NATIONAL UNION NOMINATIONS.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN, of Illinois. ANDREW JOHNSON, of Tennessee

The Robel Invasion. diffato on Baurday night Gen. Howley r that General Averill had driven the Rebels from Chambersburg and that they had re treated westward. Unneral Couch expressed the orinten that they might intend to come this way, and that it would be best to be prepared to meet them.

In accordance with this view the Mayor called a meeting of citizons yesterday, the presectings of which will be found in our Total columns. The Committee of seven ap gointed by that meeting conferred in the afterstood with Gen. Rowaxx, and their action is allso reported in that column. There is to be, St will be seen, a general suspension of work, served the following dispatch from Bedford: BEDFOED, July 31, 1864. Brig Ger. Rowley : Bebels left McConnells burg this marning, going southward. Gen. Assume in close pursuit. Telegraph open to McConnellaturg. No Rebels in this county. JOHN CRESEA. About the same time a dispatch was received from enother gentleman in Bedford, stating that the Bebels were moving westward, toward Brifford, instead of southward. One account represents them as only 500 strong, and the

As for the rebellious population of that valley, the proper place for them is within the lines. They queht to be made to fee what it's Rebellion is, instead of being allowed to five in claver and lend all possible aid 424 comfart to the enemy. Root them out and evad them to the full enjoyment of the blicgings of the government they sympathiz-

The rivel farmers of the valley are among the most active of those who brought on the war, and have been the most sclive. supporters of the Retol cause by feeding its nemies; and there is no call for any show of kindness or forbearance towards tiem. We coupact the government, therefore, to lay its beary hand upon thom. Clear the valley of the Recel accordices and leave the enemy one vant atorrhouse less. The New York Tribune ridicules the devel orments at St. Louis, which have been so widely telegraphed, and many other presses pttach but little importance to them. The fact appears to be unquestioned that there is s eccret organization, and that it would be glades a chance to take part against the Govant: but its capacity for mischief is limsled, and there seems but little need to apprehand that the Government will be attacked sericusly by men who hide themselves when ther have anything to do. As to such a secret preganization cetting up a Northwestern Conederacy, we have no fear. Such a scheme may have found a place in the crazed brains of such fellows as VALLANDIOUXN; but no same mind would, entertain the idea for a moment. There is, however, one purrose to which this secret organization may seek to lend itself, and the government should be prepared for itaxall points. That purpose is to resist the coming draft. This will not need any combined or general action, and the movements being purely local, may be, for that wears, all the more dangerous. The conspirafore in each district or county, may act for themselves and cerebre their action to their themselves and confine their action to their are in a calling; and there are various parts of this is a cin which such a secretorganization, it the Government is not prepared for it, may give a great deal of trouble.

That such a secret organization exists, and for that purpose, we have not a doubt. The fone of the Copperhead press throughout the State is indicative of it; and the Loyal Leagues in every county should look to the matter and be prepared for any outbreak. If the first severely, the affair will have an early end; if trified with, or permitted to succeed, at will be hard to guess at the consequences. Forevaried is forearmed.

A Sop to Penneytvanta.

The Wer Department has yielded to the pressure from Penneytvanta, and given anthority for the organisation of see regiments of one year troops, under the last call. Ho Batte rates and riccityes so many procial favors in the mitter of realising troops, as Penneytvanta; and yet the are the see properal's guard to keep the horise thiever from creasing her borders. We thought the follow of me regiments was long ago exploded. But as it is again revived, there remains but one ramedy. When Lieut. Son. Grany gets these new regiments at the front, it will be perfectly lagitimate for him to muster out the officers and put the men into the battle-thinned ranks oversum Penneytvanta regiments that deserve to be alled up.— Y. Y. Torce.

This filing at Penneytvania is most unjust. A Sop to Penneyivania.

This fling at Pennsylvania is most uvjust.

The authority to organize new regiments of one year men was first given to Ohio. It was not asked as a special favor to this State; but having been first granted to Ohio, it was but fair, that it should be granted to others, and we presume New York will take advantage of the opportunity as well as Pennsylvania. The fling, too, comes with an Ill grace from New York, which State has not yet sent a single regiment of one hundred days' men to Washington in answer to the President's call, whilst Pennsylvania is filling her quota with commendable alacrity, several regiments having already gone forward. Pennsylvania did not step, in the hour of peril has New York has done, to claim that her one hundred days' Cords f. end a general effort to enrol men for men should be exempted from the draft before taking the field. With a higher sense of patriotism she has sent her regiments to Wash. friotism, she has sent her regiments to Wash ington, and left to New York the dirty basiness of haggling for terms. The Price of Intervention. The New York Evening Post alleges, upon what authority it does not say, that the Emperer Napoleon has proposed to the Rabel Government the terms upon which he will interfore in their behalf. It gives the result o an interview between Meson and Slidell or the part of the Rebols, and Louis Napoleon, and his answer to the Rebel Envoys is the represents thom as only 500 strong, and the she stater as 10,000 strong.

Let every man; therefore, show his readiness to defend his fireside to-day, for whatever is deno must be done at once. Gen. Couch is short and Gen. Esgerpane of the German Public to In-From the London Times City Article, July 16. "The advices from Frankfort mention than the great rise in exchange at New York had teen met by a corresponding fall in the prices f Federal stocks, but at the reduced quota rodmun dous ni hiewra surspense austrage that not only large sums brought from Nes York, but twen various paresis sold out by bankers for small spoonlators, could still be disposed of at an advance of four per cent on old prices. As soon as these sales were over, quotations recovered between one and two per cent. The eagerness of our public, it is observed, fo invest in American funds of er so many disappointments, is worderful in spite of the political and yet worse finan-ial, reporté, évery reduction in the prices trings forward new purchasers, mustly small spitalists."

The same is true in other parts of Germany The same is true in other paris of Germany to a much greater extent. The popular mind of Europe has crowned the American struggle with victory in behalf of law and order nod good government. The investments made in England in the rebel loan are so many greated speculations, certain to result badly. The Germans are more careful. They invest only, when probabilities are thinly to be prochedle; and although individuals do not way such heavy capital as in England, the masses are far wealthier, and it is the masses who are now investige in American securities. are new investing in American securities.

The character of the faith which tearen for many is seen in the closing part of the faith which tearen there artists. Every depression in ou efecks brings out new purchasers, and a many of these purchasers come to this country t see after their investments, we shall have a steadily growing Gorman immigration. Le it continue to come. It and ourselves will toth be benifitted thereby.—Phila. Garette.

Mr. Fessenden and the Currency. In the last Independent, your excellent Warhington correspondent, whose communi cations I never fail to read, says, " the finan cial cituation looks more hopoful. Mr. Fesconden can compel success if he will steadily refuse to issue any more lexal tenders. The currency will become more valuable, the prewould have been removed. The national fi-pances cannot be saved from ultimate ruin, nanoes cannot be eaved from ditimate run, unless we can have a purely government currency. The writer has said this from the first; but the bank interest has been too powerful in Congress hitherto, and we are going the down-hill road to certain perdition, un-lees we change our course very fast.—Circ N. Y. Independ nt.
