Circulate the Documents.

We do not know that we can this morning render any better service to the Union cause than by urging upon the friends of the Union the immediate and pressing duty of circulating campaign documents among the people. But one month remains until the first or preliminary battle of the campaign in this State takes place, and but two months until the Presidential question—the weal or woe of this country—is to be decided. It is important, therefore—yes, of vital necessity—that the people in advance of those contests should be fully informed of the principles entertained and the objects sought to be accomplished by the two great rival political organizations of the country. Our enemies are busy now scattering broadcast over the country all manner of unmanly and indecent attacks upon the Administration, and shamelessly perverse explanations of its policy. On the 17th of this month—only a week hence—they will hold enthusiastic meetings everywhere, when they will endeavor to excite all the enthusiasm possible in behalf of their candidates by empty breezes and powder-burning. In due time, doubtless, we shall have our mass rallies, meetings, but divested, we hope, of the gunpowder, and the shouting which better befits a crowd of painted savages than an assemblage of American freemen. But "big meetings" are at best of but limited utility. They seldom convince a political opponent that he is wrong and you are right. Nor do newspapers of shilly and schlegel songs circulate as widely as they should; and if they did, they do not contain all that the people should read in such eventful times as these. It is our duty, therefore—it is the duty of every earnest Union man of every Union organization—of every Union League—to commence at once the work of enlightening the people and counteracting the efforts of the opposition by strewing the leaves of campaign documents all over the land. Let every voter have his pockets full of them—Their cost is not to be weighed for a moment in the scales against the welfare of our country. The Union Congressional Committee at Washington has just issued, in English and German, a number of documents, covering all the issues of the campaign, which will be sent, free of postage, to any address, at the rate of one and two dollars per hundred, according to size. The following is an complete a list of the documents as we have been able to procure:

1. McClellan's military career reviewed and exposed.
2. George H. Pendleton, his disloyal record and sentiments.
3. The Chicago Copperhead Convention, the men who composed it and controlled it.
4. Base surrender of the Copperheads to the Rebels in arms.
5. The military and naval situation, and the glorious achievements of our soldiers and sailors.
6. A few plain words with the private soldier.
7. What Lincoln's Administration has done
8. The history of McClellan's "arbitrary arrest" of the Maryland Legislature.
9. Can the country pay the expenses of the war?
10. Doctrines of the Copperheads North identical with those of the Rebels South.
11. The Constitution upheld and maintained.
12. Rebel terms of peace.
13. Peace, to be enduring, must be conquered.
14. A history of cruelties and atrocities of the Rebellion.
15. Evidence of a Copperhead conspiracy in the Northwest.

Remittances should be made to Hon. JAMES HARLAN, Washington City, D. C. Send greenbacks, or drafts on New York, payable to Mr. HARLAN'S order.

We observe that the New York Tribune is also about to issue a broadside of its own into the camp of the white-feathered man's party This broadside will make a small pamphlet, which will be sold at one dollar per hundred, and will contain the rival platforms of the Union and Democratic parties, respectively, as framed and adopted by their recent National Conventions at Baltimore and Chicago, in clear type, on good paper, with a very few explanatory comments, so as to let the people see exactly what are the points in controversy between the two parties—each speaking for itself, through its chosen representatives. Address "The Tribune," New York.

Pennsylvania and McClellan.

In the Chicago Democratic Convention the following motto was conspicuously displayed: "Pennsylvania's choice for President, George B. McClellan."

There is no doubt that the large McClellan Club from Philadelphia, and the unity for McClellan of the Pennsylvania delegation, did much to secure his nomination. That is one fact. Another fact, which it would be well to bear in mind at this time, may be thus stated: At the special election in this State on the 2d day of August, ordered for the purpose of deciding whether soldiers should be allowed to vote at the next Presidential election, every county voted for its large Democratic majorities, voted against allowing soldiers that right. Thus the same men who assisted to nominate McClellan did their best to disfranchise the brave men who are fighting the battles of the country. The soldiers at the front and their friends and comrades at home will not be likely to forget this fact when the ballot boxes are presented to them on the second Tuesday of November.

Rallying Round the Flag!

The first gun of the Presidential campaign has been fired! Vermont on Tuesday elected a Union State Ticket and Union Members of Congress by majorities largely increased over those of last year. This she did notwithstanding the absence in the army of thousands of loyal volunteers. All hail "the star that never sets!" From Little Delaware, too, a loyal voice is heard. The city of Wilmington has filled her quota of soldiers by volunteering, and at the same time has, by a good round majority, elected the entire Union ticket for city officers. Not a disloyal candidate was elected, in spite of the malignant and desperate efforts of the traitors who still pollute the soil of the gallant Diamond State.

