CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Large and Enthusiastic Meeting in the Allegheny Diamond Last Night.

Those who are laboring under the impression that the great work ceased on Tuesday last, will be gratified to learn that so far from ceasing to labor, our forces are still at it, uniting their efforts to strengthen our victories in the November election. Last night there was a great outpouring of the people in the Allegheny Diamond to listen to the distinguished speakers who were there to address them, and the tremendous bursts of applause which were continually greeting the welkin ring, showed how earnestly their hearts were engaged in the great cause.

The meeting was organized by the election of David Reese as President. Vice Presidents, Wm. Foster, of West Dear; S. S. Shields, Allegheny; Alexander Hasen, Allegheny; Robert Cutherwood, West Dear; John Myers, Allegheny.

The meeting was first addressed by J. J. Shibenech, Esq., but as we did not reach the stand until near the conclusion of his speech, we are unable to make a report of it. We were informed, however, that he covered all the grounds necessary to prove that the recent elections showed conclusively that the Union party intended in having been weakened by the machinations of Northern traitors and sympathizers with treason; had been materially strengthened, and that the present victories only foreshadowed the great crushing victory we should obtain in November next.

As the remainder of Mr. Shibeneck's speech, Thomas M. Marshall, Esq., came forward and was received with deafening cheers. He said that yesterday after the election, knots of cunning traitors as far as the law allowed, could be seen, chuckling and counting as any returns would come in showing increased votes for their friends; and in the shape, counting for their friends, the traitors of the South, and they would tell you—that without taking into consideration the votes of the soldiers, they would still a majority of from six to eight hundred thousand.—Let will find a statement to this effect in the Post, as a dog returns to his vomit, so the key return to their refuge, that of lying. But none of them dare to put up their greenback for the support of his opinion. I met some of them yesterday, and he said to me that if I would throw out the soldier's vote he would bet all—I mean I thr they would carry the State. I told him to come with me to my friend Anthony McTighe, and I would make him a small bet of two or three thousand dollars, but when he found that I was ready to back my opinion, he had not. I met him to-day, and he said he believed in me to a man, and that he did not know but that he would vote for Old Abe himself in November. We have at this election practically secured the election of Old Abe in November. We have made sure of fifty-six members of congress, of which forty-six or seven are true blue. In Ohio the Democrats nominated George H. Pendleton, but the people of his own district have repudiated him by electing our man by a majority of over two thousand. They have also turned out Long and Cox. We don't fight our battles with the indecision of McClellan, but with the energy of Phil. Sheridan. We do not do like McClellan—fight a battle with two-thirds of our strength, having on hand a large reserve which are never brought on the field to give the finishing blow to a dispirited and beaten foe, but we bring in our reserves. Like Phil. Sheridan, we har'nt time to count our victories, for we are not through yet. The entire camps around Washington are almost unanimous for us.

The cause which we bear upon our shoulders is a grand and glorious one. Neither Mr. Lincoln or General McClellan enter into this contest as men, but as the supporters of a principle. Read the platform framed at Chicago by the leaders of the democratic party, and I pledge you my word that you would not know that there was a rebel in the field, or a rebel War, in our midst. You would not guess that loyal blood had enriched Southern soil, and that the nation is trembling in the balance, shattered. In 1856, when the democratic convention was in session at Cincinnati, framing a platform upon which George W. Woodward was to stand, they could look from their windows and see the bayonets of Lee's rebel hordes, glistening in the sun, but not a word was said about crushing out this rebellion. Silence, in a great crisis like this, says, come and take me. It was the same at Chicago; not a voice was raised to say that this rebellion was wrong. The Post will tell you that you cannot put down this war with speeches, resolutions, &c. Then what do they mean by demanding an armistice? The most damning thing against the Chicago Platform is not what is in it, but what is not in it. And this is the party who ask to be put into power, a party who never say one word about protesting us from the assaults of our enemies—nay, they say that after a war of experiment of four years, it has proven a failure. What is the meaning of the word experiment? As intelligent physician in treating a patient would never make use of the word, except as something unlike of the regular practice.

