Unmasked Aristocracy.

In an article in yesterday's issue entitled, "Copperhead Duplicity and Inconsistency," we stated that whilst the great mass of rebel sympathizers in the North are guilty of playing double, and advocate either peace or war, liberty or slavery, according as it may suit the taste of their auditory, or the region which they illuminate, there are, notwithstanding, a few bold, out-spoken men who do not, or cannot conceal their opposition to the Government, and sympathy with the rebel cause. Among these we notice the name of C. GODFREY GUNTHER, Mayor of the city of New York. This brazen-faced and unprincipled traitor cannot rejoice over Union victories, and refuses to lend his official influence to secure a becoming celebration of them. The Common Council of New York passed a resolution on the 26th ult., appointing a committee of ten from each board for the purpose of making the necessary arrangements to cause the various public buildings to be illuminated in honor of our recent victories. The Copperhead Mayor returned it promptly, accompanied by his official disapprobation, and displeasure. Lest we should be accused of misrepresenting his "Excellency," we give his letter in full and ask our readers to read, mark and inwardly digest it. It is as follows:

MAYOR'S OFFICE, NEW YORK, Sept. 29, 1864.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

GENTLEMEN: Your resolution of the 26th inst., appointing a "committee of ten from each board, for the purpose of making the necessary arrangements to cause the various public buildings to be illuminated in honor of the recent victories on land and sea," is returned unapproved.

I might acquiesce in your response to an appeal of your fellow citizens, who might desire to give an expression to their feelings respecting these victories, but I must decline to accede to a proclamation to the citizens generally to join in such an illumination, for various reasons, which will briefly state:

1. If I should issue such a proclamation, there are many citizens who would be denounced as disloyal, if through want of opportunity or inclination, or of means, they failed to comply with the recommendation.

2. By those in authority, they are not claimed as Union victories, but as the result of the Emancipation Proclamation, and latest war measure of President LINCOLN, as announced in his "to whom it may concern" manifesto.

3. It is ascertained that the new policy of the Administration will give us a succession of victories. If this be the case your honorable body will be called upon to illuminate every fortnight, and if the papers in the employ of the Administration, who daily parade "the defeat of the rebels" are to be believed, three times a week.

I yield to none in my attachment to "the Union as it was, and the Constitution as it is," but as the President demands of the Southern people to abandon the rights which the Constitution bestows, I do not see how those who have always held that the Federal government has nothing to do with the domestic institutions of the States, can be expected to rejoice over victories which, whatever they may be, surely are not Union victories.

If these victories were to unite the States, and were a sure harbinger of peace, I would be pleased, if I could issue such a proclamation as would induce the poorest citizen to part with his last cuffs for the purchase of a single tallow candle to celebrate the event.

4. It has been the immemorial custom of mankind, in all ages and climes, to abstain from rejoicing over victories gained in civil wars, and such has been the practice thus far during the present strife, which has distracted our once happy Nation. The only effect of departing from this usage, sanctioned alike by humanity and sound policy, will be to acknowledge, by such exhibitions, that these are victories over aliens and enemies, and that there is no hope of securing peace on the basis of the Federal Union. This I hope, in common with a large portion of our fellow citizens, I am not prepared to abandon.

You are always aware that there is the essential difference between the two parties now contesting for political mastery in the Northern States: one of those declares that no terms can be offered, except such as may be based upon an unconditional recognition of the rights of the States, and the other maintains that "peace may be restored on the basis of the Federal Union."

Taking into consideration that a canvass is now in progress of the most exciting character, I am forced to regard the proposed demonstration as one of a political nature, and, according to the rule which I laid down for my guidance on entering upon the duties of my Mayoi, I cannot give it my official indorsement.

C. GODFREY GUNTHER, Mayor.

This epistle scarcely needs comment. It is one of the most unblushing deliverances which we have yet seen. It is true that it is in strict accordance with the Chicago platform, but it is more, it is the Chicago platform unmasked. It is, moreover, a stern rebuke to the standard-bearer of the Copperhead Democracy, who declared in his late speech at Orange, New Jersey, that the victories achieved by SHERMAN, FARRAGUT and SHERIDAN were "glorious."

The Mayor admits that there are some, even in New York, that would be inclined to celebrate our victories, but it is not right to encourage these, lest those who have no inclination to celebrate them might be accused of "disloyalty".

But the great burden of his fear is, that there will be no end to such celebrations. The victories will follow each other in such rapid succession that there will be one continuous Illumination until the rebellion is crushed, and no time will be allowed to bring about a cessation of hostilities." We will have a victory every "fortnight," or, it may be, "three times a week!" But these, he says, "whatever they may be," although won by Union soldiers in defence of the Union, and under the flag of the Union, "are not Union victories!" If they are not we would like to know what victories they are. They have been won in defence of the Chicago platform, which declares that all victories are wrong, and nothing is right but a cessation of hostilities." One thing is certain, and that is, they are both rebel and Democratic defeats. No wonder then that Mayor GUNTHER refused to lend his official sanction to their celebration. If they had been rebel victories his "honor" would have had no conscientious scruples to aid in their most enthusiastic celebration.

