OVER 400 PRISONERS CAPTURED. Death of Rebel Generals Grady and Chamberlain.

COL. CRAIG, OF PENNSYLVANIA, MOR-TALLY WOUNDED.

The Enemy Forced to Abandon His Strong Works. Ac., Ac., &c.,

Special Dispatch to the Pitisburgh Greatte. WARRING ON, Aug. 18, 1864. Mr. C. A. Page, the New York Tribune cor respondent with the army of the Patemac, sends the following to that journal under date of "Gon-Butler's benequarters, "August 16th, 1864, 1 P. M.: Ithat been a good day's work, the batlo of Deep River. We have captured four robel

They quite a mile of the advance ground. Without the reader has a map before his he will hardly obtain any clear notion of the geographical field of operations from any written description. At 9 in the morning Gen. Terry's division attacked from the right of the line held by the 19th Corps the night before. Part of Gen. Wm. Birney's troops were also in this attack, the remainder of his division being in close support of the 2d Corps. Only one brigade, commanded by Col. Craig, participated in the fight. At about the same time, Gregg's cavalry, supported by Mott's brigade of the 23 Corps, was engaged far to the right, on the Charles City road. The first rabel line was carried with little difficulty.

At ten o'clock a push was made for the second line by the same troops. It required an hour's close fighting to carry it, but it was done. The whole affair was in the woods, and the opposing lines were fought at a very short range—so shor that a man seen was a man shot. The principal loss of to day was here; Col. Craig was mortally wounded, and Col. Osborne, 24th Mais., also commanding a brigade, was severaly wounded in the face.

The record and main line being finally carried, men were instantly set to work to turn it against the enemy. But Hitle had been done, however, when the rabels abbad back to retake it. Four distinct desperate attempts were repulsed, and the fifth would have been if our men had not got short of ammunition. Owing to this slove, on the fifth trial the enemy repos sessed the line.

In one of these assaults the rebal General Grady was killed, and his body is now in our

In his fight on Charles City Boad, Grogg killad the sabel cavalry General John R. Chamber lin, and brought off his body and forced the enemy to return, without loss. Just at night, antisted by two brigades from the 21 corps, Birnoy renewed the engagement with the pur-pose of getting back the ground he had been compelled to relinquish earlier in the day for want of ammunition. Your correspondent left the field before the result was known. Meantime General Butler and staff had ridden to Dutch Gap, the seems of Maj. Ludlow's canal-eatting operations, to direct a diversion by the fires there and by the force under Col. Wooster at Deep Bottom. It must be remembered that Gen. Birney's line faced the river, and that the nemy were between him and the position at Datch Gap and Deep Battom, W. miles sport as the river runs. Butler had made Luclew transport half his command in boats down to Alken's wharf. Five hundred of these

Maj. Ludlow then moved across the Isthmus to Boxo's Ferry, skirmishing on the way and outting off and capturing a portion of pickets the enemy had left to make a show his position. At Dutch Gay he found that the chemy, who were pressed by Birney, had aban-coned their very strong works at Boxe's Ferry, nto which he threw his men, and where he cill be by morning too strong to be easily disledged. This position is considered a very imytant one, and has corn much coveted.

The force at Deep Bo tom also advanced upon the enemy's rear some distance, but met with some resistance at Deep River.

Gen. Birney commanded on the field. All the troops of both corps are likely to become engaged in supporting him. While General Han-cock had the general direction of all the forces, about two miles on the right, while our left, in front of the rebei fortifications, remained where it was in the morning. The first thing the tenth corps did this morning was to gobble up the enemy's skirmish line, taking about fifty prisoners, to which be-fore neon they added about 250 more, captured om the center of the enemy's line of battle, aving pressed back their left about four o'clock this afternoon, just as the 2d brigade of the 3d