The Constitution says that the President, as Commander-in-Chief of the army shall have power to raise troops to repel invasion or to suppress its rebellion, and yet those kickers for the Constitution, deny this right, and say that after an experiment of four years, battoly three years and five months, but seven months of a life is very little for a Democratic Convention. I admit that during the seventeen months that McClellan was commander-in-chief of the army it was a failure. Where were we when this rebellion commenced, and where are we now? In the first Old Abe has done in crushing down the Border States; and for eighteen months tried a conciliating policy. He made a mistake by spoiling for a fight, and making an armistice with the devil. We had better have fought the devil from the beginning. During the past three years we have conquered from this so-called Southern Confederacy 600,000 square miles of territory, more than Napoleon conquered before in the same length of time since the beginning of the world. During their whole career, Napoleon and Julius Cæsar did not conquer this much, and yet these Chicago liars say that this war is a failure. They were so fools as that conversation, if they were there. They were acting upon the principle of heads I win, tails you lose. The speaker told the following joke. In the south there were darkies, debating socially and the question came up as to whether the hen laid the eggs, or she ran the hatched them was the mother of the chickens. The question was about to be decided, when an ugly darky sitting back in one corner asked if he might be allowed a question. On his answering in the affirmative he said, well sah, suppose de old hen happen to hatch dem eggs; what den? He also illustrated the fact that many good men still clung to the party because of the name, by an anecdote about an Irishman, who got some game eggs, and put them under a game hen, so as to raise some game chickens, but some mischievous boys discovered Pat's intentions, stole the chicken's eggs, and substituted duck eggs. In due course of time the eggs were hatched, and were viewed by Pat, with pride, as he showed them to his friends, who discovering his error, endeavored to point it out to him, but all in vain. All the reply that Pat would make was Och, luk at the rare of it! Gee, how it can swim. Like old Democrats who vote the Democratic ticket because it is labelled democratic. They would even wallow in the sarkey if some one would pin his ears back and greek him.

He alluded the democratic party into two parts. One of citizens honest, but old habits and old associations had made grooves in their minds which they could not overcome. But the great mass of the Democratic leaders were dishonest, and have determined to overthrow our Government, if needs be, by force. There are secret political societies in Pittsburgh, and there are men who boast that they can travel south of the Mason, as easy as they can north of them; men who say they will place McClellan in power in Washington, no matter who is elected. There are men in this county who belong to the Sons of Liberty, and I can mention some of them when it is necessary.

Mr. Marshall spoke for some time longer, being urged by the audience. At the close of his remarks he was to be followed by H. G. Mackrell, Esq., and James Marshall, Esq., but other duties calling us away, we were unable to obtain any report of their speeches.

Coal Mining Machine.

James R. Weaver, of Tarpersaneville, has invented an undermining or "bearing in" machine, which has been examined by a number of skillful machinists, who pronounce it the desideratum for mining coal. The machine operates a series of picks, which have the peculiar motion of the human arm when manipulating a pick in undermining or bearing into the coal, and are moved up to their work by the same mechanism which operates them, and their motion and movements can be graduated to any desired speed, hence the machine can be worked by hand, horse, or steam power. This machine at once strikes the mind as being strong, durable and portable, and will not weigh over two hundred and fifty pounds, and will not cost over three hundred dollars, and is capable of doing the work of twenty diggers. We hope the coal men will see to it, that this machine has a full and fair trial, for some means should be adopted by which the public would be relieved from the imposition under which they suffer in reference to the price of coal. A model of this mining machine can be seen at the law office of Robert Woods, No. — Fourth street, Pittsburgh.

NEW REGIMENT.—DRAFT.—Kelley Gazette, Plume, says that the Board have received official credits for this borough on the last draft to within four of its quota, and have the certificate of the United States officers of the enlistment of those men. The drafted men of East Birmingham are therefore exempt, the reason of the quota being filled by volunteers, and for which the people of that borough deserve credit.

Respectfully,
Captain and Provost Marshal, 21st District.