With such auguries as these, who can doubt our success in November, if we work faithfully and zealously to bring it about?

LOOK OUT FOR THE DRAFT!—It may come now at any time, and give you but a very brief warning of its coming. Avoid it while you can, by pulling in a substitute or volunteering yourself. Don't wait to be drafted, whatever else you do.

"In the Future as in the Past."

The Chicago platform pledges the party to fidelity to the Union, &c., "in the future as in the past." Mr. PENDLETON, of Ohio, in his speech accepting the nomination for the Vice Presidency, promised also that he "would be faithful to the great principles of Democracy, in the future as in the past." It is certainly a qualified kind of fidelity that is thus promised. In the past the Democratic party has been vilely unfaithful to the Union. One half of it betrayed the Union in 1861, and nearly all the leading men of the South, at the present time, are, like Mr. PENDLETON, resolved to be "faithful to the principles of Democracy in the future as in the past." To be faithful to the Union and to Democracy, "in the future as in the past," is to be ready to sacrifice the Union when the occasion offers.

THE Bedford Gazette of last week contains the following dispatch from Mr. MEYERS, its editor, and a delegate to Chicago:

CHICAGO, August 31, 1864.

To O. E. Shannon, Esq.—McCLELLAN and PENDLETON unanimously nominated—PEACE PLATFORM—all harmonious! B. F. MEYERS.

Mr. MEYERS evidently understands what the Chicago Platform means, as well as does JEFF. DAVIS. The cry of peace from such men means humiliation, dismemberment, and the supremacy of treason.

A Defense of the Administration—Speech of Gov. Seward.

On Saturday evening, at the close of a day devoted to rejoicing over the capture of Atlanta, the loyal citizens of Auburn proceeded to the residence of Gov. Seward and honored him with a serenade. Mr. Seward, in response to the call of his fellow citizens, came out into the park and delivered a speech of considerable length and great power, the concluding paragraphs of which we give below;

The chief complaint against the President is that he will not accept peace on the basis of the integrity of the Union, without having also the abandonment of slavery. When and where have the insurgents offered him peace on the basis of the integrity of the Union? Nobody has offered it. The Rebels never will offer it. Nobody on their behalf can offer it. They are determined and pledged to rule this Republic or ruin it. I told you here a year ago that practically slavery was no longer in question—that it was perishing, under the operation of the war. That assertion has been confirmed.

The Union men in all the slave States that we have delivered are even more anxious than we are to abolish slavery. Witness Western Virginia, Maryland, Missouri, Louisiana, Tennessee and Arkansas. Jefferson Davis tells you in effect the same thing. He says that it is not slavery, but independence and sovereignty for which he is contending. There is good reason for this. A hundred dollars in gold is only a year's purchase of the labor of a working man in every part of the United States. At less than half that price you could buy all the slaves in the country. Nevertheless, our opponents want a distinct exposition of the President's views on the ultimate solution of the slavery question.

Why do they want it? For the same reason that the Pharisees and Sadducees wanted an authoritative resolution of the questions of casuistry which arose in their day. One of those sects believed in the Kingdom to come, and the other altogether denied the resurrection of the dead. Nevertheless, they walked together in loving accord in search of instruction smothering the spirit world. "Master," said they, "there was a man of our nation who married a wife and died, leaving six brothers. Those brothers successively married the widowed woman, and afterwards died. And last of all the woman died also. In the resurrection, which of the seven shall have this woman for his wife."

Now what was it to them whether one or all should have the woman to wife in heaven? It could be nothing to the Sadducees in any case. What was it to any human being this side the grave? What was it to any human being in heaven except the woman in heaven and her seven husbands—absolutely nothing. Yet they would have an answer. And they received one. The answer was that while in this mortal state men and women should never cease to marry and to die, their will be in the resurrection neither death nor marrying, nor giving in marriage.

