUG. 2 1864.

SHALL SOLDIERS VOTE?

"The Peace Democracy."

The peace wing of the opposition party appears to be walking into the lead rapidly. FERNANDO WOOD and VALLANDIGHAM are now the representative men of what was once called the "Democracy." All through the West and Northwest the delegates elected to Chicago are of the ultra peace kind—"peace on any terms" men—and the late Kentucky State Convention, which denounced the war and the Government for carrying it on, and openly avowed sympathy with the rebels, is a fair specimen of the utterances of the party in almost every other place.

It is true that Messrs. ODELL, KERNAN and one or two other nominal "War Democrats" in Congress, spurned, the other day, the lead of FERNANDO WOOD, and denounced him as an enemy to his country; but it must be remembered that these gentlemen represent districts not certain to re-elect them, and so they find it safer (for themselves) to bow to and coincide with the war sentiment than endanger their re election by a premature adherence to the peace platform. They bide their time. If they can hoodwink their constituents into re-electing them on a nominal war platform, they can as conveniently go back upon their promises as FERNANDO WOOD upon his, and give their aid and comfort to the enemy next winter, when it will be needed more (they think) than now. Those fellows understand each other clearly.

Indeed, about all the war element there is in the "Democracy" now, is in districts where it isn't safe to be any thing else. The bulk of the party, what is left of it, sympathizes with the South, but it is politic, in sundry parts of the country, to talk in favor of the war and keep up the delusion that there is such a thing as the "War Democracy."

But the more honest and outspoken of the party ridicule this pretension. According to them, the true Democracy in the North are for peace, because the Government has no constitutional power to put down the rebellion or prevent secession, and because an attempt to do this by force, being unconstitutional, cannot be constitutionally conducted. Therefore, they say, a War Democrat is as much of a contradiction as a white blackbird, and that he is as apostate from the Democratic party. The true Democracy are for peace and the dissolution of the Union on terms decided by the rebels, because they believe the rebels have been in the right from the first; that they had a right to secede and to seize whatever was necessary to provide and arm them to carry out that purpose; therefore, the Government, in trying to prevent secession and maintain the national authority, incurred all the guilt of the war and its slaughter and devastation. These are the men who will rule the nomination at Chicago, unless all present ind cations fail.

Procuring Substitutes in Advance.

The certainty that there will be another draft if the Government does not get men otherwise, is stimulating the work of procuring substitutes in advance, upon the plan adopted in New York, to which we alluded yesterday. The Cincinnati Commercial says:

The general impression that another and very heavy draft is to be made, and that the commutation clause will be repealed prior to the same, has influenced many persons to throughout the country to furnish substitutes prior to the draft, thus securing their own exemption from military service under the present government for three years. In this city many persons are pursuing this plan, and widely too. Were all who are able to procure substitutes to do so, in this way the chances of another heavy call would certainly be considerably reduced.

The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Press says:

Our citizens are hard at work procuring substitutes for themselves, at prices varying from six to seven hundred dollars down to as low as four hundred and seventy five anticipated. One church, that of the Rev. F. Thompson, raised the sum of six thousand dollars last Sunday, for this purpose, and associations of gentlemen are constantly adopting the same scheme. The city has thus far an excess of 1,137 men over all quotas yet demanded.

And a dispatch to the Tribune, from Washington City, shows how substitutes are got:

The buying of substitutes commenced here to-day with great spirit. Over three hundred were purchased by gentlemen anxious to make a timely provision against the chances of the draft, and before the inevitable advance in the substitute market. The price closed this evening at $460.

Cincinnati and New York are not alone in this. The Philadelphia Press says:

A citizen exempt from military duty advertises to-day for three able bodied men to represent him in the war. We commend this manly and public spirited example, which other citizens will follow. Men will not be slow to offer themselves.

What do our citizens say? Will they stand back until every other city has moved and exhausted the substitute market? Now is the time to act. Every man who gets a substitute for himself now will be exempt during the war. Will not our sold d men take the thing in hand?