Special Meeting of City Councils.

The City Councils held a special meeting on Thursday evening, October 13th, 1854.

In City Councils Present—Messrs. Allen, Brown, Herdman, Miller, M'Laughlin, M'Mullen, M'Carthy, Morrow, M'Clintock, Phillips, Quinn, Thompson, Rees, J. R. Reed, D. Reed, Wills, Young, and M'Auley, President.

On motion, the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting were dispensed with.

The President stated that the meeting had been called at the request of the Street Committee.

Mr. J. R. Reed, from the Street Committee, offered an ordinance authorizing the repaving of Penn street, from the west line of Stevenson alley to the west line of O'Hara street.

On the third reading and final passage, Mr. D. Reed objected.

On motion of Mr. J. R. Reed, the rules were suspended, and the ordinance read three times and passed.

Mr. J. R. Reed remarked that the provision of the ordinance for altering the grade of Penn street had been complied with, the grading having terminated on the west side of the old canal at the railroad crossing instead of extending forty feet further west.

Mr. D. Reed offered the following preamble and resolutions:

Whereas, The Recording Regulator has failed to have the western portion of Penn street graded and paved according to the ordinance passed; Therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Street Committee be instructed to have said portion graded and paved, agreeably to said ordinance.

Mr. Morrow moved that all before the word "Resolved" be stricken out. Lost.

The preamble and resolution were then read three times and passed.

Mr. Brown offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Committee on Fire Engines and Hose also instructed to notify the Good Intent Fire Company that no political meeting of any kind can be held in the engine house on Wylie street, it being unsafe, and against the wishes of the Common Council.

The resolution was read three times and passed.

On motion, adjourned.

In Common Council. Present—Messrs. Collis, Cowden, Fryer, Hare, Jones, Leonard, Mackey, McCandless, McClelland, O'Haloran, Patterson, White, and President Steel.

There being no quorum present, on motion, adjourned.

Court of Quarter Sessions.

Thursday Afternoon, Oct. 13.—Before Judges Stowe and Brown.

Cornelius Burns was arraigned on a charge of assault and battery, with intent to kill, on oath of Hannah Dawson. The prosecutrix testified that Burns entered her house, on Strawberry alley, in September last, and threatened to kill her with a knife, which he had in his hand. She prepared to be very unwilling to prosecute, and said she would not have made the information had she not been greatly enraged at the time. In answer to a question asked by the District Attorney, she stated that she was "not afraid of Neille Burns or any other man." The jury, under instructions from the Court, rendered a verdict of guilty of simple assault, when he was sentenced to pay a fine of twenty dollars, and undergo an imprisonment of thirty days in the county jail.

Adam Oxenhardt was tried for malicious mischief and assault and battery. The prosecutrix, Susanna Banton, testified that Oxenhardt (to whom she had been married, but is now divorced,) came to her house some weeks since, and broke in the doors and windows with stones, and also assaulted her. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty of malicious mischief and assault. The Court sentenced him on the first count to pay a fine of twenty five dollars, and undergo an imprisonment in the county jail for thirty days. On the second count he was ordered to pay a fine of twenty-five dollars and the costs of prosecution.

C. Pettigrew was found guilty on a charge of surety of the peace, and sentenced to pay the costs, and to enter into recognisances to keep the peace for one year.

Joseph L. Stewart, who is charged with entering the shoe store of Samuel Strah, in McKeesport, in August last, and stealing a quantity of boots and shoes, was next brought up for trial. Considerable difficulty was experienced in securing a jury, as a large number of jurymen in attendance were objected to. Upon the jury being empannelled and sworn, the Court adjourned until this morning at nine o'clock.

Pickpockets Arrested.