MR. EDGAR COWLING announces that a book is being written, containing testimony to the effect that General McClellan "sacrificed the army and country—not from incompetency, but because he was a traitor at heart, and was in the employ of Jeff. Davis for that especial purpose." All persons who know anything about this matter are requested to report instantly to Mr. Cowling, who is in course of preparing testimony.

GEN. ORD AT BALTIMORE.—Maj. Gen. Ord arrived at Baltimore on Saturday from the front, and is now at Barnum's. He received a flesh wound in the right leg, but is doing well. The General is full of hope of glorious results from our present movements. He says he hopes to be up and at it again in a few weeks.

Astounding Disclosures—What the Sons of Liberty Proposed to Do—U. S. Money Expenders.

We give below a synopsis of the testimony of Felix G. Stidger, given on Tuesday and Wednesday last before a military commission at Indianapolis, on the trial of H. H. Dodd, on a charge of Treason. The witness was a detective, and entered the secret meetings of the Sons of Liberty in Indiana, and made himself thoroughly acquainted with its prominent members and the purposes of the organization. His testimony is given with great clearness, and gathered strength from the rigid cross-examination to which he was subjected. The disclosures made by Mr. Stidger are most damaging, yea, damning, to prominent politicians of the Copperhead persuasion. Unfortunately for them, his statements are, on many points, corroborated by notorious and fixed facts. Not only treason, but murder was meditated, and resolved upon in the Council of the Order.

The examination of witnesses was commenced on Wednesday, before a Military Commission, brevet Brigadier General Colgrove, President.

Felix G. Stidger testified that Dr. Bowles gave him the first information respecting the Order of the Sons of Liberty. He was sent by Captain S. Jones, Provost Marshal to learn the particulars of the organization. He had an interview with Bowles about the 20 h of May, 1864, and was regularly inited into the Order of the Sons of the Sons of Liberty. This was about the 6th or 8th of June. He was instructed by Mr. Harrison, Secretary of the Grand Council of this State. He first met Dodd in the office of Mr. Bingham, editor of the Indianapolis Sentinel. He had a letter of introduction to Dodd, from Judge Bullitt. The letter was produced in Court.

The conversation the witness had with Dodd, related to Mr. Coffin, a United States detective, who was to be assinated. Dodd said such men would have to be dispatched. The persons connected in this matter at that time, were Dodd, Harrison, Dr. Bowles, Milligan, Dr. Humphrey, and R. J. Gatling. There were a number of others whose names the witness could not remember. Persons were not admitted to the meetings of the order of the Sons of Liberty without a password. Witness was, at the time, Secretary of the Grand Council for the State of Kentucky. He was appointed by the chief officer of the State, Dr. Bullitt, and still holds the position, if such an office exists. The Sons of Liberty was a military organization. It was in this organization that Coffin's murder was discussed, and it was decided emphatically that it should be done.

There was to have been a meeting at Hamilton on the occasion of Mr. Vallandigham's return, at which Coffin was expected to be present. At the meeting referred to, Dodd called on those who would go with him to murder Coffin. Only one man responded, McBride, from Evansville, Ind., and although he knew Coffin, he could not join Dodd. The witness, Bowles, Dodd and Milligan, went to Hamilton, but Coffin could not be found. There were two meetings on the day referred to. At the evening meeting the organization of the Sons of Liberty was discussed. A number of speeches were made, all full of the oppression and tyranny of the Government, which was to be resisted by force of arms. They expected a definite time to be set for a general uprising, in which they were to seize the United States arsenals in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. The rebel prisoners in the States were to be released and armed with arms seized from the arsenals. The number in the Order of the Sons of Liberty was calculated to be 60,000 to 75,000 in Indiana. Illinois was counted on as having a considerable number, and Missouri was believed to be almost unanimous. Ohio was not much counted on. Bowles told the witness that he had his command organized into companies and regiments.

Saw Peoples at Louisville; he was there experimenting with R. C. Booking in the manufacture of hand grenades and Greek fire, which were used in destroying Government property. Bowles said that Greek fire had been used for the destruction of Government warehouses at Louisville, and of Government steamers.

The programme of the meeting at Chicago, in July last, was given by the witnesses, who said Dodd told them that at Chicago they had agreed to raise the camps and depots of prisoners in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, seize the arsenals in those States, arm rebels prisoners after being released, and also members of the Order, and unite at Louisville. The uprising was to be general in those States and in Missouri, and as much of Kentucky as possible. The date was not fixed definitely, as they were governed in regard to waiting for the rebel armies to operate with them. At a conference with Bowles, Milligan and Walker, it was determined to go ahead on the 15th or 16 h of August, and carry out the plan agreed upon, and eventually unite at Louisville.

