NATIONAL UNION NOMINATIONS.

FOR PRESIDENT:

ABRAHAM LINCOLN, of Illinois.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT:

ANDREW JOHNSON, of Tennessee.

THE RESULT

Friends, the battle is fought and the victory won. You have crushed the Rebellion, cheered the hearts of our brave fellows who are struggling with the expiring monster at Petersburg and Richmond, and struck a blow for Liberty and Union that will give us a peace that will be a true peace. The allies of rebels here in the North have been crying peace, peace, where there could be no peace; but we trust this we have heard the last of that insane, traitorous and cowardly cry.

A PREMATURE JUBILEE.

Last night upon the receipt of a few scattering gains for their ticket, the democracy became exceedingly noisy and jubilant. Their speakers roared from a balcony at their headquarters on Fifth street, and the crowd below cheered in chorus. But about eleven o'clock the telegraph wires stopped them very suddenly. Capt. Koontz, the defeated candidate for Congress in the 23d district showed his true character by abusing most grossly Mr. Williams his successful competitor, and other gentlemen who opposed his election.

OHIO.

What news we have from this gallant State is very good. Cox is beaten, and a good Union man takes the place of Pendleton. The dispatches, before we go to press, may put us in possession of still better news. The notorious Copperhead Long is beaten. Hamilton county, which used to be the stronghold of the Democracy, now rolls up a majority of five thousand for the Union. Democracy and Chopperheadism are not the same thing by any means.

INDIANA.

The news from this glorious State, about which many Union men felt some anxiety, is all that could be wished. That noble patriot Governor Morton is re-elected by a large majority. This, together with a reported gain of two members of Congress, ought to satisfy the friends of the Union for this morning. Later dispatches assure us that our majority there is overwhelming.

GAIN OF CONGRESSMEN.

Indications warrant the expectation that we have gained KETCHUM in the Luzerne district, PENNY in the Schuylkill district, MYERS in the Dauphin district, BARKER in the Cambria district, LAWRENCE in the Washington district; and we hope that FULLER in the Westmoreland, Fayette and Indiana district, and KUNZ in the Franklin, Bedford and Somerset district.

PENNSYLVANIA.

We go to press under the firm persuasion that this State is all right, and that she may properly take her place at the head of the three glorious States that voted yesterday. Whether the majority will equal that for Gov. CURTIN, in 1863, we have not the data upon which to base a calculation. We refer our readers to the telegrams.

DEMOCRATIC NEWS.

About half past nine o'clock last evening, a Copperhead on the balcony of the Democratic headquarters, made the following announcement: "Private advices from Philadelphia inform us that the city has gone largely Democratic." A rousing cheer followed of course.

LETTER FROM GENERAL DIX.

His Opinion of the Chicago Platform—The Presidential Canvass.

The following letter from General DIX was addressed to the Committee of the Union mass meeting held in Independence square, in Philadelphia, on Saturday:

NEW YORK, October 6, 1864.

GENTLEMEN: I have received your invitation to address the mass meeting to be held in Independence square on Saturday. The duties incident to the active command of a military department render it impossible for me to attend public meetings, or make political speeches. But I accede with pleasure to your request to write you a letter.

"There is but one question before this country in the approaching canvass. Shall we prosecute the war with unabated vigor until the rebel forces lay down their arms; or shall we, to use the language of the Chicago Convention, make immediate efforts for a cessation of hostilities, with a view to an amicable conviction of all the States, &c."

"Believing that the latter measure, for whatever purpose adopted, would lead inevitably to a recognition of the independence of the insurgent States; and believing, moreover, that true policy, as well as true mercy, always demands the unhappy exigencies of war, a steady and unwavering application of all the means and all the energies at command, until the object of the war is accomplished, I shall oppose the measure in every form in which opposition is likely to be effective.

"General McCLELLAN, the candidate of the Chicago Convention, by force of his position, must be deemed to approve all the declarations with which he was presented to the country, unless he distinctly disavows them. Unfortunately he is silent on the only question in regard to which the people care that he should speak. He does not say whether he is in favor of a cessation of hostilities—the measure announced by those who nominated him as the basis for action in case of his election—or whether he is opposed to it. He does not meet the question with manly frankness, as I am confident he would be done if he followed the natural bent of his own instincts instead of yielding to the subtle suggestions of politicians. The Chicago Convention presented a distinct issue to the people. At the instance of the Convention he was bound to accept or repudiate it. He has done neither; and consequently the electors may be drawn from the silence, either the war democrats or peace democrats must be deceived.