Yesterday we mentioned the arrest of two men, charged with trying to pick the pocket of a traveler at the Pennsylvania Railroad Depot. During the afternoon the police succeeded in arresting four other suspicious characters, who were taken to the Mayor's office. They stated that they had just arrived from Philadelphia, and promised that if the Mayor would release them they would leave the city immediately. As there were no charges against them, their request was acceded to, and an officer accompanied them to the depot that night to see their departure. The thieves appeared to be very much dissatisfied with the reception they received here, and one of them remarked while at the depot, that they had not made expenses. A large number of these mischievous characters discovered Pat's intentions, stole the chicken's eggs, and substituted duck eggs. In due course of time the eggs were hatched, and were viewed by Pat with pride, as he showed them to his friends, who discovering his error, endeavored to point it out to him, but all in vain. All the reply that Pat would make was Och, luk at the rare of it! Gee, how it can swim. Like old Democrats who vote the Democratic ticket because it is labelled democratic. Central Board of Education.

The Central Board of Education met Thursday evening, Oct. 13, 1864. Present—Messrs. Brush, Listell, Lowe, Sargeant, Shigerly, and Negley, President.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The President presented resolutions from the 5th Ward School Board, recommending an increase of the salaries paid teachers. Received and filed.

The monthly report of the Principal of the High School was read and ordered to be filed.

The monthly report of the Principal of the Colored School was read and ordered to be filed.

The monthly report of the Secretary was read and ordered to be filed.

Mr. Negley, Mr. Shigerly in the chair, moved that the salaries of the teachers be increased ten per cent. during the ensuing three months.

On motion of Mr. Brush, action postponed until next meeting.

On motion adjourned.

SUBORNATION OF PERJURY.—Yesterday Patrick Calhoun was arrested by the Allegheny police and taken before Mayor Alexander, charged with subornation of perjury. It is alleged that Calhoun, who is a resident of the 21st ward, Allegheny, was instrumental in getting young Crawford drunk, and then took him to the Fourth ward police, where he committed perjury in order to vote for the Democratic ticket. Crawford was held to bail in the sum of $500 for a further hearing on Saturday next.

PUBLIC COMMITTEE.—H. P. Mueller alias Sam'l Martin, who was arrested on Wednesday in Allegheny, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, by depositing forged notes and checks in Farmers' Savings Bank, and borrowing money upon the receipts given by the bank officers, had a further hearing before Mayor Alexander, which resulted in his committal for trial.

EDWIN ADAMS.—This evening, on the occasion of this young tragedian's farewell benefit, he will appear in two of his greatest efforts, the "Hunchback," written by the late Judge Conrad, at Philadelphia, and Buckstone's "Black Eyed Susan," in which Mr. Adams will essay his great character of "William," the heroic sailor, for the second and last time.

New York Stock and Gold Markets.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The stock market opened with increased activity, but parties showed considerable strength to bid for large amounts, and at the first board there was a general advance in stocks until near its close, when bidding was less active and prices became weak.

There is an unexpected interest shown in the new loans.

Government stocks quiet but firm.

Railroad bonds are unusually active and prices better.

Treasury paper stronger on debt certificates with increased activity.

Money shows are better and moderately active. The sale of railroad stock is larger than for several days past. After the board met the market fell one per cent. but recovered at the close with an increased disposition to sell.

The gold market was steady and uniform throughout the day, but trading slightly restricted by the stringency in the money market. The demand for gold continues very light. Rates on foreign exchange are moderately active, brokers' bills having a general preference for merchants. Sterling bills are from 1 to ¼ per cent. The present unsettled condition of affairs in England tends to produce an unusual discrimination between names. The bids for the new loan come in rapidly, probably forty millions have been offered already from New York.

Arrival of Commissioners with Soldiers' Votes.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 14.—Although not required by law, the State here is keeping a regular book of record of the official returns of the army, which are entered by counties and congressional districts as fast as received. The State Commissioners arrived to-day, bringing with them the returns from the hospitals about Washington, and from some portions of Sheridan's army, which, later it appears, they were able to reach, notwithstanding rumors to the contrary. The entire number of votes thus far opened and entered at the State Department, will scarcely reach 40,000, and these are scattered through the various counties of the State, and a report of them to day, would be of little moment. The Commissioners who have arrived here, uniformly report that more than two thirds of the troops they visited, have voted the Union Ticket.
