D. DONN W The Last Hope of the Rebels. In the speech of JETY DAVIS at Columbia B.C, on the 4th of October, as reported in the Columbia South Carolinian, the following significant paragraph occurs: I believe it is in the power of the men of the Cosfederacy to plant our banners on the banks of the Ohio, warre we may say to the Kunkes, "Be quiet, or we shall teach you an-other lesson." Within the next thirty days uch is to be done, for upon our success much is to be done, for upon our success much in the next thirty days, then fore, let all who are abisinees, or who ought to be in the army, go promptly to their ranks. Let fresh victories crown our arms, and the Pence Party, if there be such at the North, can elect. its candidates. But whether a peace caudidate is elected or not, Yankee instinct will teach him that it is better to end the war and lears us to the enjoyment of our own let all who are abientees, or who ough

This proves beyond all peradventure what we have often insisted upon-what we have known for a long time, but what many honest but deluded Demograts will not believethat for months past the spirits of the rebels have been more buoyed up by the hope o McClerran's election than by anything else. They thought that if they could only hold on until the Presidential election, all would be well; that if only some "fresh victories" should crown their arms, the peace party could elect their candidate. Now how any man, after reading thes words of the arch-traitor, as reported by one of the leading papers of the confederacy, can to be a dissolution of the Union, and a recogwate for General McClerian, without feeling hat he is thereby doing a traitor's workwi hout feeling that he is strengthening the hands and encouraging the hearts of his country's enemies, without the damning cusness that the blood of his brave ountrymen, now battling for the nation's life, is upon his head-without knowing that by so doing he is making himself the alty o traiters—is more than we can imagine. The truth is, there is no escape from these fearful consequences of the act. To those wretches who really desire the success of the rebellion we have nothing to say. Let them vote for the Chicago nominees; for it is perfectly consistent in them to do so. But for any man to do so, and still claim to be a loyal man, is simply preposterous. He may plead that he dimply preposterous. He may plead that he is a democrat, and not a traiter, and the pleasure is atterfy himself, but it will never be allowed by any man who has brains enough to rub two ideas together.

Truly it is a marvellous thing, and as humit aling as it is a marving, that there can be a party in these loyal States, the aucors of which, could be promoted by the march of a hossile army to the tanks of the Ohio river. But that army did not get to the banks of the tanks of the Ohio river. But that army did not get to the banks of the tanks of the Chin river, nor within hundreds miles of it; constquently we may come to the comfortable confoliation that the prace candidate has no chance of an election.

Gen. M'CLELLAN, while the election for "Governor was pending in Pennsylvania last year, published a letter, of which the following is an ex'rac':

He further said: "Slavery is an incalculable blessing; there must be a time when slaveholders may fall back upon their natural rights, and employ in defence of their slave property whatever means they possess or can

He also concurred in the opion that the draft is unconstitutional. In 1868, he said to Judge Cunningham; "In my jadgment, our only course is to withdraw all our armies north of Mason and Dixon's line, and offer terms to the Rebela."

In 1863, he said to Judge Cumminders: "In 1864, and offer terms to the Robin."

Closing the Presbyterian Churches. Mr. James S. Thayer, a M'Clellan crater in New York, said in Lockport the other night, "that M'CLELLAN, he thought, could be trie amphantly elected if only the Presbyterian Churches could be closed for forty days." The churches not having been closed, the sobsuces for M'CLELLAB's election are supposed to be slim.

Seymou 's Election Agents Arrested, We are glad to see that three of Governor Seymour's Election Agents, who were guilty of tempering to; an enormous extent | after telling how eager many of the "John with the votes of the New York soldiers, have been arrested, and the office of the agency at Baltimore closed. Under the laws of New York, the votes of all soldiers are given by proxy, in their own districts, the same as those of scattered and etached soldiers are under the laws of Pennsylvania. Agents are appointed by the Gevernor to repair to the army and procure these enveloped ballots, with their proper vouchers. This work has been going on for some time, and it is for changing the ballots enclosed in these envelopes, from Lincoln to M'Ciellan electors that these agents have been arrested.

The telegraph informed us a day or two ago of the seigure at Baltimore of one box filled with these violated ballots, and that other packages had gone to New York. Of course the whole of them will be obtained now. It is to be hoped that the soldiers will have time to send duplicates of their votes after the ballose that have been tampered with shall have been destroyed.

Waiting to Give In. Every one has heard the story of two boys fighting, who, after a long and severe tuesle both came to the ground together, and struggled there, till at last ories Jos to Jack, Will you give up?" "Never," says Jack with teeth clenched and eyes full of determination. "Well if you will not, then I must," ower to their demand to give up, for they have already had all they oun stand. Shall we say "Never!" at the November Election, or give up? The way to say "Never" most smphatically is to re-elect Lincoln.

