A Pennsylvanian among the Yankees.

Yesterday we clipped from an exchange the following item of political news:

MAINE POLITICS.—The Hon. James G. Blaine was nominated for re election to Congress on Wednesday the 10th inst., in the District Convention, by acclamation.

It has for years been considered quite a common occurrence for a native of New England to "settle down" in the Middle or Western States, and, by dint of Yankee application and shrewdness, become a rich and influential citizen of the community in which he "settled." New England has in this way furnished members of the Legislature, members of Congress, and even Governors to many of her other States. Pennsylvania, for instance, has never wanted for politicians whose youth was spent in the Connecticut or Merrimac Valley. But who ever heard of a Pennsylvanian emigrating to New England, with the intention of making it his home? He might go West, or South before the war, but New England was not the land of promise to him.

There is, however, one distinguished exception to the rule that Pennsylvanians do not abandon their own soil for that of cold and bleak New England. JAMES G. BLAINE is that exception. His career may be told in few words. Born in the Cumberland Valley, he received a preliminary education, we believe, at Gettysburg, which was afterwards completed at Washington College. From there he went to Kentucky, to accept a situation as teacher in a seminary for young ladies, and while thus engaged met and fell in love with one of the lady teachers, who happened to be all the way from Maine. The result which usually happens in such cases, followed: the attachment of the Pennsylvanian for the Yankee school mistress was reciprocated, and in due course of time there was a wedding and a honeymoon trip "down to Maine." Whether it was through the pleadings of a young wife, or the advice of the lady's friends, of the attractions the prosperous State of Maine presented to the ambitious and talented Pennsylvanian, that he was induced to agree to take up his residence among his wife's kindred, we know not, but certain it is that the school in Kentucky was abandoned and JAMES G. BLAINE became the editor of a Maine newspaper, devoted, of course, to the support of Republican principles and measures. He became a good editor and at once made his mark. He made Republican speeches, and they were good ones. He was soon elected to the lower house of the Legislature, where he so distinguished himself that his constituents twice re elected him and his fellow members twice made him their Speaker. In 1860 he was appointed Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Republican party of Maine, and in that capacity showed himself the best campaigner and most adroit politician in the State. Vice President HAMLIN not excepted. In 1862 he was elected to Congress by a most complimentary majority, and during last winter was one of the men of note on the Administration side. We now learn that he has been nominated for re election. Of course he will be returned. We predict that he will go still higher—has he will be a U. S. Senator or Governor of his State within ten years. He is not yet over thirty-five years old, and is one of the handsomest men we ever saw.

And thus it happens that a Pennsylvania school-master, through the charms of a Yankee school-mistress, has become one of the most prominent and honored of New England politicians.

THE BITTERNESS OF PARTISAN DISCOURSE was never better illustrated than in the late special election. There were three amendments to be voted on at that election—one giving colored citizens the right to vote, another prohibiting the Legislature from passing laws in cases where the Courts have jurisdiction, and another restraining the Legislature from passing any law having more than one subject, which must be clearly expressed in the title. There might be a partisan reason for voting against the soldiers' amendment; but what can any man could have any objection to the others? And yet those who voted against the first amendment voted also against the others.

The published returns show a great uniformity in the vote against the amendments. There are fewer votes, of course, against the second and third, than against the first, because there must have been enough men of good sense in the party in every county to make the differences; but the disparity in the votes is not great, and the fact is plainly shown that the bulk of those who voted against the first amendment voted also against the others.

Clippings from the Mails.

THE failure at Petersburg on the day of the explosion is still the subject of much discussion among the newspapers, and of every variety of reports. It is now said that neither Meade nor Burnside were present to superintend the operations, each supposing the other would attend to it. This, if true, would not exonerate Gen. Meade. He is in command of the Army of the Potomac, and it is his business to be present himself and see and know that each subordinate is at his post ready to perform his duty.

ONE CAMPBELL, a farmer in Kent county, Del., went into a field with his son, taking his gun with him, and sent the boy home to tell his mother that he was going to kill himself. The wife immediately ran to where he was, and throwing herself upon her knees, prayed him to desist. To her frantic inquiry, "What will I and the children do?" he merely replied, 'Do the best you can," and immediately pulled the trigger, the load tearing off the entire skull and scattering the blood and brains over the wretched woman.

VICTORIA has no debts. She pays her way, as an honest woman should, and in this sets an excellent example to her subjects. She is distinguished not only for her provident habits, but also for the liberality which they give her the means of exercising. Only the other day, she sent $1000 to the fund for the relief of the sufferers by the inundation at Sheffield, caused by the bursting of a water reservoir.

