TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 27th, 1864.

The easterly advices report a general reaction from the break of yesterday. Gold has advanced fifteen per cent. Most quotations, 15@20. The entire board list of stocks recovered somewhat, though not to the same extent as gold. The decline was too rapid to be permanent, though without doubt, we may easily calculate its average losses on cots, stocks, merchandize and grain.

The volume of sales offering at board investors did not. Purchases rare—though the public should understand that the list of sales quoted is not to be taken as the entire transactions. Sales begun at board are after completed outside, and do not therefore get on our list.

Business dull.

There was a good attendance at the sale of stocks at McKissick's auction room this evening, and notwithstanding the decline in gold and federal depression, better prices were realized than had been anticipated. Government securities find increased favor with the public as gold goes down. Although the gold-bearing stocks decline for transmission abroad would, in the ordinary calculation of price with the rates of exchange, fall off, the course of the market is controlled by the rising credits of the government over all other investments, and with signs and expectations of an early peace, which will largely concentrate both speculation and investment on the public funds.

The following items are taken from the New York Times of Monday: Victory in the Shenandoah was the great feature in the gold room last week. The fall was nearly Lwo per cent, or from 224 down to 200 per cent. This rapid fall carried down the foreign exchanges and most of the stock exchange with it, and completely unsettled the price of produce and merchandize. A parallel case of trade is reported in some quarters; but a few days familiarity with the lower prices of gold will doubtless lead to activity, if not to profits again. The prices of coal, and family marketing must soon follow downward, and with these the higher rates of hotel living. Some of the oldest gilt shrouded of the dry goods establishments up town were prompt to anticipate the turn on the victory of Atlanta several weeks ago, and a few of the real dealers have also shaped their business by the change in advance.

The import entries of the week are moderate. The export clearances of domestic produce are quite large in value. The grain movement from the West of the new crop is of colossal harvest, and the almost unequaled promise of the corn crop now maturing, by lighter and better than usual. The explanation is to be found in the concentration of money (temporarily withheld from investment, at Chicago, Cincinnati, &c, whether from speculation or the want of free money facilities, we are unable to say. Some heavy mercantile failures were reported a week or two ago from Chicago. But we have heard nothing of them since. It is satisfactory to hear that the new crop of cotton will be large, and planters are already lowering their engagements for November and the spring.

The following is a statement of the past week, including the dry goods table in our last paper, amount to $45,67[illegible], against $2,534,676 the corresponding week last year. The export clearances of domestic produce amount to $5,163,536, against $4,646,366 same week last year. The export of specie amounts to $1,229,000, against $1,413,000 same week in 1863. The customs for the week are $333,000.

THE Chicago Tribune of Monday gives the following account of the excitement produced in that city by the decline of gold:

The money market to-day was unusually quiet. The extraordinary decline in gold has unsettled the markets, and checked speculation and trading, and our grocery and dry goods, leather, and general wholesale houses are doing little or nothing. The decline in produce has caused an active demand for currency by holders who are unwilling to sell out and meet present losses, but there is very little doing by actual shippers. Money for all speculative pursuits is cheap, but legitimate dealers and shippers are freely accommodated at 10 per cent. per annum.

The Board of Trade Rooms to-day for upwards of two hours, presented a scene of the most indescribable confusion. In the early part of the morning, the telegraph wires were down, and no report of gold having been received, operators worked cautiously in the dark; but as soon as the dispatches began to arrive, a wild pandemonium, which has only been equaled in a few instances in the history of the grain trade of our city. The first dispatch received, quoting gold at 213, tended to raise the hopes of holders, and the markets gained strength but only for a brief space of time. For the telegraph kept delivering its messages or 210, 208, and 206, in quick succession, and down, down, went prices. Speculators, short-sellers, holders, buyers—all were panic stricken and appalled, while those who had stated their sell on gold not going below yesterday's quotations rushed hither and thither like mad men.

The Cincinnati Gazette of Monday noticing the results of the recent decline of gold, gives the following judgment:

One of our dry goods merchants who had a heavy stock of goods when the storm appeared in the horizon, and whose name has been in almost everybody's mouth for a week, the effect of which, if it was not the intention, was to discredit him, turns out "the sharpest of 'em all." He sold a very heavy stock, especially in New York. He saw what was coming; he put his goods into the auction rooms when they brought high prices rushed in and bought, in order to "break the market from being slaughtered and "the One hand firm" that some of the New York papers observed as, could now repurchase the same goods at material declines. The next step of "the Cincinnati firm" was to go into the market and take up that paper. They are now regarded as very shrewd operators. We presume Cincinnati as a whole, will come out of this panic, better than any other city, and it may further be said that the West will suffer little compared with the East. New York merchants are mainly disloyal. They did not think of drawbacks of such enormous, and they were pretty sure gold would reach three hundred; so they bou ded g ld and goods, and now they are suffering its consequences.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

TUESDAY, Sept. 27, 1864.

