The Rebels Advancing Toward Harper's Ferry. RAID INTO PENHSYLVANIA THREATENED. SHERMAN'S OPERATIONS PROGRESSING

Patrinons, July 26 .- It is extremely difficult o obtain any authentic information relative to effairs on the Upper Potomac and the reba covements in the valley. By far the greater part of the numers, and even positive statements ourly put in circulation here, are evidently also, and therefore not worth repeating. From all information thus obtained, it is he eved that it will be found that the rebel force it present in the Valley, and reported to be at Martinaburg and other points, is none other than he recent force of raiders, who, finding that they were no longer pursued by any large force, suddenly turned and fell upon our small force inder Gen. Crooks, with the object of driving under den. Crooks, with the object of driving bim back beyond the Potomac, and freeing the Valley from Federal troops so as to be enabled to gather the crops of the valley, so vitally im-portant to Lise's army.