A DISPATCH dated at Niagara Falls, August 9, says: "Parini has succeeded in making his escape from his uncomfortable position this afternoon about five o'clock, in this manner: His brother walked out and floated a rope down to him, and by this means he was enabled to walk across the rapids to Goat Island, and is now at his comfortable quarters at the International."

A CANADIAN journal reports that several "considerable droves of horses, purchased in Western Canada on Confederate account, have passed down on the royal mail steamers during the past few days, destined for Quebec. At that port, it is understood, they will be shipped for a Mexican port, and thence passed over into the Confederacy."

A GENTLEMAN bathing at Newport a few days since, lost in the sand a diamond ring valued at two thousand dollars. A sieve was procured and the sand in the vicinity sifted, but to no purpose, and the loser was about giving it up as lost, when looking down he discovered the lost jewel at his feet.

Where the California Gold Goes.

It may partially explain the scarcity and high price of gold to know that four fifths of the gold product of the Pacific coast is now shipped direct to England and other foreign ports; instead of coming to the Atlantic ports as it did before the war. Such is the fact, as is shown by the tables of shipments at San Francisco. These show that while the shipments of specie to New York for the first six months of 1861 were $16,916 200, in the first six months of 1864 they were but $5,607,940; and that to England in the same corresponding periods the shipments of specie have increased from $1 103,948 in 1861, to $19,836,249 in 1864. The shipments to China and to other countries have more than doubled.

These are figures which redound but little to our credit, especially when we boast of our navy, created by the war. A part of the great change is due to changes in the course of trade, but a few rebel pirates under the patronage of John Bull have been the main cause. Shipments are comparatively unsafe under the American flag, a humiliation not pleasant to send or think of, but a fact nevertheless.

Our gold mines have not been proper'y husbanded by the Government. The regulations ought to be such that every dollar of dust should pass through the United States mints and United States Treasury for coinage among the people. As it is now, tons of the precious metals are constantly being shipped from our own country to England and other ports just as they come from the hands of the hardy miners. Uncle Sam shakes the bush, John Bull catches the bird. —Cleveland Herald.

Maximilian's Prospects.

The latest accounts from Mexico represent that Maximilian is steadily gaining ground in his new dominions, and fast getting friends. The correspondent of the New York Commercial says the people, the highest as well as the lowest, receive the emperor with the same cheer that he is to be a permanency in power, and that it is not the temporary elevation of the leader of a successful faction. Under this feeling great satisfaction is expressed by the real native population, who are not at all under the lead of the French, and the clemency of the emperor and empress daily tends to increase their satisfaction. Maximilian conducts himself like an honest, hard working monarch, and his apparent confidence in his own powers adds to the respect for him. He rises at five a. m., and makes all his arrangements for the day as much; attends to everything personally himself, gives audience, reads and makes reports; walks about entirely alone, reports things generally, and is evidently bound to become master of the situation. Another of the signs of Maximilian's advancement is the defection of Gen. Uraga, one of the principal officers of the lib-rallists. At last accounts he was reported marching to deliver himself up to the new government with his whole command. If this is true, it will be the severest blow yet received by the national flag, and will go far to seat the new emperor firmly on the throne. Complete quiet will not, of course, immediately be restored in all parts of the country. But it ocks very much now as though Maximilian would soon be emperor in deed, as well as in name, with only an insignificant faction opposed to him.—Wheeling Intelligencer.

Great Distress in Chambersburg.

The following is an extract from a letter from a resident of Chambersburg. The establishment alluded to is the Orphan Reformed Book and Newspaper Concern:

Our town is entirely ruined. It cannot be exaggerated. Language cannot describe the destruction. It must be seen to be realized. I saved my house and effects by much exertion. Four-fifths of the town are destroyed. It was the most business and druggist over recorded. I could tell you of acts that came under my own observation that would be a disgrace to the most barbarous people on the face of the earth. Our establishment is entirely destroyed; nothing being saved. Our loss is $40,000 at a low estimate. We had put in within the last month $3 500 of machinery. I do not think it will be rebuilt—the loss is too great. I am at a loss what to do. Three-fourths of our people are turned out of doors with nothing but what they have on their backs. I have a family in every room of my house. Much distress must exist, but thanks to the surrounding country, our present wants are being supplied. We must receive heavy aid from abroad for some time to come, otherwise we must suffer much. Our town will never be rebuilt unless aided from abroad. If you want to see a desolate place come up.

Personal.

The Hon. James H Campbell, of Pennsylvania, sailed on Wednesday in the Baltic, for Liverpool, on his way to Sweden, whither he goes as Minister Resident of the United States at Stockholm. Mr. Campbell is a distinguished man of the Bar of Schuylkill county, and has served two full terms in Congress. Mrs. Campbell, who accompanies him, is well known in literary circles as a poetess, as well as a chaste and vigorous prose-writer.