The plan of obtaining volunteers in the place of wealthy men and women who are exempt, also promises to work well. A dispatch from Washington to the New York Times says:

The most cheering reports are being received from all parts of the country concerning the new and sagacious conception of the Provost Marshal General for obtaining volunteers by the system of representative recruits. Under the terms of the War Office order, not only exempt men, but exempt women, may be personally represented in the army. There are certainly a hundred thousand patriotic females in the country who would gladly contribute to send back to their representatives to General Grant, and their representatives to the volunteer will be an extra inducement to the volunteer to know that his name, services and memory will be cherished by some fair woman. Add to the women the exempted men, and a quarter of a million of volunteers ought to be added to our army in July. Let them hurry on their representatives.

Are there not some spirited men in this region, exempt by law, but willing to help the Government by sending recruits to represent themselves in the army?

We have been shown a letter from a Pittsburgh officer serving under GRANT near Petersburg, dated June 23d, in which he says: "The army is in excellent order, well disciplined, and confident of success. Indeed, I never saw it in better condition."

ERSKINE ETHERIDGE of Tennessee, Clerk of the late House of Representatives, has fully gone over to the Copperheads, and addressed the Copperhead Association at Washington on Thursday last. We wish the Copperheads joy of their new convert.

The Appointment of Mr. Fessenden.

If any thing could reconcile us to the departure of Mr. CHASE from the Treasury, it would be the appointment of Mr. FESSENDEN to fill his place. It is an appointment in every way fit to be made, and one that reflects credit upon the Administration.

During a long and successful service in the Senate, Mr. FESSENDEN has earned for himself a solid, enduring and enviable reputation, not merely for talent and oratory, but for statesmanship and personal integrity. He carries with him into the Treasury a character undimmed by a single stain, and a thorough knowledge of the National finances acquired through his position as Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Senate. He carries with him, also, the entire confidence of the country; and that, at such a time as this, is invaluable.

We feel much relieved by the knowledge that this appointment has been made and confirmed. It shows a determination on the part of the Government to bring the best talent of the country to the work before it; and we trust that its announcement will put an end to all apprehensions of the crisis rendered so imminent by Mr. CHASE's resignation.

LATER!—At eleven o'clock last night we learned by a special dispatch from Washington that Mr. FESSENDEN has declined the Treasury portfolio. It is to be hoped that he will yet be induced to accept it.

Colored Persons in street Cars.

The result of the examination into the case of Mrs. ELLEN ANDERSON, the widow of the colored soldier who was forcibly ejected from an Eighth Avenue street car, may be read in the words of Commissioner ACTON, who said:

"He was very sorry that such a good officer as the defendant had got himself into such a scrape. It was his duty to preserve the peace, and there was no breach of the peace until he broke it. It was rather his duty to have arrested the conductor than the woman, if he was breaking the peace. He didn't care what sentiments he ought to exhibit some common sense in these matters. There was no law against these people riding in the cars, and they had no right to make such a law, nor was there any order requiring policemen to do the work of these conductors."

The object of the persecution were completely effected, for the superintendent of the Eighth Avenue road has rescinded his order for the exclusion of colored people, and they now have equal rights with white people in all the cars. There is still one road in New York, the Sixth Avenue, that persists in the barbarous distinction which compels colored persons to ride in certain cars or walk.

Personal, Political and News Items.

GENERAL ROSECRANS is now in Cincinnati on a short visit. On Tuesday morning last he was presented with a new saddle and horse equipments by the attendants at the late fair at the Catholic Institute for St. Mary's Hospital. It was voted for, as similar articles were at the Sanitary Fair in this city, and given to the General in preference to Grant, McClellan, and Sigel.

We learn from the Washington Chronicle that there are funds enough remaining in the treasury of the Washington Monument Association to justify, even with a moderate addition, an early resumption of the work. The monument has already reached the hight of one hundred and eighty-five feet.

EIGHT hundred Mormons arrived at the port of New York last week from Liverpool, and started for the West. By water and rail they will be taken to Wyoming, Nebraska Territory, about seventeen hundred miles and thence on wagons overland to the earthly abode of the faithful.