The general markets continue extremely dull and languid, there is but little prospect of any immediate improvement. With a very unsettled gold market, there is but little effort being made to transact business, and, as always is the case, when goods are declining, there are but very few buyers, and those few are holding back under the impression that prices have not yet by any means reached the bottom. There is, comparatively speaking, no demand for any of the leading articles of produce, and, while there is no disposition on the part that prices of almost everything are declining rapidly—for no such hope as in the east—there is really not enough doing to establish quotations.

GRAIN—Wheat is coming in very slowly and may be quoted from first hands at $1,75 for red and 1,85 for white. Barley appears to be wanted down at $1,75, and the receipts are light. Oats—Sale from store of 100 sks at 80. Corn—no sales, in the absence of which we omit quotations.

FLOUR—There is no new feature to notice in the flour market, either as regards demand or prices. There has been no material decline here as yet, but with gold below 200, and a fall of from 75c to $1 per bbl in New York, it seems almost certain that there will have to be a corresponding decline here. At present the demand is very light, being restricted entirely to the wants of the local trade.

GROCERIES—The decline in gold appears to have affected groceries more than any article in this market. Coffee, which a few days since would fetch 47 at 48, is now offered freely at 44@45, and even at this decline, there are no buyers. Sugars both raw and refined, are dull and lower, but prices are too unsettled to quote correctly. Molasses quiet but steady with small sales of prime New Orleans at $1 25

BUTTER—This article, which a few days since was held firmly at 45@50, is now almost unsaleable at any price, and the stock is rapidly accumulating—and the, we understand, has upwards of 20,000 lbs.

EGGS—Steady, owing to a short supply and limited receipts, and we note regular sales at 22@24 cts—nominal at 22.

SWEET POTATOES—Have still further declined, and Jerseys may now be quoted at from $3 to $,50 per bbl—a decline of $3 per bbl within the past ten days

APPLES—Are coming in freely, but good qualities still sell pretty readily at from $2,00 to 2,50 per bbl and very choice, $3.

BACON—Is dull and neglected, though prices are without quotable change—20½ for shoulders; and 20¾@21 for plain hams are offered and sold.

OILS—Is firmer and some dealers are asking a slight advance, but as a general thing prices remain about as last quoted.

Pittsburgh Petroleum Market.

SEPT. 27.—The demand for crude continues light, being restricted almost entirely to the wants of the local trade, but p ices are nominally unchanged, a sale of 55 bbls being reported at 35c, bbls included. The receipts continue insignificant, and the stock on hand at present is very light, which is an offset against the demand, for if there was anything like an average supply, the rates now prevailing could not be sustained. Refined continues dull and depressed, and there is not enough doing to form a basis for quotations. We note a sale of 300 bbls in bond, "Aladdin," brand, on private terms. Headsimum is still quoted firm at $7,75@8,00 per bbl, while it seems almost impossible to make a sale of Naphtha at any price.

The receipts by the Allegheny river during the twenty four hours ending this evening, comprise 937 bbls, as follows: 360 bbls for Fisher & Bro; 261 for H. McKelvy and 236 for H. Collins.

New York Petroleum Market

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

NEW YORK, September 27.—There is an improved demand for Crude, and prices are a shade firmer, though unchanged—32c on the spot. Refined in bond is in better demand, but prices are again a trifle lower, closing at 65@66. Free Oil is dull and lower, with sales at 75 on the spot, and 80 for October delivery. Naphtha is dull and nominal at 45.

New York Stock and Money Market

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

NEW YORK, September 27—Stocks more active and a shade firmer—Pittsburgh & Fort Wayne, 97; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 103a107¾. Government Securities—U S 6 Shrs, 1881, 106¾@107; One Year Certificates, 99¾; Seven Thirties, 107; Five Twenties, 106¾@109; Ten Forties, 96. Gold is unsettled and irregular, but a shade lower this afternoon, closing at 193.

