On a Strike. The tailors of this city have been on a strike for the past week. They have heretofore re-ceived twelve dollars a week, and their demand now is for fifteen. We learn that one of the first class tailering establishments has accoded to the class tailoring establishments and soccase to the demand, but that all others of the same class staidily refuse to comply with the desires of the jurseymen. The second class establishments, hever, have as a general thing succumed to the pressure, and are paying the wages demanded. How men having families can live at this time on twelve dollars a weak is an enigma betwend our power to solve.