Hon. Edgar Cowau. The Harrisburg Telegraph is anxious to have it anneunced that Mr. Cowan "neither believes in McClellan or the measures with which he is identified. He has, on the contrary, earnestly supported the reselection of Mr. Liscous, and is to-day among the warm est of the upholders of the national Adminis tration in Pennsylvania." This may all be; but the announcement is name to us out here The last we heard of he Senator was that he abstained from voting at the late election, although Smith Fuller, the Union candidate for Congress in his district, was one of the the most active men in promoting Mr. Cow-

Jarr. Davis, in his Columbia speech, says he has "tried every possible means of settlement honorable to ourselves, based on a recogmition of our independence." This is about as and a hit of impudence as has yet appeared. The preliminary step in the negotiation was nition of the independence of the Confeder soy. That little matter being settled, JEFF thinks that terms of peace might be agreed upon; but it seems that Mr. Liscous was so unreasonable as to refuse to take even that preliminary step. Very likely the latter thinks that a little bit of rope would be bester preliminary than a recognition.

to lay down at night with another officer and cover correless with one blanket, and when morning came I had not strength to rise for west of food. I am famished. For God's sake, help me, and use your Liftenest 19 et me Exchanged; try your triend 8; hang es to to him, and get me out of this hell on earth i have stood up like a brave man in all my referrings, with all the strength and energy of ny nesture, and with God's help will continue to de; and held out even with starvation and infering if I cannot be helped by my friends at home. I have written you several times asking for clothing sud blankets, but I do not get any letters, nor have I had a word from you, nor any tidings, eince I was taken prisoner, now nearly four months.

"I wish you would send me some money in the shape of a draft on Hagland to my order; that is the best way. They may withhold it, and forge my name, but you could send my signature over, and it would be detected when presented. Again, do not let a day pass without making an effort to procure my special ecohange, and my word for it, I will only shake hands with you and rush to the front and avenge my own wrongs. I had sather die on the field of battle and lie unturied, than decay in this herrid prison by in iches with starvation. Coupled with my country's wrongs are my own sufferings here, and I am in agony of mind to get buck before the war closes, to once more take part, I would fight with the fercoity of an untamed tiger.

bers for many miles. Some of them man into Kanssa, while others made toward the Arkinsas line. It was a terrible outrage; yet we have seen no complaints in the democratic papers about it. Poor fellows: they have become so accustomed to Lineola's tyrangy that they are nearly heart-broken, and are perhaps afraid to say anything.

JENF DATES wished Hoop to hold a similar four Eurapas interposed and would not almost meeting on the banks of the Ohio, the CLEMLAN meeting on the banks of the Ohio, the seed of the Missouri. How can the banks of the Missouri. How can there may be any freedom of elections if such there may be any freedom of elections if such there may be any freedom of elections if such things are allowed to take place? affine his regard for the Union of our Pathers, when he expresses his belief that "the Union is the guaranty of peace, the power, the prosperity of the people," we appreciate that he is but uttering the sentiment of peace men generally; for we knew well enough that he alludes to no constrained Union, no political companionship enforced at the bayonet's point, no system of government upheld by armies and navies, but a Union based upon the acknowledgment of the scorrighty of the States, and dependent on the consent of the people."

respondent of the New York Bening Pest writing from our flest in Mobile Buy,

Past, writing from our uses in monie biy, after tailing how eager many of the "Johnnies" are to gol on board, remarks:

Now and then a fellow in a tattered gray suit is picked up, floating upon the bay, who when he finds himself snugly placed on board a gunboat or tin olad, and after having consoled his inner man with a pot or two of Jack's or the officers' hot coffee, becomes both communicative and sausy. Finding himself as song as a bug in a rug, he commeques protesting that he is not a deserter—no indeed, not he. He only got adrift by actident, and could not get back to the shore in his skiff. He did not mean to fight "much more"—rather tirred of that—would like to go to 'Now Orleans' and stay with his friends there until McCleilan is elected President, when "we' will have "our independence" and peace. "Everybody says so with us "in "Alabamy," and "all along where I've been." We area! "awaiting" for your Yankee elections, and our people says, and the editors too, that if McCleilan is elected wo'll be all right for separation and peace, but they do say if Lincoln is re-elected, then the game is up, and there is no use in us fighting any longer; so we mean to give in then. We are only waiting now for the month of Novamber. But I'd like mightily to git to New Orleans any how, and be there when McCleilan is made President of the order o and be there when McClellan is made President of your country."

Well, will you take the cath? Oh! not Well, will you take the oath? 'On mis jistyet. I want to see if McGellan will be i'resident, and if he is, of course I won; but i' you elect Lingoln, then we must, for there will be no help for it; that's plain as ash cake, and there's no use saying anything agin it." The foregoing is not an exaggeration of ectnes that take place in this quarter. F. CHMOND AND ITS PORTIFICATIONS .- A ories Joc, "for I've had as much as I can stand." And this is just the etate of the case between the rebels and us. They are waiting to hear us say "Never!" in November, in an swer to their demand to give up, for they soliders, owing processor and the direction made by the government and the two National Sanitary Commissions. He says that the deatind by fever are now remarkably small, and have been throughout the summer and fall. He had the privileze of taking a look at the fortifications of Richmond from General Butler's observatory, and be described them as of the most formidable character, in dicasting the desperate asture of the resistance making by the robots to the papture of their outiles. But serious as are the batacles to the possession of Richmond, it is not doubted by any of our officers that they will be reverome, and the place taken.