Philadelphia Stock Market.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept 27—Oil stocks generally were a fraction higher and the market was more active. The following are the closing quotations: McClintock, 6¾; Story Farm, 8¾; Big Tank, 8¾; Ferry, 4¾; Duvall 10. Olmstead, 2¾; Noble & Delamater, 13¾; McElhenny, 7¾; Dearmont, 11¾; Maple Shade, 7.

Cleveland Market.

CLEVELAND, Sept 26.—Wheat dull, unsettled and lower. Sales before the afternoon report was received 1000 bu and 1400 bu No 2 red at $1, at Orange 1049 bu do 2 red at $1,50, and two cars do at the same price, a decline of 10 since Saturday.

Corn, sales 7500 bu No 2 red at $1,34; 2000 bu No 1 at $1,34. Market closing heavy.

Oats dull and heavy. Offered for the without receipts from shower.

Rye, dull and nominal.

Barley, dull and no sales reported.

Chicago Market—Mail Report.

Sept. 26.—The panic in the Broadstuffs markets which was inaugurated on Saturday, was kept up to-day with renewed vigor, owing to further decline of 15@18c in gold. Holders of wheat suffered the most, that article selling down to 1 fs 8o per bushel below on inside quotations of Saturday. Opening sales of No 2 spring, were made $1 60@1 60¾ but prices declined to $1 46, 1 46½, and close dull at the inside figure. Winter wheat was de l and unsettled.

There was no market for Flour, and it would be useless to give quotations. A lot of a 100 bbls choice Spring extra sold at $8 00, which is the only transaction to-hand of Corn was extremely dull, and suffered a decline of 3c per bushel, with light sales at $1 21@1 23 for No 1, and at from $1 2.al 24 f r No 2—closing nominal at $ 22 for the latter.

There was a good inquiry for Oats and the market was moderately act ve at a decline of fs No 1 sold at from 62a(63½c, and choice ed at from 60a61½c

Rye was dull, and declined 15 20c, with sales at $1 00 al 05 for No 2, and at $1 00 f r No 1 in store.

The market for Barley was unsettled at a decline of 1a15c per bushel No 2 is store sold at fr m $1 00a1 18 pre ipally at $1 05, and a small lot by sample on track charged here's at $1 50.

High wines were extremely dull and 1 nuf red a decline of 1a2c. The only sale reported was 100 bbls at $1 06.

Seeds were dull and prices favored the buyer Timothy seed sold at from $3 50a4 50 for Inferior to prime, and common to prime. Flax seed at from $2 52a3 10.—Journal.

BOOKS, ALBUMS, &c.

A GREAT HISTORICAL NOVEL

THE DEVOTED BRIDE.

BY

ST. GEORGE TUCKER.

PRICE—$1,50 IN PAPER; $2 IN CLOTH.

From the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

THE DEVOTED BRIDE. By St. George Tucker. This is a story of several lives in the "Old Dominion." The heroine is of that Huguenot like, cavalier blood, which coursed through the veins of the noble early settlers of Eastern Virginia. The tale is admirably narrated, and here and there we observe historical catches, which take us back to our boyhood on the Potomac. It is a story of love among those who feel the same with chivalric ardor, and the noblest principles. This is a novel which, in personal, will remind us of the day of Virginia's prime, in a delightful narrative of real life, and make us forget, for a little while, at least, the civil war of ours. We heartily commend the book in every way, and hope it may be well received.

A NEW AMERICAN NOVEL.

THE RIVAL BELLES,

BY

J. B. JONES,

Author of "Wild Western Scenes," "Wild Southern Scenes," "Love and Money," or Aristocracy in the Quaker City," "The War Path," etc., etc.

PRICE—$1,50 IN PAPER; $2 IN CLOTH.

From the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

THE RIVAL BELLES. By author of "Wild Western Scenes." This author here gives us an American novel of real merit, and considerable dramatic power. The Scenes are laid in the National Capital in Philadelphia, New York and Baltimore, and the delineations of real life, manners, principles, elevating and defective morals, are drawn with a master hand and life and energy of a moving style. Plot and Passion are interwoven so delicately and naturally as to carry the interest of the reader through the work, and enable the true thinker to weigh and appreciate its tendency. The false pictures of some of our people receive a truthful depiction in this work, and all almost every form wrathing rebuke. The worthies of the period—some of some of our interesting characters—are also successfully disposed of. This book is well written, adds power to the usual excellent style that characterizes the publications, and we have no doubt it will meet with a very large sale.