At the Chicago meeting of the order, there were present, Judge Bullitt, Dr. Bowles, Richard Barrett, of St. Louis, Dodd and John C. Walker; they agreed that the uprising was to take place from the 3d to the 17th of August and should be finally determined by Vallandigham. the supreme commander of the order, whom they were to obey. Dodd was Grand Commander, and Walker, Bowles, Milligan and Humphries, Major Generals for Indiana.

Bullitt had attempted to communicate with Col. Jeans. A rebel Colonel Sibert, on parole in Kentucky, was initiated into the order, and attempted to get permission to go to Canada, and from whence he designed going to Mexico and into the Confederacy.

At Chicago they agreed the order was to act openly in mass Democratic meetings, and on the day of the uprising, August 16th, were to have a mass meeting at Indianapolis and carry out their programme. The design of the movement was to carry a portion of the States into the Confederacy. Bowles talked privately about a North-western Confederacy.

In regard to the contemplated assassination of Coffin, it was expected to find him at Hamilton, at the Vallandigham meeting, pick a quarrel with him, if possible, and shoot him. Mr. H. Heffren was a member of the order Witness met him in Salem, Indiana, twice; he was the Deputy Grand Commander of the State of Indiana. He was formerly a Lieut. Colonel of an Indiana regiment. He said emphatically that he and Dodd had the right to call the order together at any time they might think proper. He also said that the object and intent of the organization was to co-operate with the Confederate forces. Witness met a man by the name of Piper, in Louisville, who said he resided in Springfield, Ill. He was a member of the order, and said he was on the staff of Vallandigham. Piper was present at the meeting of the Grand Council in Kentucky, and assisted in opening the meeting. He said that James A Barrett, formerly of St. Louis, was there, chief of Vallandigham's staff, and that Captain Hines, of the rebel army, had charge of the releasing of rebel prisoners at Johnson's Island. Piper said he had a communication from Vallandigham to Bowles, giving him charge of the releasing of rebel prisoners at Rock Island, which was to be done at the same time.

A conical shell about the size of a 32-pound, or was here handed to the witness. He said he saw a similar shell to that at Bocking's room at the Louisville Hotel, about the 27th or 30th of June. Bowles, Calfus, Charley Miller and others were there. The lower part or butt of the shell screwed off, exhibited an inner shell, which, being unscrewed, showed another, inside of which was an iron case to contain the powder. Round this was an aperture to contain the liquid Greek fire, and this inner shell being loose and furnished with a percussion cap, caused an explosion on falling on any object. This infernal machine was intended to be used for the destruction of Government property. A spherical hand-grenade about three inches in diameter, was here produced, which, being unscrewed in the center, showed an inner shell furnished with nipples for percussion caps; the inner shell was to contain the powder, or powder and bullets, and the aperture between the inner and outer shell the liquid Greek fire. The shell or hand-grenade, on being thrown at any object, would explode immediately it touched any object, and everything near it would be ignited. This infernal machine was also explained to those persons named, and Bowles told witness that Greek fire had been used for the destruction of the two boats at Louisville in the spring, also for a number of boats that went down the river in April or May. This Greek fire breaking, he said, would ignite instantly, or it might be made to ignite some time afterward.

The order known as American Knights had been changed, as Dodd said, by Judge Bullitt and Mr. Calfus, to the Order of the Sons of Liberty, and Dodd wanted me to distribute a new pamphlet or ritual of the Order throughout the State. The commands of the chiefs of the order were paramount to all other laws or orders, and were to be obeyed in opposition to any civil laws or orders of the Government.

The cross-examination was lengthy. Stidger's testimony was strengthened, many new points against the prisoner and the order being developed.

A Battery of 15-Inch Guns.

The Philadelphia American says: "On a recent visit to Fort Hamilton we learn that the New Water Battery is nearly completed, and six of the guns are already mounted. They are all of cast-iron, of fifteen inches caliber, and are mounted on wrought iron carriages. Bels are being constructed for twenty-four or twenty-five more, so that the while battery will have thirty or thirty-one 15-inch guns. We presume that each one of these cannon would be more efficient in preventing the passage of an iron-clad fleet through the Narrows than all the guns of the old fort. In other words, the New Water Battery is probably a greater addition to the defenses of this harbor than would be the construction of thirty new forts like Fort Hamilton, provided they were to be armed with the old style of ordnance. Now we should like to see two 20-inch guns placed at Fort Lafayette, as near the level of the water as possible each mounted in a revolving turret, the walls of the turrets 2 feet in thickness and built up of as thick plates as can be conveniently made, say four, five, and six inches. Then with rafts of timbers, to keep hostile fleets attempting to pass for awhile under the fire of these heavy guns, we think the southern approach to our harbor would be pretty secure."

THE BOSTON Journal says: "A correspondent draws our attention to the fact that the Army Register states that General Philip H. Sheridan was born in Massachusetts, but received his appointment as captain in the Thirteenth United States Infantry from Ohio. We have been credibly informed that General Sheridan was born in Boston, and in early life was a newsboy on State st.; ot."