Although altogether unauthorized to speak for the President upon hypothetical questions, I think I can give an answer upon the subject of slavery at the present day—an answer which will be explicit, and I hope conclusive for all candid and intelligent men. While the rebels continue to wage war against the Government of the United States, the military measures affecting slavery, which have been adopted from necessity, to bring the war to a speedy and successful end will be continued, except so far as practical experience shall show that they can be modified advantageously with a view to the same end. When the insurgents shall have disbanded their armies and laid down their arms, the war will instantly cease, and then all the war measures then existing, including those which affect slavery, will cease also, and all the moral, economical and political questions, as well questions affecting slavery as others which shall then be existing between individuals and States, and the Federal Government, whether they arose from the civil war begun, or whether they grew out of it, will, by force of the Constitution, pass over to the arbitrament of the courts of law, and to the councils of legislation.

I am not sophisticated enough to expect that conspirators while yet consolidated and wielding an organized despotism in the insurrectionary States, will either sue for or even accept an amnesty based on the surrender of the power they have so recklessly usurped. Nevertheless, I know that if any such conspirator should tender his submission upon such terms he will at once receive a candid hearing, and an answer prompted purely by a desire for peace, with the maintenance of the Union. On the other hand, I do expect propositions of peace with a restoration of the Union to come not from the Confederates in authority or through them, but from citizens and States under and behind them. And I expect such propositions from citizens and States to come over the Confederate arms in power, just so fast as those citizens and States shall be delivered by the Federal arms, from the usurpations by which they are now oppressed. All the world knows, that so far as the President is concerned, all such applications will receive just such an answer as it becomes a great, magnanimous and brave people to grant to brethren who have come back from their wanderings, to seek a shelter in the common ark of our national security and happiness.

The sun is setting. So surely as it shall rise again, so surely do I think that the great events we have now celebrated proclaim the end of our nation's troubles, and the restoration of the national authority, with peace, prosperity and freedom throughout the whole land, from the lakes to the gulf, and from ocean to ocean.

And so I bid you good night; and may God have you, and the whole country, always in His holy and paternal keeping

A Double Anniversary.

The political admirers of General McClellan propose to have a grand celebration of his merits on the 17th of September. They select that day because it is the anniversary of two of his most heroic exploits. The first was the seizure and imprisonment of the Maryland legislature, which was done by his order on the 17th of September, 1861. It was a bold, daring, determined step, and his friends do well, we think, to commemorate the service it rendered the country. Maryland was on the eve of being carried over to secessionism, by a conspiracy of the legislature; when General McClellan snapped them up and sent them to prison. We have never been able to see any constitutional authority for the act; it was not strictly in accordance with the doctrine of State Rights; it was, in short, a very "arbitrary arrest" upon the wholesale scale; but what of that? It was also a military necessity, and the democratic speakers on the 17th will doubtless justify it on that ground.

The second event to be celebrated by this anniversary is the battle of Antietam, which is an exceptional battle in the respect that it is the only one in which McClellan may claim a victory. Rebel writers, it is true, call it a drawn battle, and it must be confessed that our success was not so decided as to enable us to follow the retreating foe; but in a scarcity of laurels we must not enquire too nicely into their worth. We trust the peace democrats, moreover, who have all along condemned the war with a perfect ferocity of hatred, denouncing it as useless, cruel, barbarous, unnatural, monstrous, will take great comfort in observing the anniversary of one of the principal battles of the war. It will give them an exquisite pleasure to fling up their hats and roar out their shouts every time "that the glorious battle of Antietam" is mentioned by any of the speakers.—N. Y. Eve. Post.

THE New York Herald says of the Democratic candidate for the Presidency:

"For three years past the Herald has sustained and defended the hero of Antietam. We have done full justice to his generalship, his statesmanship, his honesty and his patriotism. But when McClellan takes his stand upon a cowardly peace platform we are at a loss how to follow him and defend him. This the General has not yet done, and we hope that he will never be foolish enough to do it. We advise and urge him to come out boldly, and declare his only platform is his past record as a Union General, and that his sentiments are those expressed in his letter from Harrison's Landing, and his oration at West Point. If he hesitates to do this, he is lost. There must be no prevarication or equivocation. The rotten Chicago platform must be kicked to pieces, and McClellan's own platform substituted. He had better a thousand fold decline the nomination, than to accept it upon such conditions as those imposed by the Convention. The Chicago platform invites defeat, and it must be broken up, either by McClellan himself or by the voice of the people at the polls.

THE New York News claims the "Star-Spangled Banner" as a Democratic song, because the wife of George H. Pendleton is the daughter of the writer.—Exchange.