A MISS STEVENS, of Clyde, N. Y., purchased her wedding outfit on Tuesday of last week, was taken suddenly ill on the next day, died on Saturday, and was buried in her bridal robes on Monday, which was to have been her wedding day.

A CONCERTED effort is to be made in New York, provided transportation can be obtained, to supply the army of the Potomac with a thousand barrels of onions, peas, cabbage and other fresh vegetables for their 4th of July dinner.

GEN. ROBERT TOOMBS, formerly Senator in Congress from Georgia, and then general in the rebel army, is now a private in a Georgia regiment. Roger A. Pryor is a private in a Virginia regiment.

It has been ascertained that in the attempt of Beauregard to retake the Petersburg lost on the 15 h, the rebel General Elliott was killed. The event is said to have happened on the 16 h inst.

THE REBEL Forrest's headquarters are at Columbus, Miss. Corinth has been abandoned by the rebels. A large rebel force is believed to be concentrating at Okolona, Miss.

W. M. ANDERSON, an Ohio delegate to the Copperhead Chicago Convention, writes a letter in favor of a Western Confederacy. This is Democratic devotion to the Union.

SEVERAL of the workmen have just been discharged from the Washington Navy Yard for having declared their intention to plead alienage on any future draft.

BRIG. GEN. HARKER, reported wounded in the late battle at Kinesaw Mountain, is 27 years of age, a graduate of West Point, and entered the army in 1858.

REV. MR. WARNER is to deliver the oration at the Fourth of July celebration at Gettysburg, Pa. Gov. Curtin will preside.

ONE day last week five hundred fish were caught at a single haul in Middle creek, Adams county, Pa.

MISS BELLE BOYD was serenaded in Montreal a few nights ago, and made a speech on the occasion.

THE hay harvest in York county, Pennsylvania, this season is the largest known for years.

MRS. PRESIDENT LINCOLN is in Boston, where she will remain for a few days.

The Kentucky Secessionists.

It is well that the Wickliffe Democratic party in Kentucky, composed as it is of the sympathizers with the secessionists, have shown their hand boldly. Their platform, published the other day, is, as it was intended by its authors to be, a pronunciamento in favor of the rebellion. The hostility of the Wickliffites to the National cause is undisguised. The doctrine of the right of secession is distinctly asserted. The right to coerce a rebellious State is expressly denied. If the Wickliffe Democracy have assumed a correct position, the southern rebels are fighting in a good cause, and the war made upon them by the general government was wrong from the start. And yet the Kentucky Secessionists, who disagree with John C. Breckinridge in nothing, except perhaps in pretending to regard Kentucky as a part of the United State, have elected delegates to attend the Democratic Convention in Chicago, and pledge their "united efforts to the support of the nominees of said convention." This certainly shows that Secessionists have a great deal of confidence that the Chicago Convention will be subservient to them. It becomes evident that the great struggle in the convention at Chicago will be over the admission of Kentucky delegations. There will be one delegation representing the present Governor of Kentucky, the Louisville Journal, James Guthrie, and others of that class, who are in favor of what they call a Constitutional prosecution of the war, and who favor the nomination of General McClellan. And there will be the Wickliffe delegation, holding that the war is unconstitutional and should be stopped on whatever terms —who are really in favor of submission to the Southern Confederacy, and of carrying Kentucky into it. These delegations will very fairly represent the wings of the Democratic party, the one for unconditional war, the other for the most flagrant peace copperhead who can be found. The contest between these two will be even more interesting than at Charleston. The prospect is that the party will be even more effectually exploded than at Charleston. —Cincinnati Commercial.

Notices of New Books.

PATRIOTISM AND OTHER PAPERS.—By Thomas Starr King. With a Biographical Sketch, by Hon. Richard Frothingham. Boston: Tompkins & Co. 25 Cornhill. New York: Sheldon & Co. 8vo. 359 PP.

