A Boy Carried to San my a Coutte Fish—A late letter from Cube contains an account of the carring offer boy, eight pears id, by a cuttile fish, which is about as horrid an affair as we have read of for some time. It seems this several children were playing near the store, and coming upon the cuttle fish, a few rout from the water, began to throw sticks and stones at it.
The fish at once retreated towards the weiser, the halden following in great gles and raining missilier apon the creature, the like of which they had never before tested; is soon as the outsile it had got to the water's edge it threw one of its long arms upon the arm of the boy nearest to it, and, to his, and, his playfellows, horror, began to drag bim into the sea. The poor child struggled to get loose, and streamed agonizingly, and some of the largest boys ruched to his aid, but too late. His body were almost instact, thy disagged cut of sight beneath the soam; and from the sell known vorselty of the cuttle fish it was of course understood that the wretched child was Alleged Larceny of Pig Metal.:

A lad named Long was fairested to-day on a charge of stealing pig metal and syrap iron from the Monongahela wharf. He stated that all the metal which he got was obtained from the river, by diving three or four feet under the surface of the water, and that it was taken out in open day, in the presence of passers by, under the being that it was taken out in open day, in the presence of passers by, under the being that the had a right to what he got in that way. He called respectable witnesses to prove that they had seen him getting the neal from the river, and gave the names of the parties to whom he had cold it. The information was made by the agent for the parties owing the metal, but after hearing the boy's witatement, he feelingd to presente him, and desired to knew if there was any way of reaching the purchasers. Mayor Lowry informed him that the parties purchasing could be held for treetving stolen goods, and expressed the opinion that they were really the gulity parties, as they could not help knowing that the metal off-red them by the boys was ofther stolen or taken in ignorance of the law. The boy stated that most of the metal which he obtained was sold to a man named M Clarg, man the Point, for a cent and a half a pound.