The News has not properly consulted the feelings of Mrs. George H. Pendleton, in announcing the fact of her filial connection with the author of the "Star-Spangled Banner." She recently informed a lady in Cincinnati that if there was one thing in the life of her father which she regretted, it was that he had written that song. We have the fact direct from the lady to whom she made this remark, and can vouch for it.

Mr George H. Pendleton and his wife harmonize in their sentiments.—Buffalo Express.

A HARTFORD paper says that Mr. Ames, of Falls Village, Ct., trying one of his wrought iron guns recently, loaded it to within fourteen inches of the muzzle with powder and wadding; then put in a projectile eighteen inches long, projecting from the muzzle one third of its length; then placed the gun against an embankment ten feet thick, composed of several tons of iron backed with earth, and set a slow match to the gun and fired it. The gun recoiled sixty feet, and drove the projectile entirely through the solid embankment of iron and earth.

DURING the session of the Chicago Convention a wag electrified the Copperheads by announcing that McClellan's baggage had arrived, and that, of course, he would soon be there. Curiosity was on tip-toe, and intense excitement prevailed. At length the report was traced to the wag who had seen a car load of sheers and spades unloaded at one of the depots. Then the joke was out, and so was the wag.

MINGO COAL COMPANY.

Capitol Stock $300,000

12,000 SHARES AT $25 EACH.

OF INTEREST TO LADIES.

PRESIDENT—JOHN GRAFF,
SECRETARY—CAPT. JAMES GORDON.
TREASURER—J. B. McCUNE.

DIRECTORS:

JOHN GRAFF, J. B. McCUNE,
WM. McKEE, R. FAWCETT, (Phila.)
J. H. LYDAY. JOHN SMITH, Superintt.

This Company owns the property known as the "Mingo Coal Works," together with the "Keenan Farm" adjoining, and containing in all about 700 acres. The property is situated on the west bank of the Monongahela river, about one and a half miles below Monongahela City, in the "third pool," on which are situated the miners' dwelling houses, store houses, shops, &c., together with a railway running to the river, with ample abutment and all necessary arrangements for loading coal.

The mines are already opened, drained and ventilated, and in good working order, with entries driven, and rooms turned, and all necessary facilities for working easily to and from the mines, and the coal is well known to be of the very best quality. The "Mingo" is believed to be one of the most valuable coal properties in the Monongahela Valley.

The Company now proposes to increase their facilities for mining by the construction of an additional railway, and have set apart $50,000 in cash for the purpose of making contemplated improvements and providing a working capital for the new organization.

With facilities which the Company will possess, the Directors confidently believe that the "Mingo" will prove to be one of the most substantial and remunerative stocks in the country.

A limited portion of the stock is now offered to the public at $15 per share. Books will be opened at the UNION BANKING COMPANY, on September 7th, 1864, and remain open until 10 o'clock, A. M., on September 9th, when they will be closed.

This company holds the fee simple of 1057 acres of best quality Coal Land, situate on the Monongahela river 7½ out of said land at $115 per acre amounts to $121,-7-5. The remaining $37,245 of the capital stock will be used in building a short railroad, erecting Coal Tipples and other necessary improvements, to develope the situation of the company. The distance from the river bank to the coal already opened is but fifty feet. At a low stage of the river there are twenty feet water at the Company's Coal Mines.

From these facts the Trustees and Directors have no doubt that with proper energy the stock of the company can be very soon made highly remunerative. Thirty per cent. on subscriptions will be called in, payable on or before the 12th of September, 1864; balance of instalments as may be ordered by the Trustees and Directors, and as the company require.

Books and subscription are opened at the following places:

GET THE BEST.

In these days of practical ideas, nobody will deny that a Sewing Machine is an indispensable institution in every well regulated family; that the work made upon a good machine is quite as durable and more beautiful than the best hand sewing, nobody will doubt; and that it will go through as much work in a day as could be performed in a week by hand, ten thousand workshops, and ten times ten thousand dresses will testify. But amid the variety of machines which are offered to the public, it is sometimes difficult for the purchaser to decide which is the best. A trial of over two years seems due to say with the greatest confidence that there is no better machine for general family use than that manufactured by the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine Company. It makes a beautiful elastic seam that does not rip or wear with washing, runs almost noiselessly; is plain, simple, easy to work, and not liable to get out of repair; fastens the ends of its own thread and runs threads and silks directly from the spools on which they are bought. In this opinion we are sustained by the 1 ding men in all parts of the country, who have awarded this Grover & Baker Machine the first premiums at all the State Fairs to date.—Frank Leslie's Illustrated News. paper.