In addition to the introduction and Biographical Sketch which occupy the first twenty-five pages of the work before us, we have sixteen essays by the great Unitarian upon various subjects, mainly, however, philosophical and theological, but all evincing rare scholarship, a rich literary taste, and that wealth of the affections for which Mr. KING was so justly celebrated. We see no trace of sectarianism in these essays, but, on the contrary, much that may be read with edification by members of all denominations.

Thomas Starr King was one of the most magnetic men of this age. He was a perfect gentleman, a born orator, a brilliant conversationalist, a true philanthropist, a warm friend—genial, generous and sympathetic in his whole nature. He was a hearty hater of our great national sin, and his eloquent and convincing voice was often raised against it. The book under notice should do much to perpetuate the memory of his good deeds, and to infuse his spirit of large hearted humanity into the minds of those who live after him.

FROM CAPE COD TO DIXIE AND THE TROPICS. By J. Gillis McKenzie, Author of "Cosas de Espana," &c. New 20 K. G. P. Putnam, 321 Broadway. Pittsburgh: Henry Miller, 71 and 73 Fifth street. 8vo. 450 pp.

This is a most readable book, and quite opportunely presented, too, its author having written it to show to his readers a picture of the social life of those who live under the tropics, and with a portion of whom we are now at deadly strife. The book is not a political dissertation in any sense, but a pleasant, lively, fascinating, interesting and instructive book of travels, written in good taste, without prejudice, and by one who kept his eyes and ears open "as he sailed." We give the subjects of some of the chapters:—"Washington;" "The Virginia Springs;" "Charleston;" "Savannah;" "New Orleans;" "Mobile;" "A Sugar Plantation;" "A Western Hotel;" "From New Orleans to Havanna." "A Cuban Railway;" "Havana" "A Winter Newport." The volume is printed and bound in the highest style of the bookmaking art.

WOODSTOCK. A Novel. By Mrs. Verner Jeffrey, Author of "Poems by Eva." New York: Sheldon & Co., Publishers. 12mo. 350pp.

We have read just enough of this American novel by an authoress who hails, we believe, from Kentucky, to form an unfavorable opinion of its merits. The style is slip shod where it is not grandiloquent; the characters are a common place; the plot, what there is of it, is of the tamest kind; in fact, the whole book, as a literary creation, possesses but one redeeming quality—it might have been worse.

It is a silly, trashy love story, and might have been written by Sylvanus Cobb, Jr.

MINERAL RESOURCES OF THE CONTINENT OF NORTH AMERICA, PARTICULARLY TO PRECIOUS METALS. With a map. Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott & Co. Price twenty five cents.

This is a well-printed, well-written pamphlet of 64 pages, full of valuable facts and statistics upon the subject named in the title.

H. WILLIAMS' CLASSICAL AND COMMERCIAL SCHOOL, No. 28, St. Clair street. Terms $11 per scholar per quarter of 10 weeks in advance. Hours of Tuition from 8 a. m. till 1 p. m.

TESTIMONIALS:

PROFESSION.—I take pleasure in saying that Prof. Williams is amply qualified to exemplify and to teach the art of Reading and Speaking with ease, distinctness, expression and impressiveness.

REV. B. ET. KELP, Professor of Elocution.

BOOK-KEEPING AND PENMANSHIP.—I take pleasure in saying that Prof. Williams is a thorough Book-keeping and Penmanship he has no superior.

CHAS. H. ISRAEL, Sec'y Lucerne Oil Co.

A. J. LYLE, Attorney at Law.

Those who desire a scientific as well as a thorough practical knowledge of the beautiful system of Book-keeping, and accurate penmanship, can obtain that knowledge in a superior manner than under the tuition of Prof. Williams.

Capt SAMUEL TAGGART,
Prof. JOS. H. MONTGOMERY,
GEO. W. DITHRIDGE,
Book-keeper for R. D. Dithridge,
JOHN S. FERGUSON,
Attorney at Law.

Indeed, in my opinion, no superior as a teacher, and to him more is due than I can ever repay.