"In selling for a cessation of hostilities the members of the Chicago Convention have, in my judgment, totally misrepresented the feelings and opinions of the great body of the democracy. The policy produced in its name would be, in fact as a declaration can—what it has never been before, a peace party, discarding it from the eminence on which it has stood in every other national conflict. In this injustice to the country, and to a great party identified with all that is honorable in our history, I can have no part. I can only mourn over the reproach which has been brought upon it by its leaders, and cherish the hope that it may hereafter, under the auspices of better counsellors, resume its ancient efficiency and beneficent influence in the administration of the government.

"Very truly yours,

"JOHN A. DIX."

New York.

The Democracy of New York have abandoned their chosen catchword. They have stricken "Democratic" from the head of their electoral ticket, and, in the hope of catching the unwary, have styled it "The Union Electoral Ticket," while the State ticket, also disclaiming any connection with "the great Democratic party," has for its heading "The Union State Ticket." How are the mighty fallen! Who would have suppposed that the Democratic managers would have been so put to it for votes in 1864 as to seek to obtain them by a sneaking adoption of the symbols of their adversaries? With the abandonment of the war policy, a worse than Brooks spirit has crept into the councils of the party that has so often led the nation to battle and to victory, but by the folly and the cowardice of its leaders is ever more stranded amid the wrecks of toryism and Hartford Convention Federalism.—N. Y. Tribune.

A brave young officer with Gen. Sheridan, writing from Winchester, reports that one of our generals, when he saw the rebel lines break and run at Fisher's Hill, exclaimed: "There goes another plank out of the Chicago Platform!"

The Sequel to Jeff Davis' Contortions.

General COOPER, Inspector General of the rebel army, has supplied a very appropriate supplement to Jeff. Davis' Macon speech. Every one liable to the rebel conscription, heretofore exempted, must report at once for duty in the field. Only those mechanics employed in government workshops are excepted from the general draft. Sick and physically disabled persons must, in all cases, report themselves at the camp of instruction, and if, after undergoing a certain amount of drill, they may get off. General COOPER's order, however, must be obeyed. We commend its study as a political commentary on Jeff Davis' Confession, that two-thirds of his army have deserted him, and as a confirmation of Gen. GRANT's averment that the conspirators are bound to rob the cradle and the grave."

The Richmond Enquirer, in publishing this order, takes occasion to commend its wisdom, evidently contemplating satisfactory results from having the "physically disabled" sent to the front. The arrangement is doubtless made with a special view to desertions. A battalion or two of cripples can probably be depended on—but to run away, of course. Jeff. Davis throws himself on the matrons, widows and maidens of Georgia. Gen. COOPER, who is the ranking officer in the Confederate army, rushes with his Provost Marshals to the hospitals, to see if his quotas cannot be made up from that source. But the Richmond Enquirer, while approving of what both these officials have done, expresses the opinion that something more may now be needed to prevent a ruinous collapse of the Confederacy. The Enquirer, in short, calls lustily for a general arming of negro slaves.

"The President," it says, "has announced the startling fact, that two thirds of the army are absent without leave. At present all are needed, and all must come forward. Those that delay or shirk will be hunted down and permanently put to the army. We should be glad to see the Confederate Congress provide for the purchase of two hundred and fifty thousand negroes, present them with their freedom and the privilege of remaining in the States, and arm, equip, drill and fight them." Slavery, the Enquirer concludes, must "not be permitted to stand in the way of the success of our cause." Other States may decide for themselves, but Virginia, after exhausting her whites, will fight her blacks through to the last man."

These boasts have been made to open a poll at every hospital, barracks and camp in or near Washington, Alexandria, and the fortifications around Washington, wherever there are ten or more voters from the State, and tickets, blank forms for returns, &c., will be distributed in due time.

A poll also be opened at the Headquarters of Colonel JAS ES A. EKIN, No 314 H street Washington city, for the employees there, and for the convenience of all detached officers and men who cannot legally vote with the organizations to which they respectively belong.