General J. Hubart Ward's petition for a court of inquiry into the charges on which he was lately dismissed the service, has been granted by the War Department.

A Colonel Arrested for Discouraging Negro Enlistments.

The Louisville (Kentucky) Journal says: Colonel Lewis T. Moore has been accredited by the negro troops at Cattlesburg and sent in irons to Cincinnati on charges of discouraging negro enlistments. Colonel Moore, who formerly represented the Cattlesburg district in Congress, raised a regiment of Union troops at the beginning of the war, and was engaged in raising another when he was arrested. Such, as our informant assures us, is the information received by the governor. Since writing this paragraph, we have heard that Colonel Moore is paroled at Cincinnati. We have received no further information respecting the circumstances of his arrest."

HAVE NEGROES THE RIGHT TO VOTE?—Before the late special election it was a favorite electioneering dodge of the Copperheads to tell the people that if the first amendment was adopted it would give negroes the right to vote. The amendment has been adopted. Are they willing to admit, now, that negroes have the right to vote?

☞ We have learned not to be astonished at anything. Years of experience and a correspondence extending throughout all nationalities of the habitable globe, have turned theories into facts and established a basis from which we need not err. We are not surprised at such facts as the following—although the persons who write them are. We know the persons and circumstances, once feel a liberty to indorse their statements:

"NEW-BEDFORD, MASS., Nov. 24, 1863.

"DEAR SIR: I have been afflicted many years with severe penetrating cramps in my limbs, cole feet and hands, and a general disordered system. Physicians and medicines failed to relieve me. While visiting some friends in New York who were using Plantation Bitters they prevailed upon me to try them. I commenced with a small wine-glassful after dinner. Feeling better by degrees, in a few days I was astonished to find the coldness and cramps had entirely left me, and I could sleep the night through, which I have not done for years. I feel like another being. My appetite and strength have also greatly improved by the use of the Plantation Bitters. Respectfully, JUDITH BUSSEL."

"HERMONT, Wis., Sept. 16, 1863.

"I have been in the army hospital for fourteen months—speechless and nearly dead. At Alton, Ill. they gave me a bottle of Plantation Bitters. * * * Three bottles restored my speech and cured me. C. A. FLAUTE."

The following is from the Manager of the Union Home School for the Children of Volunteers:

"HAVEMEYER HARBOR, 67th Street, } New York, August 1, 1863.

Dr. Drake: Your wonderful Plantation Bitters have been given to some of our little children suffering from weakness and weak lungs with most happy effect. One little girl in particular, with pains in her head, loss of appetite, and daily wasting consumption, on whom all medical skill had been exhausted, has been entirely restored. We commenced with but a teaspoonful of Bitters a day. Her appetite and strength rapidly increased, and she is now well. Respectfully,

Mrs. O. M. DEVOE."

"I owe much to you, for I verily believe the Plantation Bitters have saved my life.
Rev. W. H. WAGGONER, Madrid, N. Y.

"Thou will send me two bottles more of the Plantation Bitters. My wife has been greatly benefited by their use. Thy friend, REUBEN CUBRIN, Philadelphia, Pa."

"I have been a great sufferer from Dyspepsia, and had to abandon preaching. * * The Plantation Bitters have cured me.
Rev. J. S. CATHCART, Rochester, N. Y."

"I have given the Plantation Bitters to hundreds of our disabled soldiers with the most astonishing effect.
G. W. D. ANDREWS,
Superintendent Soldiers' Home, Cincinnati, O."

"The Plantation Bitters have cured me of Liver Complaint, of which I was laid up prostrate, and had to abandon my business.
H. S. KINGSLEY, Cleveland, Ohio."

"The Plantation Bitters have cured me of a derangement of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs that has distressed me for years. It acts like a charm.
C. C. MOORE, No. 254 Broadway."
&c., &c., &c.

The Plantation Bitters make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, Wintergreen, Sassafras, Roots, Herbs, &c., all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix Rum.

S. T.—1860—X.

Persons of sedentary habits, troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, dizziness after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try them.

They are recommended by the highest medical authorities, and are warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure, an harmless.

NOTICE.—Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters in bulk or by the gallon is a swindler and imposter. If he put up only in our log cabin bottles. Beware of bottles refilled with imitation deleterious stuff, for which several persons are already in prison. See that every bottle has our United States stamp over the cork unmutilated, and our signature on the steel plate side label. Sold by respectable dealers throughout the United States, Canada, &c.
